Labor Forces Reading of Pres. Wilson's Solemn Appeal to Industrial Conference

LANE READS WILSON'S PLEA

Wants "Surer and Heartier Co-operation Between All Elements in Industry"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Organized labor's representatives in the national industrial conference today forced the reading of the letter to the conference which President Wilson yesterday dictated from his sick bed and in which he declared the public expected the conference to stay together until every possible means had been exhausted to establish a "surer and heartier co-operation between all the elements engaged in industry."

Labor Group in Session
Immediately after the letter was read the conference recessed and the labor group went into private session to determine its future course. The members plainly were impatient and some of the public and capital delegates seemed doubtful whether the delegates would be able to do so.

ARMY STORE FOR LOWELL

War Department Approves Mayor's Petition for Sale of Government Supplies

Lowell will have an army store for the sale of surplus government food and other supplies. It was definitely decided this morning when Mayor Perry D. Thompson got word from Col. Hart of the department of the northeast to the effect that the war department officials had approved the mayor's petition for a store here and was also notified that all obstacles in the way of renting a portion of the Bigelow-Hartford plant in Market street as the location of the store had been overcome.

Col. Hart is to come to Lowell tomorrow to inspect the proposed store property, which will be the same as that used in the sale of government surplus canned food under the auspices of the Red Cross here a few weeks ago. The entire ground floor of the quarters formerly occupied by the latter organization will be taken over for the store.

The store will have for sale canned food and various articles of clothing, etc., which the government has in surplus from the stocks accumulated during the war. The army stores in other cities have proved a big boon in the reduction of the cost of living and local officials anticipate similar success here.

AUTO OPERATORS IN POLICE COURT

Pound guilty of operating an automobile without his headlights on last Thursday evening, James H. Hoban of Chelmsford was fined $10 in police court today by Judge Enright.

Another autoist, George Ripley, of this city, accused of parking his car in Central street inside the "no parking" limits adjacent to Merrimack Square, drew down a fine of $5.

The case of Clara McFarland, charged with stealing $10 from Patrick Flaherty on October 15 was placed on file after civil satisfaction had been made. On a drunkenness charge she was ordered to pay a $10 fine.

Dramatic Appeal, Dictated From Sick Bed, Read to Prevent Break

Asks "Must-Suspicion, Hatred and Force Rule us in Civil Life?"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The text of President Wilson's message to the industrial conference, which was read by Sec. Lane today, follows:

To the Ladies and Gentlemen of the Industrial Conference: I am advised by your chairman that you have come to a situation which appears to threaten the life of your conference and because of that I am presuming to address a word of very solemn appeal to you as Americans. It is not for me to assess the blame for the present condition. I do not speak in a spirit of

FIGHT FOR FOURTH PLACE IN AIR RACE

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The fight for fourth position in the army endurance and reliability airplane race today was the most interesting feature of the twice transcontinental contest. Lieut. Earl Mangelman and Capt. Alex Pearson who spent the night at Cleveland, 503 miles from their goal, planned to reach Minnola, N. Y., today. They still had as an added incentive the possible bettering of the actual flying time, as yet not reported officially of Lieut. Belvin W. Maynard, the "flying parson" who was first to retrace the course across the country. Capt. J. O. Donaldson, who followed him to Minnola, and Capt. Lowell H. Smith, first man to complete a San Francisco to New York and return flight.

Today three fliers had completed the 5402 mile flight, eight were on their way to home hangars and 11 remained at San Francisco with one-half their race completed.

PAID FAREWELL TRIBUTE

Mourners and Many Friends Attend Funeral Services of Thomas F. Costello

With sorrowing relatives and friends representing the various phases of social, business and fraternal life in which he had long been prominent, in attendance, the funeral of Thomas F. Costello was held this morning at 9.30 o'clock from his late home, 219 Nesmith street, and proceeded to the Immaculate Conception church where a solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at 10 o'clock. The central aisle of the church was filled to capacity and there were few vacant seats in the side aisles. The celebrant of the mass was Rev. Owen P. McQuinn, O.M.I., and he was assisted by Rev. Lawrence P. Tighe, O.M.I., pastor of the Immaculate Conception church, as deacon, and Rev. James B. McCarthy, O.M.I., as sub-deacon. Seated in the sanctuary were Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., pastor of the Sacred Heart church; Rev. David J. Murphy, pastor of St. Bernard's church, Billerica; Rev. John J. Fleming, S.J., of Holy Cross college, Worcester; Rev. James J. McCarthy, O.M.I., and Rev. Francis Cronin, of St. Bernard's church, West Newton. The Immaculate Conception choir, augmented by several soloists, sang the Gregorian chant. At the offertory William F. Goolkin sang the "Dominate" in excellent voice and at the elevation Mrs. Hugh Walker gave the "Pie Jesu" with deep feeling. Commissioner James E. Donnelly sang impressively the "De Profundis" and John J. Dalton with pathos the "O Meritum Passionis." David P. Martin rendered the solos of the libera. The bearers were Dr. Simon Cox, Michael D. Carroll, Joseph McGrath, John Maloney, William Hayes, Joseph Harvey, Frank Morrissey and Charles Midwood. The ushers were Joseph A. Molloy and John Quinn. Delegates from various organizations of which Mr. Costello had been a member were present and included Daniel F. Carroll, representing the State Association of Master Plumbers; Richard J. Welch, Charles H. Hobson, Thomas E. O'Day, Joseph P. McMahon and George A. Stewart, representing the Lowell Master Plumbers' association, and all the other members of the local association, who were seated in a body in the centre aisle; and the following delegation from the Lowell lodge of Elks: Hon. John T. Sparks, John J. Dawson, James J. Spillane, John H. Dwyer, John H. Farrell, P.E.R., and John J. Healey. Burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Fr. Tighe, O.M.I., assisted by Rev. Fr. McQuinn, O.M.I., Rev. Fr. Fleming, S.J., Rev. Fr. Murphy, Rev. Fr. Cronin and Rev. Fr. Flynn, O.M.I. Funeral arrangements were under the direction of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

Divorced Husband of Murdered Woman Taken to Police Station By His Brother-in-Law

Came to Lowell to Attend Her Funeral—Says He Read of Discovery of His Wife's Body Monday Night—He is Being Held for the District Attorney—Came Here Today From Putnam, Conn.

Joseph Fortuna, divorced husband of Mrs. Mary Fortuna, whose nude body was found in a mutilated and decomposed condition in the underbrush of Ledge hill, Dracut on Sunday, is under arrest at the Lowell police station, being held for the district attorney as a murder suspect.

While state and Dracut police were in Pawtucket, R. I., this forenoon searching for him, Fortuna came to Lowell of his own volition and at 10 minutes of 12 called at the restaurant of Jacob Targ, the dead woman's brother, and announced that he had read of the discovery of his wife's body on Monday night and had come to attend the funeral this afternoon. Targ

JOSEPH FORTUNA

Immediately told him that he must go with him to the police station and although he did not tell him that he was suspected of committing the crime, he did tell him that it was only right that he should be interviewed by the police. He then took him to the station in his automobile and turned him over to Capt. James Brossan and Inspector Philip Dwyer, who subsequently placed him under arrest and notified District Attorney Tufts. Lowell officers would say nothing regarding any conversation they had with Fortuna prior to placing him in custody.

In speaking of the appearance of Fortuna this noon, Targ said that he had last seen him on Saturday, the 18th, the day before Mrs. Fortuna's body was found, and at that time Fortuna told him that he had been working in Pawtucket, R. I., and that he was going to leave Lowell that night and seek for his divorced wife before returning to Pawtucket.

Today, however, Fortuna told Targ that he had come direct to Lowell from Putnam, Conn., where he had been working, for the past two or three months.

When Targ was asked this noon if at any time since his sister had obtained a divorce from Fortuna, the latter had been heard to threaten her life, the brother replied that he had heard several stories, but that they were so conflicting that he had not believed any of them. "I did not accuse him of killing my sister," Targ continued, "I simply told him he must accompany me to the police station and that, anything he had to say could be said there. If he is innocent, he can soon prove it."

Chief William H. Cullinan of the Dracut police and Officer Silas Smith of the district attorney's office left for Pawtucket, R. I., early this morning in search of Fortuna, who had told Targ he was employed there. The officers had not returned this afternoon.

LOWELL GIRL FIRST IN MUSIC EXAMINATION

Miss Gertrude O'Brien of this city led all 13 candidates in an examination held recently in Lawrence for the position of supervisor of music in the public schools of that city, with the exceptionally high mark of 521.5-10 out of a possible 600 points. Another Lowell girl, Miss Marion Ryan, was second with a rank of 473.5-10.

Mr. Robert E. Saul, though sixth on the list, was elected head supervisor, the board of examiners recommending Miss O'Brien for the position of assistant supervisor. Mr. Saul has been a high school teacher in Lawrence for several years and is more or less prominent in musical circles there. Miss O'Brien was the examiners' first choice for assistant supervisor of music and two others named by them were Miss Mabel Fremmer and Miss Mary Daly, both of Lawrence. Miss Fremmer was elected assistant supervisor, but not without some opposition, two of the committee voting for Miss O'Brien because, they said, she led the list and was the first recommended by the examiners. The other two members, however, favored Miss Fremmer because she was a Lawrence girl and she was elected on the fourth ballot.

Miss O'Brien is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. O'Brien of 91 Hiverside street, this city. She was formerly supervisor of music in Lexington and is now substituting in the music department at the State Normal school for Mr. Albert Edmund Brown.

Both Miss O'Brien and Miss Ryan are graduates of the special music course of the Normal school.

RESERVATIONS TO PEACE TREATY

Four Adopted by Senate Foreign Relations Committee Today

Administration Leaders Vote Solidly Against Revised Changes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Four revised reservations to the peace treaty were adopted today by the senate foreign relations committee with the administration leaders voting solidly against them.

The committee also adopted a preamble to the reservation providing that the treaty should become effective on all three of the other principal allied and associated powers have agreed to the senate's reservations. This, too, was opposed by the administration senators.

The four reservations approved related to Article 10, the Monroe Doctrine withdrawal and domestic questions. On most of the roll calls the division was 11 to 6, all of the republicans and Senator Shields, democrat, Tennessee, voting in the affirmative.

SAYS JEWS ARE VICTIMS OF BLOOD LUST

(By H. P. BORTON)

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Abraham Cahan, often characterized as "the most powerful Jew in the world," inasmuch as he controls the destinies of Forward, the New York daily having the greatest circulation of any Jewish newspaper published anywhere, has just returned from Europe where he has made a profound study of the effects of the war upon the Jewish people.

On his trip, following the conclusion of the peace conference, to which he was an accredited delegate and correspondent, he visited France, England, Germany, Austria, Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Belgium, Rumania and Denmark, and today, seated in the tower of his twelve-story newspaper plant overlooking the entire East Side of New York, he told what he saw among his own people in Europe.

"Let me say first of all," Cahan said, his pale blue eyes flashing a sudden fire, "that the Jew has been made the unenviable scapegoat of this great historical event over in Europe, particularly in the new-made countries. He has been cruelly victimized in many places since the signing of the armistice, and under many pretexts, but more especially so in Rumania, Poland and Ukraine.

"It is in the Ukraine that the most dreadful things have been done to the Jew. There thousands upon thousands of Jews have been made living sacrifices during the last few months, their throats cut by soldiery and assassins' hands.

"In the Ukrainian city of Proskur, of, to cite but one of countless instances, the military commander ordered, one morning last June, his soldiers to line up on each side of a principal street, and then to enter each house and kill all the Jews he found.

"For four days, from sunrise till sunset, these men went at this awful thing, taking two hours for lunch and often eating with hands actually dripping with blood.

"They did the killing by cutting their victims' throats or stabbing them to death.

"The women were often violated. The first two days they killed 1000

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c.

ABRAHAM CAHAN

WHO CAHAN IS

Abraham Cahan is editor-in-chief of Forward, a daily published on the East Side of New York. Cahan was born in Vilna, Russia, in 1860, and emigrated to America in 1882. He rose from obscurity to his present powerful position by virtue of his fine mind and dogged persistence. Prominent in politics, he nevertheless has had time to write several novels, the latest of them, "The Rise of David Levinsky," being hailed as an American masterpiece.

persons, 4000 being put to death in all that week—all that week.

"The excuse? Well, the Bolsheviks had been in control of this city, and in order to gain control of it, some anti-Bolsheviks proposed to the mobs to kill the Jews and take their property. This promise of booty, of course, gained a following and the innocent Jews suffered, although the Bolsheviks have as many Gentiles in their numbers as Jews. The Bolsheviks are a political party, not a religious one.

"After these pogroms, it was a common sight to see the corpses lying all over the streets for days. It is a dreadful thing, but I want to tell it to the Jews of America that they will realize the conditions in Europe and help our brethren, starving and suffering there.

"In Poland the situation is different, for in Poland there is an organized government and responsible constituted authorities, and anti-Semitism can be checked. Here it takes the form of a great national boycott against the Jews in business.

"The propaganda has been started by a certain clique of the Polish nobility who have decided to go into business. Heretofore the nobility never wanted to be in business, and this in time, came to be controlled mainly by the Jews. Now frequent pogroms are resorted to to enforce the warnings given by this group of noblemen.

"I don't blame Paderewski nor Pilsudski, the Polish president, for not stopping this movement, because I don't think they can. They haven't the power over the governmental machinery to do so, but the governmental authorities themselves can stop it any time they want to. Perhaps a strong hint from the right source might effect this end.

"In Rumania a still different form of Jewish persecution is being practiced. Here it is economic, political and social. And it can be checked there, too, because the American government greatly to our credit, had inserted in the peace documents a bill of rights for the benefit of the minority nationalities in these European states. This bill, admirably drawn by Louis Marshall, the great American lawyer, is so far only the dead letter of the law, but it can instantly be

Finance Commission Sends Report to Mayor Peters of Boston

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—The possibility of a refusal by day-shift firemen to respond to an alarm for a serious fire sounding in their last few minutes of work, or, having responded, quitting the job promptly at 6, also the fact that in 1918 the average time of actual fire fighting put in by each Boston fireman averaged only 32 hours for the whole year, are among the arguments in the finance commission's report to Mayor Peters against the two-platoon system for the fire department, issued last night.

The report states that 375 additional officers and men will be required for the department if the system is adopted and that the extra cost will be $670,400.

This report is said to be the opening gun in Mr. Peters' campaign against the adoption of the system by referendum at the coming city election, and is expected to be followed by statements against the project by both himself and Fire Commissioner J. H. Murphy.

From a reliable source it is also learned that within the week the department officers' club has voted unanimously against the measure, adopting a resolution expressing preference for proportional salary increases.

If adopted, the system becomes effective Feb. 2 next.

Firemen are now required to be on duty only 234 days in the year, says the report, one day off in three, two weeks' vacation with pay, three meal hours in each working day, church leave on Sunday, three days' leave for death in immediate family and indefinite sick leave substantially reducing this nominal maximum.

"In 1918 there were 5174 alarms in the then 93 fire stations," continues the report. "The time consumed in answering these alarms was 6176 hours. Of this total only 4463 hours were spent in actual fire fighting, or approximately 48 hours' work of fire fighting per annum per fire house. As each man was off duty more than one-third of the time, the average time of fire fighting per man was about 32 hours for the year.

"Increases to both officers and men advanced the annual cost of supporting the department by $332,155, and the recent advance in the minimum salary schedule ($1100 to $1400) adds an annual cost of $15,855—a total of $348,013 in seven years.

"Last year the city paid $187,915.57 in pensions to firemen at the half-pay scale. The city council will undoubtedly accept the legislative act increasing from $300 to $500 the annuity paid widows or dependents of firemen killed or disabled in action.

Board of Trade Suggests Going Beyond Debt Limit
for Streets

The transportation committee of the Lowell board of trade, Paul Chandler, chairman, has recommended that the board directors decide whether or not the organization shall launch a proposition whereby the city shall secure $1,000,000 outside the debt limit for the repair and reconstruction of Lowell streets.

The scheme was suggested at a meeting of the transportation committee held late yesterday afternoon and includes the stipulation that the money, if secured, be placed in the hands of a committee of five for expenditure, that committee to include the commissioner of streets and highways, the city engineer and three others selected by the municipal council, one of whom would be a civil engineer, one a representative of labor and the third, a man who pays at least $1000 in taxes.

Traffic congestion and a trolley express were other civic matters to come up for discussion. The committee decided to leave the matter of congestion in down-town streets to the mayor and Manager Thomas S. Lees and Trustee Fred Crowley of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. Among several suggestions made as to ways and means of simplifying the movement of traffic in Central and Merrimack streets were the following: That Prescott street be made a one-way thoroughfare; that Gorham street between Appleton street and Tower's Corner be made one-way, going south; that the car stop pole between Middle and Merrimack streets in Central be removed, thus allowing inbound cars to travel without stop from Market street to the square; that safety zones be laid out in Merrimack square, to insure proper protection to street car patrons, and that a mounted policeman be on duty in Merrimack square and adjoining streets.

That the transportation committee believe the city streets are in immediate need of extensive repair and that a district program of construction should be mapped out and followed, is shown in its suggestion that the city acquire $1,000,000 outside the debt limit for this purpose. The proposition includes the fact that the money should be spent over a period of about three years and by the committee of five above mentioned. Among the suggestions offered was one which would create an avenue for tourist travel through the city from Gorham street, through Thordike and Fletcher to the Nashua boulevard and another in Lakeview avenue as a continuation of the Lawrence highway.

In regard to the trolley express Fred Crowley stated that lack of a suitable terminal was the largest obstacle to its institution, but that such cars could commence operation at 24 hours' notice, given this necessary terminal. The road trustees would prefer to lease a suitable building, but might consider an outright purchase, said Mr. Crowley.

A Pure Table Syrup
More Tempting Than Any You Ever Tasted

Different in its rare, rich flavor—in its mellow amber color—in its fine well-bodied consistency—a spread that is neither too thick nor too thin.

Domino Golden Syrup is different because you never tire of its delicate cane taste. Sweet, but not too sweet. A high grade table delicacy for every meal of every day.

It is a fine food for the whole family. Children love it, and it is so pure and wholesome they can eat all they like! Try it on bread, cakes, biscuits and waffles—you will like it!

There is nothing more really tempting and appetizing than Domino Golden Syrup. You will find it in 18 oz. and 25 oz. cans at your grocer's. Order some today! Domino Golden Syrup is made by the American Sugar Refining Company, refiners of Domino Package Sugars—Granulated, Tablet, Powdered, Confectioners, Brown.—Adv.

PRES. COMBERS DELIVERS

WARNING OF LABOR

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—After a day of uncertainty, during which President Wilson sent to Secretary Lane, chairman, a message of conciliation to be used as "a last resort," the national industrial conference last night cleaned its slate by rejecting all collective bargaining resolutions as well as the labor proposal for intervention in the steel strike.

The public group aligned with capital on the vote against both the original collective bargaining and steel strike resolutions, although the declaration on collective bargaining was proposed by the public delegates. Prior to the vote on the original declaration, the employers' substitute and two new amendments by Thomas L. Chadbourne, chairman of the conference's central committee, met defeat. Only the employers favored the substitute, and labor and capital united in their opposition to the amendments.

Defeated on every point, and having lost the support of the public group, which heretofore has been on the side of the workers, the labor delegates left the conference hall last night disheartened and feeling, as some of them said, that little could be gained by further meetings.

The morning session of the conference lasted only a few minutes, and the afternoon meeting, during which quick action was obtained, was not convened until 5 o'clock. The entire day was devoted to group meetings in an attempt to devise another declaration on collective bargaining satisfactory to all elements. After more than three days of almost continuous sessions the employers were unable to agree upon another statement and fell back upon the Wheeler substitute.

Members of the public group attempted to effect a compromise by the substitution of the words "associations of their own choosing" for "trade and labor unions" in the clause of the group's resolution guaranteeing workers the right to organize, and the five labor representatives on the general committee of 15 spent two hours in joint meeting with the public group explaining labor's objection to the change. This amendment was introduced by Mr. Chadbourne, but the public group alone voted favorably.

When the original Russell-Eadicott resolution came up for discussion in the conference, Samuel Compers, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared that the withdrawal of the support of the public group was due to an interpretation of the words "trade and labor unions" by one member of the group, who is allied with organized labor, and that the phrase excludes all but American Federation of Labor organizations. It was said that the reference was to J. J. Forester, alternate for Earl M. Jewell, acting president of the railway employees' department of the federation.

"The right to organize for the purpose of collective bargaining," Mr. Compers continued, "is the one question in controversy—the one thing the working people of the United States are going to achieve."

Labor Leader Speaks

A hush fell over the crowded auditorium as the labor leader, squarely facing the employers' front and shaking his finger toward that group, exclaimed to the representatives of American capital:

"If you do not bear with us in an effort toward construction, if you think it impossible for us to secure relief for the suffering masses of American labor, if you insist on contesting with us every inch of the ground in our battle for better conditions, if you deny us the rights of organization, if you render our work finally impotent, you may destroy us but you will find yourselves facing something else, something worse, and you may come to rue the day that you destroyed the sickness and the willingness to serve that has and does characterize the officials of American trade unionism today."

Mr. Compers again sounded a note of warning a few moments later when he told the members of the conference that he feared they did not appreciate the "critical situation in which we find ourselves today." The people of the United States, he asserted, are "sitting on a lit industrially." Turning toward the employers he added, "whether you like it or not, trade unionism has come to the United States to stay."

Concluding with the statement that although the conference may fail to satisfy the real need of the workers, he said the organized labor movement would continue to flourish, and "whatever may be denied us today, we will win tomorrow."

At once!—"Pape's Diapepsin" corrects your Sour, Gassy, Acid Stomach—Relief awaits you!

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

When your meals don't fit and you feel uncomfortable, when you belch gases, acids or raise sour, undigested food. When you feel lumps of indigestion pain, heartburn or headache, from acidity, just eat a tablet of Pape's

Diapepsin and the stomach distress is gone.

Millions of people know the magic of Pape's Diapepsin as an antidote. They know that indigestion and disordered stomach are so needless. The relief comes quickly, no disappointment! Pape's Diapepsin tastes like candy and a box of this world-famous indigestion relief costs so little at drug stores. Pape's Diapepsin helps neutralize the stomach acids so you can eat without fear.—Adv.

Germany after the ratification of the peace treaty for not until sufficient time has elapsed to test the workings of the treaty and the spirit in which the present government of Germany undertakes to carry out its provisions will the representative give place to a fully accredited ambassador. This plan, it was learned today, also will be followed by the entire governments.

Out of consideration for the senate, which might resent any action on the part of the executive branch anticipatory of the disposition of the treaty, it was said today that at present it was not possible to announce the name of the person who will assume the important office of charge of Germany.

There is no disposition, it was learned, to reduce the rank of the American diplomatic representation in Germany, which still remains one of the great nations of the world. But it is understood to be planned to make such a change in the case of Austria and Hungary. Separated as the two states are into two separate nations greatly reduced in size and importance, these countries will be regarded as properly entitled to missions only and there will be a minister plenipotentiary provided for each.

The Turkish embassy also is due for reduction in rank, it was learned. Considering the small size of the country which will remain under Turkish control, it may be that the remnant will have to be content to share an American minister with Bulgaria and any lesser state that may remain in the Balkans.

Existing law gives the executive branch of the government the power to raise an American mission to the rank of an embassy upon proper occasion, but no provision has been made for the reduction of rank. Therefore, it will be left to congress in the appropriation of diplomatic salaries to authorize the changes which will result from the war.

Conditions in Armenia and Transcaucasia have indicated to the Associated Press correspondent their opinion that it would be inadvisable for the United States to accept a mandate for either Armenia or Turkey. Their view is that if the United States does accept a mandate, it should do so only after the interested European powers have fully agreed to pursue a "hands off" policy.

Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord, the head of the mission, would express no opinion on the subject.

KING ALBERT VISITS TOMB OF LINCOLN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 22.—Albert, king of the Belgians, Queen Elisabeth and Prince Leopold yesterday paid homage at the tomb and home of Abraham Lincoln.

The royal party was greeted on arrival of the special train by Gov. and Mrs. Frank O. Lowden and state and city officials before taking automobiles for Oak Ridge cemetery, where the Lincoln monument stands.

Thousands thronged the platform at the station and the streets nearby and cheered the royal pair and the young prince.

Gov. Lowden paid tribute to the heroism of the Belgians and declared that the little kingdom had been a mighty inspiration to all the world in the struggle against autocracy.

At the tomb of Lincoln, King Albert said in part:

"It was a duty of gratitude toward the American nation and a duty of respect toward one not only of your country, but one of the world's best citizens, to come here to Springfield to honor President Lincoln's memory."

"Honesty and straightforwardness, absolute faith in the future of the nation, indomitable courage in facing the nation's enemies, firm and clear-sighted statesmanship—these virtues have been personified by your illustrious president."

"We who are here today, coming from a far distant country, can never forget what President Lincoln has done, and may we find in his noble example the strengthened firmness which makes a ruler worthy to be dedicated in his country to that always unfinished work of progress, welfare and ideals which this great man had thus far so nobly advanced."

BILLERICA SELECTMEN

At a meeting of the selectmen for the town of Billerica held Monday night two licenses for second hand dealers in motor vehicles were granted, one to William S. CONDUCTORS ARE FOUND GUILTY

Found guilty of stealing fares from the local division of the Eastern Massachusetts street railway on various dates in September, the three Lowell conductors whose trial has been in progress in police court for the past month were sentenced by Judge Enright late yesterday afternoon as follows: J. J. Kelley and Camille Chicoine, $75 fines to be paid in one week or two months' imprisonment; John E. Wallace, $50 fine to be paid in one week or two months' imprisonment. All three appealed from the sentence through their attorney, Edward J. Tierney, and were held in $300 for superior court. Fred N. Wier appeared for the company.

In disposing of the case Judge Enright said that men who steal fares from a public service corporation add to the burden borne by the public in the maintenance of public service utilities. He desired to be fair in his treatment of the defendants and therefore was inclined to dispose of the case by fines rather than direct jail sentences.

The case was opened in police court over a month ago, when the three conductors, following their arrest, pleaded not guilty to several counts of larceny on various dates in September. The amounts given in the charges ranged from 10 cents to $1.20; none of the total amounts credited to each man for more than $5.

MEN BUY WATER FOR WHISKEY

WARE, Oct. 22.—Whiskey swindlers are making life a burden for those in the pastoral precincts of Ware and Palmer who are anxious to acquire a sufficient supply of the illicit essence of joy against the continuance of the wartime prohibition drouth.

A former Ware man visited the town recently and produced what he claimed was a sample of whiskey seldom equaled. A few of those who had not had their Sahara thirst quenched in a month of Sundays sampled the sample and said it was all that was described.

It was arranged to deliver some of the whiskey to one Ware man, but in order to dodge local and federal sleuths it was to be delivered at night. The supposed load of intoxicant arrived, and after several jugs had been unloaded the Ware man paid $150. He did not examine his purchase until the salesman had gone. Then he discovered that the jugs contained pure water.

The salesman left for Worcester in a hired auto and has not been seen since.

Palmer men contributed $225 to the same individual who tricked the Ware man, making his receipts $375 for the water. It is stated the enterprising salesman made $315, the only expense being the jug and trucking charges.

NO HOLE IN DOUGHNUT

New Style on Display—Substitutions to Save Sugar and Eggs Coming

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Fall styles of pies, cakes and doughnuts were on display today at the annual convention of the National Bakers' association. The new doughnut showed a distinctive departure from that food preparation around which many quips and comparisons have been built. There was no hole. Instead, according to the bakers, the inside of the doughnut is taken up with "filling" intended to add nutrition to the old style fried cake.

The bakers today predicted a return of war bread, with substitution of potato flour for wheat flour, and numerous other substitutions to save sugar and eggs.

LONG CONTINUES TO ATTACK COOLIDGE

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—While Richard H. Long, democratic candidate for governor, was addressing a rally in Lyceum hall, Woburn, last night, the party of republican orators, headed by J. Wesley Allen, candidate for attorney general, arrived on the outside in automobiles.

Mr. Allen and some of the group of "hecklers" with him went up into the hall. They had expected Mr. Long was to have open air rallies, and were disappointed when they found he had engaged halls for his last night's tour. A lively interchange of questions and answers between Messrs. Long and Allen made things interesting for awhile.

Just as Mr. Long was describing his plan for a graduated income tax he noted the entry of Candidate Allen.

Fixing his eye on Allen, he stopped and said: "I understand that Mr. J. Wesley Allen is in the audience. I wish if he has any questions he wishes me to answer that he would ask them now. I invite him to come up here on the platform."

Mr. Allen walked up the left-hand aisle from the rear of the hall a short distance and stopped, saying, "I am going to ask you a few questions, Mr. Long."

"Platform! platform!" cried many in the audience, but Allen smilingly refused the requests, even when the chairman of the Woburn city committee walked down the aisle and offered that the jugs contained pure water.

"SYRUP OF FIGS" CHILD'S LAXATIVE

Look at Tongue! Remove Poisons From Stomach, Liver and Bowels

Accept "California" Syrup of Figs only—look for the name California on the package, then you are sure your child is having the best and most harmless laxative or physic for the little stomach, liver and bowels. Children love its delicious fruity taste. Full directions for child's dose on each bottle. Give it without fear.

Mothers! You must say "California." I offered his arm to Allen to escort him to the stage.

"Now that you have admitted at Pittsfield that you had war contracts to the amount of $30,000,000," cried Mr. Allen, "will you take the people into your confidence and tell how much profit you made on those contracts?"

"Did you not make a war contract with the government on Saturday, Nov. 3, when the armistice was pending, and just two days before it was signed and did you not receive $20,000 in settlement of the contract? If you wish sincerely to relieve the poor people of the burden of taxation, why did you, a rich man, claim damages for this contract when you knew it could only be paid out of the heavy war taxes of the people?"

"After the armistice, did you not buy back from the government leather or other materials at one-half the price that the government paid for them?"

Mr. Long did not hesitate a moment. He said: "It is true that we brought $30,000,000 to Massachusetts by contracts that we had with the government. The conditions of the contracts were that we should receive only the amount of the cost of material and losses, and on no contract did we receive more than the actual cost of the material and admitted losses."

"Some of the contracts produced actual loss for us. On part of some of the contracts we received payment for our actual losses and no other compensation."

"Regarding our entire profits during the war, I can say they were less than four per cent., and before we got through putting in new machinery, etc., it will cost us more than our entire profits during the war."

In his speech Mr. Long said: "Gov. Coolidge has been a hiding executive. When he was brought to prevent the policemen's strike in Boston he hid behind the autocrat, Mr. Curtis. The latter hid behind Lawyer Herbert Parker, the counsel of the Standard Oil company and the beef trust. Now he is planning to remain in hiding while four or five governors from the 'wild and woolly west' come to Massachusetts to tell its voters why they should tolerate the deplorable conditions which prevail on Beacon Hill."

"The day of hidden government in Massachusetts is over. The day of the rich concealing their more than a billion dollars of income from Massachusetts industry is over, and this money will have to pay a long delayed toll by way of a graduated income tax to relieve the taxation upon the poor."

"The campaign of hiding will fail. The people want the light, and in the campaign I am making they are having light thrown upon some of the dark spots that have disgraced our state for a long time."

With Mr. Long in the rallies last night were members of the state ticket and local candidates.

COL. LYNCH IN BOSTON

Patriotic Irishman Hissed by Extremists in Lecture on Ireland

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—Col. Arthur Lynch was heckled and hissed frequently by a small portion of his audience last night at Tremont Temple during his lecture on the Irish question. His address was disappointing to the Sinn Féin element, who interrupted him and when he was through challenged his right to speak for any part of the Irish people.

Breathe Hyomel For Two Minutes and Relieve Stuffed-Up Head

If you want to get relief from catarrh, cold in the head or from an irritating cough in the shortest time breathe Hyomel.

It should clean out your head and open up your nose in two minutes and allow you to breathe freely.

Hyomel often ends a cold in one day, and brings quick relief from snuffles, hard crusts in the nose, hawking, spitting and catarrhal mucus.

Hyomel is made chiefly from a soothing, healing antiseptic oil, that comes from the eucalyptus forests of inland Australia. Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Tonsillitis, Influenza, Pneumonia and Consumption were never known to exist.

Hyomel is pleasant and easy to breathe. Just pour a few drops into the hard rubber inhaler, use as directed and relief is almost certain.

A complete Hyomel outfit, including but little at drugstore everywhere. If you already own an inhaler you can get an extra bottle of Hyomel at drug-gists.—Adv.

Col. Lynch said he differed from the Sinn Féin as to means. The freedom of Ireland must be brought about by constitutional changes, he felt. The weak point in physical force, he said, was that there was no physical force in Ireland.

"I hope," he said in conclusion, "it will not be many more years, not many more months, before we shall be able to look at the green emblem of Ireland floating over College green—the old parliament of Ireland."

American Tourists Are Shivering in Paris Hotels—Ban on Use of Coal

PARIS, Tuesday, Oct. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—American tourists who have recently reached Paris wish that they might have brought their own coal supply with them. October has been unusually cold and damp, but there is an official prohibition against the use of coal for heating purposes before Nov. 1 so that only those hotels which have been able to obtain a supply of wood are heated. Most Paris hotels have no coal and shivering tourists are wishing themselves back home. Travelers just arrived from Berlin and Vienna say that prices there are much higher and heat is lacking.

Although it was believed that Paris hotels would have an abundance of rooms for all comers after the departure of the armies of allied war workers, the city seems just as badly crowded as at this time last year, and tourists are walking the streets, seeking accommodations. Paris is still filled with refugees from the devastated areas and from countries upset by war, accounting for the great demand for shelter.

As badly crowded as the hotels and the demands upon the limited amount of fuel far exceed the supply. A centrally located hotel now charges 25 to 50 francs daily for single rooms without heat. Wood for use in fire places costs 16 francs per basket, when available. Factories are running on short time because of the lack of coal and the fuel administration is on this account curtailing the supply for hotels and households so sharply that heating will necessarily be limited even after Nov. 1.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

Miss Elizabeth Shanahan, who on next Wednesday will be married to Mr. Patrick Hogan, was tendered a miscellaneous shower at the home of her sister, Mrs. James Young, 32 Sydney street, last evening. Among the gifts presented the young woman were a dinner set and mahogany clock from the employees of the A. G. Pollard Co. In the course of the evening entertainment numbers were given by Miss Edith Lyons, Miss Madeline Hartigan and others and refreshments were served by Mrs. James Young, Misses Theresa and Florence Shanahan, Miss Ellen Driscoll, Miss Etta Callahan, Miss Lilla Cook and Miss Florence Kelley.

One million bales of American cotton will have been shipped to Japan by the end of the year.

AN ENEMY OF WOMANHOOD

The complexion, digestion and almost the complete personality of woman are dependant upon health. Woman's ills are her great enemy, as they cause bad complexion, dark circles under the eyes, headache, backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, dragging-down pains and the blues, and often totally unfit her for a companion. The great American remedy for such conditions is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which has been restoring three generations of ailing women to health, and may be relied upon with perfect confidence.—Adv.

PRESENTS FARMERS' SIDE OF HIGH COST OF LIVING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The farmers' side of the high cost of living question was presented to the senate yesterday by Sen. Capper, republican, of Kansas, who declared that, while farmers are selling their products at a loss in declining markets, the consumers are paying rising prices.

Faulty distribution was blamed largely for this "remarkable spectacle" and the senator urged a number of remedies to increase production. He deplored the numerous industrial strikes and the small representation given agriculture in the Industrial Conference.

"In our efforts to get rid of the high cost of living disease," said Mr. Capper, "I fear we are in great danger of dying of the remedy. As a result of Washington's effort to reduce high prices by breaking down entirely the cost of food, we have the remarkable spectacle of a rise of one per cent in the cost of living, coincident with market drops that are putting livestock raisers out of business and causing serious losses to other producers."

Illustrating the anomalous situation of farmers and consumers, Senator Capper said farmers are selling their wheat at a loss, adding:

"It takes four and one-half bushels of wheat to make a barrel of flour. The wheat raiser gets about $8.37 for the wheat; the miller $12.70; the baker $55.70 and the hotelkeeper here in Washington as it is doled out in thin slices $587."

"Without visibly helping the consumer we have brought about a crisis in our most fundamental and vital industry by forcing the producer to accept prices at which he cannot continue to produce, while he and the consumer are compelled to pay prices at which they are forced to curtail the home demand."

Among the remedies suggested by Senator Capper were cessation of "federal government propaganda which tends to bear down the prices of farm products."

"Executive departments," he said, "should seek by every means at their command to open wider markets to the farmer by lifting the embargo on wheat and wheat flour to Europe, by extending credits to European governments and by lowering ocean freight rates."

Legislation to free the livestock producer of alleged control of the markets by the packers also was urged by Senator Capper, who suggested establishment of co-operative farm selling agencies.

"Price-making in necessities of life," he said, "should never again be left to the gamblers of the exchange or to corporate monopoly."

LOWELL COFFEE ON WAY TO GERMANY

Coffee may not be growing in favor in Germany as the coming beverage. So far as we know there has been no ban placed on the sale or manufacture of beer in Deutschland recently. Be that as it may, however, there is at least one family in the fatherland that appreciates the value of a steaming cup of Lowell-sold coffee at the breakfast table; for there is now in transit a 10-pound case of coffee which was sent to this family a few days last week, by a local woman, parcel post.

Passing the coffee by for the moment—although we've never yet passed it by when it came our way, as we were hustling some "cents" into our inner man before grabbing our car for the office each morning—there are other things besides coffee going through the parcel post department at the local postoffice en route to Germany.

Although Lowell has a comparatively small German population, several packages, containing mostly foodstuffs—cereals, flour, canned stuff and the like—have been going through the parcel post department each week, for some time. A small amount of mail matter has also been sent through the postoffice to the "other side" since the ban on mail to Germany was lifted last summer.

Increase in Parcel Post

Parcel post business at the Lowell postoffice has increased 35 per cent. In the past year, Postmaster Meehan said today. People have realized the efficiency possible through the parcel post service, he declared, and it has resulted in business houses sending many articles through the postoffice which formerly were sent by freight or express.

Machinery, clothing, auto tires, cases of chickens, butter and eggs, automobile parts and accessories—these are but a few of the articles which folks are now entrusting to Uncle Sam's men to deliver instead of sending them through other routes as in the past.

Several reasons are given for this marked increase in parcel post business here, which has caused the postmaster to almost double his transportation facilities in the past six months in handling parcel post matter.

One is the recent strike of expressmen in New York; another is that many local families are ordering case lots of food from the army store in the Hub; still another is that business houses which formerly shipped large consignments of ladies' clothing and dry goods by freight are now sending these through the parcel post in small packages.

A tremendous amount of auto tires alone has been transported through the local postoffice in the past weeks. Postmaster Meehan said. Fully 500 cases of butter are coming through from Vermont each week, a marked increase on egg shipments has also been noted.

This increased business has come to stay, according to the postmaster. He believes that the manufacturers and business houses who have taken to the parcel post service to help them out of temporary difficulties, caused by labor trouble among the transportation companies who formerly served them, will remain good "customers" of this branch of the government service now they have found how efficiently their consignments are cared for.

THREAT OF DEATH

PROTECTS SLAYERS

DETROIT.—When Sam Giannola, king of Sicilian gunmen, was killed at midday in front of a bank, several witnesses were found who recognized the slayers. Four men were arrested, but meanwhile word had gone out that to testify in the case would be fatal, so the police were compelled to release the men who are generally known throughout the Italian colony to have done the shooting.

When a Woman's Teeth

Are Most in Danger

The quality of the saliva has much to do with the condition of the teeth. Before the baby comes, and immediately thereafter, it undergoes a change, and often the mother finds herself with sensitive gums and loosening teeth.

This condition is temporary, and need not be mistaken for the onset of pyorrhea. Miss Della Spellman, a nurse at the State Hospital, New York, with years of experience, advises the gentle use of the tooth brush twice a day with preparation free from irritating drugs, and gum massage by finger. She recommends Albadon Dental Cream knowing it is both effective and safe and fully meets all requirements of women and children.

A tube holding 55 brushfuls can be bought for 25c at any drug store. Albadon is calcium carbonate, saponified and mixed with the well-known oils of cloves, cinnamon and eucalyptus, which authorities declare is best for women and children.—Adv.

PEPIN, The Tailor

TO HELP WAR CRIPPLES

Special Commission Holds First Meeting — Lowell Man a Member

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—The special commission on training disabled soldiers and sailors had its first hearing yesterday afternoon at the state house. It consists of Payson Smith, commissioner of education; Charles B. Hayes, director of the commission for the blind; Edwin Mulready, labor commissioner; Jewell E. Puffer of Natick; Susan C. Lyman of Boston; Clark Powers of Somerville and Winfred C. MacBryne of Lowell.

The commission had before it five bills which had been referred to it by the 1919 legislature. They were as follows: By Senator John J. Kearney, to provide for state assistance for the higher education of certain physically disabled persons; by Harold L. Perrin, for an educational memorial for the soldiers and sailors of the world war; by William H. Hearn, to establish a reconstruction commission to investigate and report relative to social and economic reconstruction and to the regulation of finance and trade; by ex-Congressman Frederick S. Deltrick, to authorize the commonwealth to employ the Boston Blind and Cripples' blind and partially blind persons, with certain restrictions; and by John P. Engler, to provide a free home for citizens of Massachusetts who became disabled while serving in the military and naval forces of the United States.

Commissioner Smith presided. Ex-Congressman Deltrick opened the hearing. He said that he is president of the Boston Blind and Cripples' union which meets every Friday night in Myers hall, Tremont Temple. He believed that his bill, which provides for civilians, as well as for soldiers and sailors, will solve the entire problem of the support of the blind and crippled. They feel that they are handi-

TEACHERS ADDRESSED BY SUPERINTENDENT

Supt. Hugh J. Molloy addressed the public school teachers of the city at their regular meeting held last yesterday afternoon in High school hall, this opportunity being afforded him by the five-day furlough which he had received from his duties as a member of the state guard forces now serving in capped in the struggle for a living, he said.

Dr. Howard Always Recommended Oxidaze for Coughs Colds, Br. Asthma

Years of study and observation convinced him it would safely, quickly and surely stop a bad cough and give instant relief in Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Croup, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, All Druggists.

The bill provides for a state commission of five persons, who shall be specially qualified by being physically crippled, blind or partially blind, to have an annual salary of $5000 each, the term to be five years, with power to employ all necessary medical and other experts and to incur all reasonable expense. The bill sets forth a system by which persons crippled to the extent of 25 per cent of their powers, or blind to the extent of 65 per cent of eyesight shall be given employment by the state. Persons over 21 years shall have $25 a week salary; between 16 and 21 years, $12.50, and persons under 16 years, $6.25.

The bill provides such financial support as will keep the beneficiaries from want, presumptively. Mr. Deltrick spoke at length and strongly for adequate consideration of the permanent relief of the blind and crippled.

Several blind and crippled persons came to the hearing with Mr. Deltrick, Edward J. Mercer, with poor sight, employed at the commission for the blind, formerly getting $6 weekly, but now $14, argued that the state ought to make up the difference between the earnings of each defective person and money enough to afford a reasonable living. Representative Hayden of Lynn approved the bill and it was also supported by Mary McClinton, employed at the commission for the blind.

SAFETY WATCHWORD OF EVERY HOME

The great railroad safety drive now being conducted by the safety section of the operating division of the railroad administration should receive the attention of every man, woman and child in New England. No matter whether past deaths and injuries have resulted from collisions, derailments, or other reasons connected with the operation of trains, or whether they come from trespassers upon railroad property, it is perfectly evident that the number has been too large and that there is plenty of opportunity for bringing about an improvement by giving the situation proper consideration.

Serious injury or death to the head of the household or to any member of the household is to be deplored at any time, but because of the grievous problems of the nation as a whole, the loss of a family member, especially one of the government—serious injury or death, especially when caused by one's own carelessness, is more than ever a loss to one's family and friends and to mankind. The world in these four years has suffered a terrible loss, the human part of which is incapable of calculation—for who can compute the value of all that vigorous energy stricken out of service and mental contribution?

The railroad administration, through A. F. Duffy, manager of the safety section, division of operation, and through Fred W. Mitchell, supervisor of safety for the New Haven, is appealing to every citizen, every employee, to make an individual effort to bring about a high degree of safety. All are besought to regard their own personal safety, the safety of their families, the safety of their brethren on the railroads and the safety of all with whom they come in contact in their daily work.

The people of New England should also learn the lesson of safety first. There have been many object lessons to drive home the truth that the iron tracks as a footpath is subject to great hazard. Part of the campaign now going on is also for the purpose of instructing the public in the proper use of grade crossings; and it is hoped that city and town officials, clergymen, school authorities and others may also aid the movement. Crossing tenders are taking the numbers of automobiles whose drivers appear to operate them carelessly in approaching crossings. Automobileists have been notably guilty of violating all safety rules—this notwithstanding the fact that there are state laws and city ordinances governing the matter. While the drive is on all employees, all citizens, all automobileists should become impressed with the spirit of the campaign. And if they become so impressed, there will be a vast beneficial gain, not only for the period of the drive, but for many years to come.

Safety to oneself and happiness and serenity to one's family should be the watchword. Individuals should practice the safety habit and this will teach others to do the same.

The railroads, by constant effort among their employees, can do a great deal, but they cannot do it all. The movement must have the hearty cooperation of the general public.

CLEMENCEAU'S PARTY IS STRONG IN PROVINCES

PARIS, Oct. 22.—Premier Clemenceau will open the political campaign with a speech at Strasbourg on Sunday in which he will outline his political program. While the premier himself is not a candidate, reports from all the provinces say that candidates for parliament who are known to be Clemenceau adherents are generally displaying the greatest strength.

Joseph Caillaux, the French politician accused of intelligence with the enemy, will appear before the French senate, constituted as a high court, on Thursday for trial, but it is possible that the actual trial may be deferred until after elections, owing to the desires of many senators.

The alignment of senators for aid against immediate trial seems to be based on geographical and political grounds, as many senators in certain departments would be able to use a condemnation of Caillaux as an argument for their re-election, while in other districts it would be used as a weapon against them.

Prosecutor Lescouvie will request an immediate trial, merely asking the time necessary to summon witnesses from America by cable, in which case Nov. 17 might be decided upon as the date on which the debate would begin. The vote in the senate on the sub-enjoyment when there isn't a dyspeptic linchpin among them. Of course, a case of dyspepsia or daily indigestion must be looked after. But it is far more to the point to prevent as well as to treat sour stomach, belching, water brash, etc., by such a valuable means as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Coddling the stomach with soft food and pre-digested stuff merely invites sluggishness.

Dyspepsia and Home Life

What a Relief When All the Family Eat the Same Food! Avoid Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Gas, Flatulence, Stomach Trouble, Nervousness, Headache, and all the other ailments that result from indigestion.

Eat your little pork sausages for breakfast without fears; have a plate of beans and a piece of pie with cheese for lunch, and end the day with a real dinner, instead of a bowl of bread and milk. Follow each meal with a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet and get right back to your natural self. These tablets digest food and assist the stomach to prepare the contents for assimilation in the intestinal tract. Thus you get the practical relief and help which induces a better appetite and a greater freedom in the selection of foods. You will find Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets on sale at any drug store in the United States and Canada, as they are considered one of the stand-bys by the druggist.—Adv.

Famo Stops Baldness

It Kills Seborrhea—the Scourge of Healthy Hair

You need no longer be alarmed at the falling out of your hair.

There is actually a way to prevent it.

Science discovered that the scourge of baldness was due to Seborrhea, the disease that produces dandruff.

Two years ago science found Famo.

The formula was worked out and perfected as a specific for baldness, in one of the oldest pharmaceutical laboratories in Detroit.

It was given a rigid test in the hands of reputable hair specialists.

Its efficiency was proven in scores of cases in private practice long before it was given to the world at large.

Seborrhea undoubtedly causes baldness.

It is known now that Famo actually stops baldness.

Seborrhea produces dandruff and kills the hair.

Famo grows new healthy hair by making the scalp healthy.

The action of Famo is not that of a hair lotion or a massage which rubs out the dandruff.

Famo immediately penetrates the scalp. It feeds the glands that nourish the roots of the hair.

Famo dissolves the dandruff so that it actually disappears.

Better still it kills Seborrhea, the germ of dandruff.

It improves the lustre and the texture of the hair. It makes the hair grow thicker and faster.

Famo contains no alcohol. The persistent use of alcohol on the hair dries the hair and the scalp.

Famo retards graying by keeping the roots and natural oil of the hair in healthy condition.

If your scalp itches, if your hair is dull and lifeless, if you have dandruff, it means that Seborrhea is working against the life of your hair.

You will find Famo on sale at all toilet goods counters and the better barber shops.

It comes in a convenient trial size at 35 cents, and you can buy an extra large bottle for a dollar.

Your money will be returned if you are not satisfied.

Seborrhea is the medical name for a morbidly increased flow from the sebaceous glands of the scalp. The seborrhea excretion forms in scales or flakes and is commonly known as dandruff.

From the laboratories of F. A. Thompson & Company, Manufacturing Pharmacists, Detroit, Mich.

criticism of any individual or of any group. But having called this conference, I feel that my temporary indisposition should not bar the way to a frank expression of the seriousness of the position in which this country will be placed should it adjourn without having convinced the American people that you had exhausted your resources and your patience in an effort to come to some common agreement.

At a time when the nations of the world are endeavoring to find a way of avoiding international war, are we to confess that there is no method to be found for carrying on industry except in the spirit and with the very method of war? Must suspicion and hatred and force rule us in civil life? Are our industrial leaders and our industrial workers to live together without faith in each other, constantly struggling for advantage over each other, doing naught but what is compelled?

My friends this would be an intolerable outlook, a prospect unworthy of the large things done by this people in the mastering of this continent. Indeed, it would be an invitation to a national disaster. From such a possibility my mind turns away, for my confidence is abiding that in this land we have learned now to accept the general judgment upon matters that affect the public weal. And this is the very heart and soul of democracy.

It is my understanding that you have decided upon one portion only of a possible program which has not fully been developed. Before a severance is decided, based upon present differences, I believe you should stand together for the development of that full program touching the many questions within the broad scope of your investigations. It was in my mind when this conference was called that you would concern yourselves with the discovery of those methods by which a measurable co-operation within industry may have been secured and if new machinery needs to be designed by which a minimum of conflict between employers and employees may reasonably be hoped for, that we should make an effort to secure its adoption. It cannot be expected that at every step all parties will agree upon each proposition or method suggested. It is to be expected, however, that as a whole, a plan or program can be agreed upon which will advance further the productive capacity of America through the establishment of a surer and heartier co-operation between all the elements engaged in industry. The public expects no less than that you shall have that one end in view and stay together until the way is found leading to that end or until it is revealed that the men who work and the men who manage American industry are so set upon divergent paths that all effort at cooperation is doomed to failure.

I renew my appeal with full comprehension of the almost incomparable importance of your tasks in this and to other peoples, and with full faith in the high patriotism and good faith of each other that you push your task to a happy conclusion.

WOODROW WILSON.

COUNT ILYA TOLSTOY COMING TOMORROW

A capacity audience is expected at tonight's lecture to be given tomorrow evening in Colonial hall by Count Ilya Tolstoy, son and literary heir of Leo Tolstoy, the great Russian novelist and reformer, on the subject: "What is Wrong With Russia."

Count Tolstoy is to deliver his lecture in Worcester this afternoon, according to notification received this morning by John J. O'Rourke, secretary of the board of trade, and will come on to this city from Boston tomorrow. He has recently returned to America after having made a careful study of political and economic conditions in his native country. Regarding modern Russia no man in the United States is so well informed as Tolstoy and none can speak with equal authority.

For many years he was an intimate associate, not only of the Russian intellectuals, but of distinguished men and women from all parts of the world who journeyed thousands of miles to see his great father. He is not only the literary heir, but the perfect image of Leo Tolstoy. He is now in the prime of his life, speaks excellent English and has a heavy bass voice which can be heard clearly in the largest auditoriums.

Tickets for the lecture may be obtained free of charge upon application to the secretary of the board of trade at 117 Merrimack street. Members of the board and their friends are entitled to tickets sufficient for their needs.

EARLY MORNING FIRE DESTROYS BAKERY

Fire destroyed an old two-and-a-half story wooden structure and a barn as well as a large amount of flour and bread and a wagon and harnesses at 7 rear of 11 Cumiskey's alley early this morning. The property and contents were owned by E. Zarouros.

It is believed that the fire started from an overheated stove in the building, which was being occupied as a bakery and a storage, for before leaving the premises the bakers had built a fire supposed to last all night. The blaze was discovered shortly before 1 o'clock and an alarm was sent in from box 114.

When the firemen arrived on the premises the bakery was almost burned to the ground and the flames had communicated to the barn adjacent. Several lines of hose were laid, but the efforts of the fire fighters to save the barn were fruitless. The loss will be heavy.

They Get Action at Once

Foley Kidney Pills invigorate, strengthen and heal inactive, weak and diseased kidneys and bladder. Mrs. C. J. Ellis, 605 3th Ave. Sioux Falls, S. D., writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble; used to have severe pains across my back and felt miserable and all tired out, but after taking Foley Kidney Pills I am well. I have not been bothered with kidney trouble since." They relieve headache, rheumatic pains, swollen or stiff joints, puffiness under the eyes, floating specks.

BACKWARD, TURN BACKWARD, O TIME

Beginning next Sunday morning at 9 o'clock the daylight saving law which has kept the clocks of the country one hour ahead of the usual time since last March, will no longer be in effect and the change in time will be made in Lowell as well as the rest of the country.

Mayor Perry D. Thompson has ordered the hands of the clock on city hall tower to be turned back one hour when they reach 11 o'clock next Saturday evening and City Messenger Owen A. Monahan will perform the task. The other clocks of the city will be turned back at this time or perhaps a little later, it is expected.

This hour has been chosen because it is figured that changing the clocks at 11 o'clock will cause less confusion than were it done earlier in the evening when crowds of shoppers are on the streets.

The local stores, theatres, etc., will regulate their hours by the time now in effect on Saturday evening, but on Sunday morning church services will be held according to the new time. This will allow people an extra hour of sleep Saturday night or Sunday morning. The best way to be sure of having the right time Sunday morning will be to set one's watch or clock back an hour on Saturday night.

WATER COMMISSIONER'S REPORT

The seventh annual report of the commissioner of water works for the year 1918, including reports of the superintendent, city engineer and registrar of the department, was received from the printers today and includes the usual interesting fund of data and information concerning the local water system. The financial statement shows that $215,230.50 was spent during the year for maintenance and $21,439.32 for construction. The report of the superintendent brings out the fact that there was an increase in the total pumpage from the Cook wells and boulevard wells in 1915 of 480,237.016 gallons over that of 1917.

MRS. FORTUNA BURIED

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Fortuna, whose body was found in a lonely spot on Lodge Hill, Dracut, last Sunday afternoon and whose death is believed to have been the result of murder, was held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the rooms of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons. The service was attended by immediate relatives and a few intimate friends and was conducted by Rev. Edward J. Guswa, pastor of the Polish National Roman Catholic church in Lakeview avenue. Burial took place in St. Kazimierz cemetery, Pelham, N. H., a motor cortege conducting the body from the rooms to the grave.

TO TOW IN DISABLED SHIP

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—Eagle boat No. 41, which has been in distress off Mulgrave, N. S., because of engine trouble, will be towed to the Portsmouth navy yard by the coast guard cutter Acushnet, under orders issued today. The Acushnet is now at Halifax.

SYNDICATE SEEKS TO BUY RED SOX

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—Purchase of the Boston Red Sox by a local syndicate which, if successful, would elect Congressman James A. Gallivan as president of the club, has been proposed to President Harry H. Frazee, the present principal owner. Congressman Gallivan announced today. In a telegram received here the congressman said that his friends had made an offer for the club which President Frazee now has under consideration.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, take this means of expressing our sincere thanks to our many kind friends and relatives, also members of the Liberty Square Social and Athletic club, who by their acts of kindness, expressions of sympathy and offerings of floral tributes and spiritual bouquets served to lighten the burden of our sorrow caused by the death of a beloved son and brother, James Connors. Such evidence of true friendship we will ever cherish in loving remembrance.

THE SUNDAY MOVIES

The ministers of the Federation of Churches have declared against the moving picture shows on Sunday, presumably for the alleged reason that attendance at such places of amusement is not in accord with the strict observance of the Sabbath.

That all depends upon the character of the shows. It is well to insist upon the proper observance of the Sabbath, but the Federation of Churches before condemning the Sunday picture theatres will have to prove that attendance at such performances constitutes a desecration of the day. We do not believe the Federation of Churches will attempt to take the position that attendance at an educational and wholly unobjectionable picture show, would be a violation of the commandment to observe the Lord's day.

The point will, therefore, turn upon the character of the shows presented in the movie theatres on Sunday. If they are bad they should be forbidden and the theatres closed. If they are not bad; if they are educational, or better still, of a sacred character, they may be made highly instructive and edifying.

We are, therefore, opposed to closing the movies on Sunday when the shows may be devoted to patriotic and religious subjects on which the masses need enlightenment. The moving picture exhibition can be made the medium of presenting biblical stories and lessons in American history, or of promoting the work of Americanization, or any other public movement in which it may be necessary to enlighten the masses.

There should be no attempt to revive the blue laws here or elsewhere. The Sunday hotels which were little more than drinking clubs, are now out of business and the men who formerly frequented them will feel an inclination to go somewhere. If they can be induced to spend their time in the churches, well and good, but if not then the moving picture shows may be made to appeal to them.

We are as critical as anybody should be on the necessity of having clean picture shows and to have the theatre present none that is objectionable at any time; but we believe that the Sunday shows should partake of the Sunday spirit and at the same time be amusing and instructive. It does not require much stretch of the imagination to realize that it is within the bounds of possibility for a picture show to convey a more forcible moral or religious lesson than is derivable from the average pulpit sermon. On the other hand, it is equally true that the effect of several good sermons might be easily overcome by one bad picture show.

The inference, therefore, is clear, as to the line of public duty in regard to Sunday theatres. See that they give decent shows and promptly call them to account if they descend below the standard laid down.

This is an industrial city in which housing conditions have caused hundreds, we might say thousands, of working people to crowd into small and poorly ventilated rooms, very often without adequate heat. The people cannot stay in such rooms to freeze in cold weather. Neither can they spend their leisure time on the streets; and it is plain, therefore, that there are few places if any in which they can spend their time more comfortably or more profitably than in the picture houses, provided always that the shows are decent, entertaining and instructive.

To close the Sunday movies would tend to drive men "who want to go somewhere" into gambling resorts, or places where the various substitutes for liquor will be offered to those who want to indulge in stimulants or opiates. If properly conducted the Sunday picture theatres may be converted into agencies of education and uplift, highly beneficial rather than otherwise.

We are, therefore, in favor of holding the Sunday theatres and of making them in every way fit for the patronage of young and old so that they may become a medium of much needed instruction and edification as well as of innocent amusement. It is well to remove temptation from the path of young and old, but while it is impossible to remove all the allurement to evil, it is advisable to maintain counter attractions, and so the moving picture shows properly conducted on Sunday or even during the week, may prevent many young people from forming an acquaintance with disreputable resorts, a single visit to which would be more regrettable, more dangerous to health and life and morals than a year's attendance at the lowest movie theatre in the land.

THE JAPANESE SIDE

Some new light is thrown upon the Shantung controversy by the fact that one of the political parties in Japan charges certain high officials with misrepresenting the real claims of Japan in intimating that there may be a possibility of establishing an international settlement at China-Chiao instead of an exclusive Japanese settlement, as authorized by treaties with China.

It is likely that Japan is going to have public agitation over this question quite as heated as we have had in this country. There is little doubt that there is in Japan a jingo party which is endeavoring to cause trouble even at the risk of precipitating a rupture between the government and the allied powers now represented in the peace conference.

The proposed Shantung reservation demanded by certain American senators as a condition precedent to ratification of the peace treaty, has stirred up certain elements in Japan so that in the near future, we are likely to hear more of the real policy favored by the Japanese in the matter of expansion in other countries.

It cannot be doubted that Japan is endeavoring to secure control of China and that she is also seeking an outlet for her teeming population in Siberia, the United States, Mexico and South America.

It seems that there is considerable good sense behind the proposition made by Senator Phelan of California, who advocated the ratification of the peace treaty with reservations if necessary, in order that Japan may be kept where she belongs without the necessity of an open rupture between her and the United States. The western senator favors a policy of exclusion that will put a stop to Japanese immigration to this country. It is remembered that this question of immigration is held to be one with which this nation will not allow any outside interference. It is to remain the prerogative of this republic to decide what class of immigrants may come here and what may not.

It is likely, however, that Japan would raise a great howl if the bars were set up against her people on the western coast. Already her temper has been shown on this question when protests have been made by the officials of western states. A decisive stand must soon be taken on this matter of Japanese immigration and we believe with Senator Phelan that it may be more easily done through the League of Nations than if no such league existed. The league will remind Japan that the matter of immigration to the United States is a domestic policy with which other nations cannot interfere.

CHILDREN WANTED

Germany in her new constitution made provision for encouraging motherhood in order to replace the vast loss of population and in this regard, it was provided that illegitimate children would not be subject to discrimination as formerly. This provision was criticized in some quarters at the time as encouraging motherhood out of wedlock. Since then, however, the same policy has been favored by high authorities in England although not by the government and now a female doctor from France, Dr. Anna Montet, addressing the international conference of women physicians pleads the cause of the girl mother, claiming that where such a great proportion of the man power of the country has been destroyed, it is necessary to replace it by every means possible. Speaking of the attitude of the French government on this subject she said:

"The law has assured the protection of the child born out of wedlock, first in creating a bond of right between him and his parents when that is possible, then in assisting the mother when she is alone and without resources, and finally in taking full responsibility in rearing the child."

It is but natural to assume that after such a war there would be many children born out of wedlock; but the fact that these children are to be protected does not justify a policy that would encourage immorality or weaken the institution of wedlock.

The same problem is likely to come up in this country after a few years, but the solution lies in the abandonment of race suicide by those who are married rather than by encouraging motherhood out of wedlock. Whenever we want to increase our population we have but to open the doors to immigration. The foreigners are no slackers in the matter of raising large families.

THE TREATY

The call of the nation is strong for the prompt ratification of the peace treaty. Nothing is to be gained by further discussion but on the contrary much is to be lost. The peace with Turkey is being held up in the Paris conference pending the action of the United States on the treaty and upon the mandate can accept the mandate over Armenia. It would be worth almost the entire covenant to rescue that country from the Turks and start it upon the road to freedom and independence. After 700 years of persecution it would indeed be a glorious day for suffering Armenia. The country is rich in resources and after overcoming the ravages of the Turks during the war Armenia would march on to real happiness and prosperity born of her newly won national freedom.

But the main reason why the treaty should be promptly ratified is that the industrial turmoil throughout the nation at the present time requires all the attention congress can give it. The intimation that revolutionary elements are engaged in these strikes and demands for shorter hours and higher wages is a matter that should not be lightly treated. The facts have been laid bare and congress should not ignore them.

The opposition to the treaty now boasts of its alleged ability to force concessions but it appears that after all the reservations are disposed of there will be a safe majority for the treaty.

Things may assume a somewhat different aspect after the declaration of peace. Too much time has been wasted already. The demand of the hour is to ratify. The people want an official declaration of peace.

HEALTH CENTRES

The city of Portland, Me., is to be divided into three health districts under the direction of the health department of the Red Cross. Three health centres will be established the aim of which will be to develop greater interest in community life and help in the physical upbuilding of future citizens. The public health nurses will have general charge of the centres in their respective districts and at all times there will be complete co-operation with the health department. It seems that this plan is well calculated to promote health and sanitary conditions throughout the city.

If the Red Cross could combine with its present work, the distribution of sugar to families having small children, it would render a still more valuable service to the city. But even without the attraction of sugar, the health centres should render a very valuable service to the city of Portland. This is a feature that might well be adopted in Lowell, especially in the congested districts.

FAME GOOD AND BAD

They have barred Buffalo Bill from the Hall of Fame! This is why, in the words of Robert Underwood Johnson, newly elected director of the New York University's "poetics of immortality."

"Because he (Buffalo Bill) is famous in a bad sense, and we admit only those famous in a good sense."

Of course the line must be drawn somewhere between our famous men—good and bad—else Jesse James would get on a famous niche. But what we find objection to is this sneering of "bad sense fame" upon one of the most distinguished of Americans, the wild west hero of royalty abroad, one of the very best shots the western plains produced, the peer of any larrikin thrower, the superlative in broncho busting, the guide of the early settlers, the scout for American soldiers fighting attacking redskins, the man who did more to entertain and amuse the American public than all these famous personages now grouped in the Hall of Fame.

If that isn't fame in a "good sense" we have erred in our definition of fame. This coming year the Hall of Fame officials are going to have an election, permitting the American people to express themselves upon the nomination.—X. E. A.

POORLY PAID TEACHER

A Boston school teacher before the United States entered the world war was a substitute in the Boston English high school. He served in France, with the 101st Infantry as a sergeant, leaving the Normal school to answer the call to arms. His foreign service, throughout all campaigns with the Yankee Division, was devoted to acting as interpreter in the intelligence department and his work was the translation of French orders and reports and of captured German documents. Important surely. He has now returned to his teaching profession as a substitute in the Boston Trade school, but at a salary $1 a day less than he received before entering the army. If he had remained at home he would have been promoted by this time and might have had an appointment of his own. He says it cannot be done on $4 a day, five days in the week and he intends to resign. He is most proficient in languages, being an excellent French and German scholar, yet he must give up his chosen work and the school system will allow a fine teacher to pass into another line of industry simply through shortsightedness and lack of appreciation.

LOWELL MAN AT BANK CONVENTION

John H. Murphy, treasurer and manager of the Lowell Morris Plan bank, has just returned from the annual convention of the Morris Plan banks of the country held in Cleveland, Ohio, on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week. There are 101 Morris Plan banks in the United States and each of them had a representative at the convention.

The purpose of the meeting was to draft an association for the development of the so-called "trade acceptance" idea in banking. This new idea enables manufacturers to realize ready capital on their products through the Morris Plan banks, instead of having to wait until their goods are sold and money turned over to them by the retailer. It is of benefit to the consumer because he can take advantage of that part of the plan which advances him capital and the retailer benefits by being able to have a constant supply of goods on hand. Summed up, the "trade acceptance" idea means the entrance of the Morris Plan banks into the commercial field.

Mr. Murphy was one of the 34 delegates from New England and he had the honor of serving on a committee appointed to draft a charter and by-laws governing the participation of the banks in the trade acceptance scheme. Serving on the committee with him were a number of the leading men of the country, including: Gen. Coleman Dupont, president of the famous Dupont Powder company; E. W. Lewis of Detroit, president of the Timken Automobile Supply corporation; N. S. Miles of Asheville, N. C.; A. S. Bloomfield, treasurer of the St. Louis Morris Plan Bank company; Robert J. Bulky, president of the Cleveland bank and during the war attorney for the United States shipping board, and others.

On the last day of the convention Cardinal Mercier visited Cleveland and Mr. Murphy had the honor of going to the station with the chairman of Cleveland's committee on arrangements to meet the distinguished prelate.

LIQUOR RAID AT SPRINGFIELD

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 22.—State Detectives David J. Manning and Thomas E. Bilghe rolled into Springfield last night aboard a truck loaded with what they say is 1 per cent beer, garnished by several gallons of whiskey, which they seized last yesterday afternoon at the old Allen house in Hampden.

Norman Canady, who lives in the house, was arrested on the charge of illegal keeping and selling of liquor. The detectives say they bought several rounds of drinks before they told the proprietor who they were.

Scratching is dangerous, stop it with Resinol

Every time you scratch that itching rash you make it worse. The intense desire to scratch such skin disorders as eczema, hives, nettle rash and like skin ailments, may be instantly relieved when Resinol Ointment is applied to the affected parts.

It is advisable to use Resinol to thoroughly cleanse the infected spot with Resinol Soap and warm water. This accelerates the healing action of the ointment, and consequently quicker and better results are desired.

SEEN AND HEARD

Yesterday was a better day to go hunting than it was to dig potatoes.

What has become of the old man who used to bank his pipe at night for a quick puff in the early morn?

And another big trouble with the wage business is that the incompetent is getting as much pay as the fellow who knows his business.

White women are preaching the doctrine of equality with men they are not playing fair, asserts Dr. Cletis Mosier of Leland Stanford university. "They are trying to hold on to privileges granted because of weakness and dependence," she says.

Mrs. Rose Campagnaro, New York, has been arrested charged with selling love powders at $10 an ounce. All one was supposed to do was to feed the powder to a husband whose affections had cooled a bit and he'd again begin sending home violets and candy right away. They were guaranteed to make even the most timid young man propose.

Mrs. John Bell of Smith Center, Kan., has a turkey gobbler who showed all the inclinations to "bet" and repeated attempts to "break" him failed. Finally Mrs. Bell placed it in hen eggs under him and for two weeks now the gobbler has stuck to the job of keeping them warm. Mrs. Bell is confident he will bring off nearly a full hatch, but what he will do with the brood remains to be seen. She believes the heat and long dry spell have made the gobbler a trifle daffy.

Found—A man who had never heard of Babe Ruth, the Boston slugger, whose name is a household word in baseball.

Harry Pollard was reading aloud to fellow-members of the Rolin Film company. "Holy smoke!" said Pollard. What does Babe Ruth do but break the world's record for hitting home runs—

"Never heard that name before," remarked one of the trouper.

"Never heard of Babe Ruth?" howled the surprised comedian.

"Nope," was the answer. "Who is she?"—Photoplay Sidelines.

Possible "Society News"

Mrs. Brown is back from her holidays. She got a grass stain on her white flannel suit and split orange leaf over her foulard skirt. There being no dry cleaning establishment within 30 miles of where she was stopping, she was compelled to return home.

Immediately upon receipt of a letter from her husband, in which he said, "I am having a good time; stay as long as you like," Mrs. Potter returned home from the seashore yesterday.

Mrs. Hyphen-Hyphen Jones has returned from a short visit to the shore. She heard that her husband was seen in a cafe dining with his first wife.

Mrs. Jones returned to town last night, recalled by curiosity to know what was contained in a clipping that was missing from the home paper she received Saturday night.

Anticipation

The wrongs will all be righted now. This world will be a place of joy and happiness and peace for all the human race.

For every evil there has been a remedy. There'll be an antidote for Susan's dream in coming true—The girls are going to vote!

No more will this old world of ours be managed by the men. The women, too, will take a hand. And we'll be happier then. The list of masculine mistakes is far too long to quote. But those bad days are over now—The girls are going to vote!

Oh, happy day! How we have longed and longed for you to come! And now at last we see approach The glad millennium.

Soon all our grievances will be things of the past—remote. And there'll be no more trouble, for The girls are going to vote!

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come.

H. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

In a bill of uniformly entertaining acts the Quivvy Four stands out as one of the cleanest, prettiest of quartets seen at the H. F. Keith Theatre in a long time. The members are exceedingly lively in their work. Arthur Havel & Co., in "Playmates" bring forward a turn with a novel finish, and James H. Jones and Anna Francis have a hilarious turn in "I Got What I Left." Julia Rooney, a sister of the formidable Pat, and Walter Clinton, purvey a classy brand of dancing, and Martin Fabiani are in a most graceful performance of note. Other good things on the bill consist of Dave Kintler, a whistler, and Eskimo and Seals.

OPERA HOUSE

Wonderfully clever gown creations, worn by Miss Marguerite Fields, the leading woman of the Lowell Players, appearing in "The Boss" at the Opera House, this week is one of the many commendable features in connection with the production. Miss Fields not alone knows how to wear her gowns with artistic grace, but can portray characters in a most graceful and dignified manner. John Mehan, the talented leading man of the company, is seen in his biggest part this week, as "Boss Regan," the slave-driving politician who has a big heart, once he gets the proper person to guide him. You will like Mr. Mehan's efforts immensely. J. Francis Kirk as the venerable high-collared makes a most important part of a minor role, and Miss Francisella Knowles makes a fine and distinct characterization to her work. Mr. Crane and the others are also adequate. The staging of the play in done with a finish that is marked. Order your tickets early and avoid disappointment. Tel. 281.

THE STRAND

The Great Nazimova, appearing in her greatest picturization, "The Great Train Robbery," this film offering is easily her best effort and ranks with the biggest and most artistic and gripping presentations in which ever appeared. It's one of her most recent million-dollar productions. Don't miss it today. Then there is Gladys Leslie in "The Great Tewara Mystery," a gripping and dramatic story, in which emotional and dramatic effort is reflected by the star. The comedy and weekly are both good. For the week-end, beginning with matinee tomorrow, Tom Mix, the Cow Boy star in "Rough Riding Romance" and Peggy Reilly in "The Merry-Go-Round" will be featured. A new comedy and weekly will also be shown, and there will be new song hits.

LOWELL MAN TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Mr. E. A. Chase of 155 Grand St., Lowell, Mass., said: "I was taken about a year and a half ago with kidney trouble. It became worse and at last I was taken to the Massachusetts State Hospital. I received no benefit there and I was worse after I came home in three or four weeks than before I went there. I have only taken Goldline about a week and am very much relieved and feel a lot better in every way. I am heartily glad to recommend Goldline for anyone who wishes to hear from me."

Ask Stephen Courrier what he thinks of GOLDLINE for kidney and stomach trouble and rheumatism.

Remember, GOLDLINE is sold in Lowell by Carter & Sherburne, F. H. Butler & Co., W. P. Calise, Jr., Fred Howard, Wm. H. Klemm, Frank E. Howard, Wm. H. Noonan, R. F. Webster, Fred & Crawford Co. It is also sold by Roland G. Wright in Billerica, John S. Wentwood in Chelmsford, Conant & Co. in Littleton, Edward A. Woodside in Wilmington and dealers in Ayer, Westford, Dracut, Tewksbury and other towns. If your dealer does not carry GOLDLINE in stock, have him secure it through the Lawrence Drug Co.—Adv.

With This New Product You SOAK Your Clothes Clean Instead Of RUBBING Them

The hardest things in the world to wash

Dish towels—kitchen aprons—small boys' suits

Try this new form of soap on them

Clean dish towels every day—without rubbing or boiling. Just soak them in the bubbling Rinso suds.

Is it really true? No rubbing, no boiling—and your things come straight from the tub sweet and snowy white?

You can hardly believe it!

Well, put Rinso to the hardest test of all. Just try it on dish towels. And those dreadful kitchen aprons—those grubby, grimy little trousers of that small boy of yours—those sticky little rompers that sister always gets everything all over—try washing them the Rinso way.

Then you will know how wonderful Rinso really is.

All the ground-in dirt that used to mean such hard, hard rubbing. How Rinso softens it and takes it right out of the fabric without hurting a thread!

Things that ordinary washing would leave only half clean—Rinso gives back to you snowy-white or with their original, fresh, clear color!

A new form of soap—in granules.

Rinso is a new form of soap. It is not a cake soap. It is not a "washing powder." But a wonderful new soap product—in fine granules.

The pure, cleansing granules dissolve instantly into a rich suds.

There is not a bit of solid soap to stick tight to the fabric, and injure it.

There are no harsh chemicals to "eat" the cloth—to destroy the colors.

But a rich suds so pure that your clothes look as safely as in pure water alone.

A new idea of washing

You know what it has always meant to wash the dreadfully soiled things. Rubbing over the washboard. Lifting the heavy clothes out of the steaming boiler.

But did you know that half the wear on clothing comes in the washing? That the hard friction on the washboard, wearing the threads, loosening the weave of the material; that the strong washing powders, "eating" the fibres, destroying their strength—wear out your clothes as much as all the wearing and using they get during the week?

And now this wonderful new way of laundering—with Rinso—saves your clothes all this. Your clothes actually last twice as long!

With Rinso—you soak the clothes overnight or for three hours in the morning.

You take them out and rinse them.

And they will be gleaming white, spotless. Only extremely soiled things—bad spots—need a light rubbing between your hands, right in the Rinso suds—and they, too, are shining white.

The rich Rinso suds have loosened all the dirt, while the clothes soaked.

There is no boiling, except occasionally, if you wish to sterilize, for Rinso cleans as wonderfully in cold water as in hot.

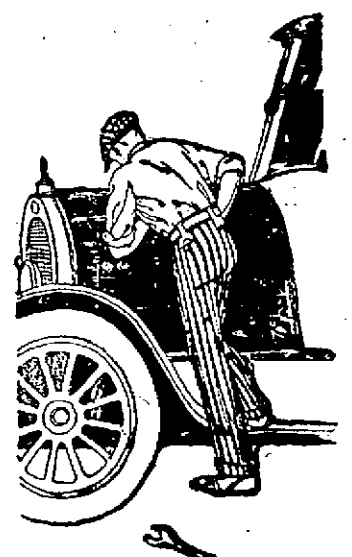

There is no rubbing, except lightly on the hardest spots.

There is no cake soap, no washing powder. Only one package of Rinso, and your whole week's washing is done better and easier than it's ever been done before.

Start using Rinso this next Monday

This next Monday try the new way of washing—following the easy directions on the Rinso package. Try Rinso on the things that are hardest to get clean. See how different it is from anything else you ever used.

Your grocer has Rinso. Order it today. —Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass. (Makers of Lux.)

Men's shirts, that are greasy-stained from "fooling around" the car, need only the lightest rubbing between your hands, after a soaking in Rinso suds.

Rinso is not a "washing powder"

WASHING POWDER
—high in harsh chemicals

RINSO
—absolutely harmless
—so rich in soap it "jells"

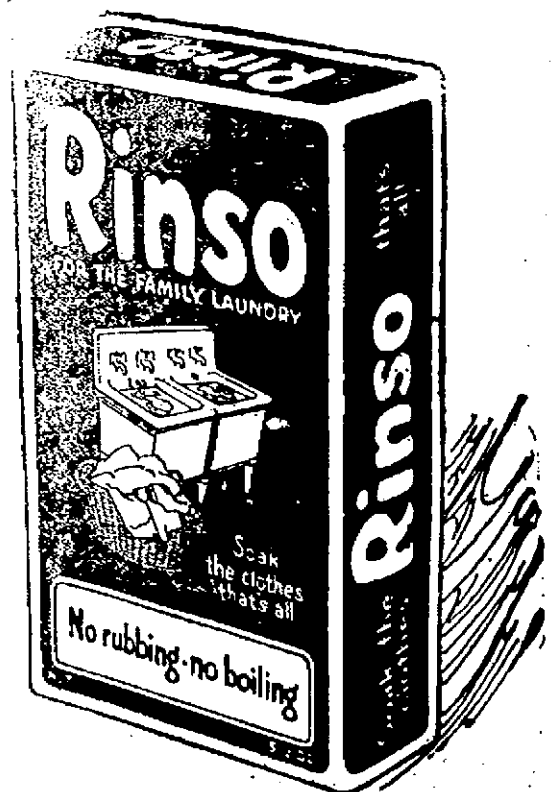

Those dozens of little gingham dresses—rompers—boys' suits—so grimy from the playground. Soak them in Rinso suds—they will come out fresh and shining.

LOWELL WINS FROM BOUTS TOMORROW NIGHT
GOLD BUGS, 5 TO 2

The Providence Gold Bugs made their first local appearance of the season at the Crescent rink, last night and met defeat at the hands of the Lowell poloists by the score of 5 to 2.

The visitors missed their former peppy captain, Barney Doherty, and while a pretty good combination has been assembled by the clam diggers, there is only one aggressive and bel- by his absence.

Cameron, another veteran of the lgerent Barney and the team suffered some, appears in Barney's place, but he lacks the class of his predecessor. At centre "Duke" Dufresne performed and he did a good job. "Lanky" Harry Thompson and Leo Mulligan were on the rush line, and they teamed up well and showed good combination work. Jettie was at goal and he put up a good exhibition.

Lowell's smooth combination effort, with Harkins, Griffith and Davies developing classy offensive co-ordina- tion and Davies and Pence presenting artistic defensive work, proved that Lowell could not be denied, and while the Bugs gave the Harkins crew a fight in the first two sessions, with the coming of the final session Lowell went to the front never to be headed.

The game was cleanly played and not fouled by referee Keaveney, but the official had considerable announcing to do and he performed as only he can. There was very little pushing, no skate trouble and few balls went through the net. A circumstance that kept the men going all the while and resulted in the game ending early.

Shortly after the game opened Mul- ligan counted, Griffith and Harkins followed with a brace for Lowell and the session ended 2 to 1. In the second period the score was knotted, when Thompson poked one into the net. In the final period Harkins sent Lowell into the lead and then Davies landed a couple for good measure. Providence tried hard to score in the final session, but Lowell's defense was impregnable. The lineup:

Moore and McCoy Reported in Good Condition—Other
Bouts

Roy Moore and Benny McCoy, who are scheduled to meet in the main bout of 12 rounds at the Crescent A. A. tomorrow night, are said to be in the pink of condition for a hard mill. There is considerable interest in the bout, as it will mark the first main event between bantamweights in this city for some time.

Followers of the game realize that the little men generally perform at a faster clip than the bigger men, and they are looking forward to a very speedy encounter. The records of both men indicate that they are very classy workers and as they are anxious to make good in the east, a whirlwind number is expected.

Young Drew and Kid Thomas, both of Lawrence, are scheduled to clash in the semi-final. There is great rivalry between this pair and a peppy bout is in prospect. Both have previously appeared in this city and each will have a big bunch of rooters to cheer for victory. Thomas made a big hit here in his bouts with Young Leon- ard, while Drew put up several classy exhibitions against Mike Castle and others.

There will also be two preliminaries.

The all-star show announced by Johnny Cuddy for his second and final open-air meeting of the season at the big West street arena, in Lawrence, is attracting state-wide attention. The men engaged are all noted boxers and while the presentation of four high class numbers will be an innovation in this section it is expected to draw a record crowd. Pal Reed, who boxed here a few weeks ago will meet Red Vision of Waterbury, Conn. Al Shu- bert of New Bedford and Battling Reddy of New York, both well known in Lowell, are to appear in another event. Barney Adair, who won a de- cision over Jimmy Doherty here the other night and Chick Smiler of Buf- falo, N. Y., are signed to meet and Joe Tippliz of New York and Joe Fox of Philadelphia are the principals in another number.

POLO NOTES
The speedy and flashy Bill Duggan and his pals from down the river will play Lowell at the Crescent rink on Friday night. Duggan has been going fast since the season started, but up until recently he has been forced to do the bulk of the offensive operations.

Now with Lincoln teaming with him on the rush line, he will be relieved and assisted by the veteran and should show to greater advantage.

Lincoln, like Barney Doherty, is one of the old school, and while he was playing polo when some of the present stars were on the milk diet, he is still capable of putting up a fast game.

Mulligan continues to show great speed in going to the spot.

Davies is coming along fine under the careful and capable direction of Capt. Harkins and Griffith.

Pence displayed much class in front of the cage. His work found abun- dant appreciation several times during the game.

There was a large attendance of the ladies at the game last night.

In order to develop players an ama- teur league is to be organized here, as in the other cities of the circuit. The local management will offer a cash prize of $100 and will furnish uniforms for all teams.

ST. COLUMBA'S HAS FAST ELEVEN
Football is in full swing across the Pawtucket bridge and the St. Colum- ba's eleven, averaging from 135 to 145 pounds, has a few open dates, which local teams may have by communica- tion with St. Tully, 30 Third avenue.

The lineup of the Pawtucketville eleven is: Barrett rbb, McAvinnue, fb, Pare lb, Brogan re, Shea rt, J. Brennan rz, Wooley c, G. Pare ls, Tully lt, Bourgeois le.

TENDLER LOST ON FOUL
DENVER, Colo., Oct. 22.—The no- decision 12-round bout between John- ny Noye, St. Paul lightweight, and Lew Tandler, of Philadelphia, came to an end in the third round last night when the referee declared Noye had been fouled. Tandler had the advan- tage over Noye up to that round. Mike Ertle of St. Paul won a decision over Harry Paul of Denver. They are bantamweights.

Camels hand out

Your real appreciation of cigarette satisfaction dates from the hour you begin smoking Camels!

Camels will win you as they have won enormous numbers of smokers throughout the whole civilized world!

Camels are unlike any other cigarette—entirely a creation that has proved a revelation to smokers.

They are so refreshing in flavor, and wonderfully mild; yet, Camels have "body" that exceeds your most exacting demands!

Camels charm is due to their quality and to their unusual and expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos.

Once you know Camels you'll prefer their expert blend to either kind of tobacco smoked straight!

No matter how liberally you smoke Camels they never tire your taste. And, they never leave any unpleasant cigarette aftertaste or any unpleasant cigarette odor!

You'll prefer Camels quality to premiums, coupons or gifts.

Camels are sold every- where in scientifically sealed packages of 20 cigarettes; or ten pack- ages (200 cigarettes) in glassine-paper-covered cartons. We strongly recom- mend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

HOPPE DEFEATS KOJI YAMADA
NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Willie Hoppe, national balk line billiard champion, defeated Koji Yamada, the Japanese expert, in last night's game of national championship tournament play by a score of 400 to 125.

Yamada did not play with his usual dexterity, while Hoppe gave a bril- liant exhibition of cue work and ran out his quota of 400 in the eighth in- ning, with an average of 50. His three highest runs were 133, 115 and 112.

This is the best average made so far in the tournament. Yamada's average was 18 1/2 and his best runs were 48, 28 and 21. Yamada and Cochran were the winners of the first two matches of the day. The Japanese defeated Slosson, 400 to 249, and Cochran won from Morningstar, 400 to 122. Cochran made one run of 103. His average was 41 1/2.

Jack Schaefer defeated George Sut- ton of Chicago, 400 to 255, in the sixth game. The winner's average was 30 and his highest run was 116. Sut- ton's average was 13 1/2-20 and his highest run was 155.

The schedule for today will bring the players together in the following or- der: Slosson vs. Morningstar; Sutton vs. Cochran; Schaefer vs. Yamada, and Hoppe vs. Sutton.

EPISCOPALIANS URGE PEACE IN INDUSTRY

DETROIT, Oct. 22.—Possibility of a division in the Protestant Episcopal church was brought to the attention of the triennial general convention today during a fight on the floor of the house of deputies against the acceptance of a prayer for the blessing of graves.

Thomas Nelson Page, ex-United States ambassador to Italy, denouncing the adoption of prayers for the dead, swayed the delegates to such an extent that the prayer objected to was rejected.

"Before you know it you will find your church divided," he said. "Better be divided than that we be led into paths we know not."

Mr. Page introduced a resolution questioning the commission as to its authority to touch the church doctrines in its work of revision and asking whether such changes had been made.

Broadening influences sweeping the clergy and membership of the church throw upon the organization an important part in social democratization, according to bishops, priests and laymen who addressed a joint session earlier in the day. The plan for church unity, it was maintained, is but a small part of the program.

Bishop Brewster Speaks

Bishop Channing B. Brewster of Connecticut, outlining a social policy for the church, suggested a stand for: Right and justice everywhere, living wages, the principle of collective bargaining, freedom of the individual worker from coercion, a part for the employed in the internal management of industry, a weekly rest day, stopping of exploitation of labor of women and children, placing economics on a broader human basis, reorganization of industry which must be an end to autocratic mastership, an end to paternal patronage in welfare work, and reasonable relations of partnership between capital and labor.

Resolutions were adopted by the house of deputies urging capital and labor to accept "the principle of partnership as the business aspect of brotherhood, to submit all differences to arbitration and recognize service to the general community rather than individual gain, as primary motive in all endeavors." Another resolution condemned mob violence.

The house of bishops adopted resolutions asking an amendment to the national constitution permitting the drafting of uniform marriage and divorce laws and the appointment of a congressional committee to inquire into the alleged evil influence of certain types of motion pictures.

Plan Nation-Wide Campaign

The general convention approved the plans for the nation-wide campaign to meet the needs of the church. The drive is to culminate Dec. 7, except in certain dioceses. These dioceses were given until Easter to complete the canvass.

The house of deputies adopted the resolution presented Monday endorsing the principle of a League of Nations as it may be ratified by the contracting countries.

The convention nominated as trustees of the General Theological Seminary in New York the following: Bishops Garding of Washington, Anderson of Chicago, Israel of Erie, Davies of Western Massachusetts, Benjamin Brewster of Maine and Whitehead of Pittsburgh.

The commission on American churches in Europe was added to and now consists of Bishops Whitehead of Pittsburgh, Leonard of Ohio, Lawrence of Massachusetts, Israel of Erie, McCormick of Western Michigan, and Mott Williams of Marquette, Drs. William T. Manning, Alexander Mann, Frederick W. Beckman, Edwitt Peabody, C. M. Beldon and Laymen Thompson.

EASIER NOW THAN LATER

It is easier to break up a cold or cough now than it will be later. Persistent bronchitis coughs that "hang on" all winter pave the way for serious throat and lung diseases. L. W. Day, 55 Campbell Ave., E. Detroit, Mich., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar relieves me of bronchitis very quickly. I hope never to have it again." This reliable family medicine for the relief of coughs, colds, croup, hoarseness, etc., contains no opiates. Children like it.

BERNSTORFF QUESTIONED

Testifies Before Committee Investigating Responsibility in Causing War

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—Count Johann von Bernstorff, former German ambassador to the United States, who yesterday was the principal witness before the committee investigating the responsibility of German officials in causing the outbreak of the great war, resumed his testimony today.

While on the stand yesterday, Count von Bernstorff told of the efforts made by President Wilson in 1914 and 1916 to find a way to bring peace proposals before the allied governments. German peace tentatives, made from time to time, however, handicapped Mr. Wilson. In the opinion of the former ambassador, being constructed by the allies as evidences of weakness on the part of Germany. It was Count von Bernstorff's impression that Mr. Wilson intended to propose a temporary peace which would not touch on territorial issues and would leave major problems connected with the peace to a conference of the belligerents. In 1916, the witness said, President Wilson was in a position to propose "peace without victory" but he declared Mr. Wilson deferred action because of the sentiment against Germany in the United States at that time.

DIE OF STARVATION IN STREETS OF MOSCOW

PARIS, Oct. 22 (By the Associated Press).—An account of Moscow's hunger is given in the Figaro by a Russian prince arriving from Russia. "I will not speak of the terrible, revolting and odious things that passed in the streets of Moscow," he said, "but only of the hunger incidents I saw with my own eyes and which were repeated day after day. I met a woman and child, ragged and thin as skeletons, child crying constantly with an unchanging expression of terror. The mother said that the child was hungry and asked for a piece of bread as they had not eaten for 24 hours. I opened my purse but the woman turned away, saying: 'No, not money but bread.'"

"Another time I saw a blonde haired young girl with arms outstretched leaning like a living crucifix against a wall and murmuring, 'I am hungry.' Next day she died. I have seen in the middle of a side street, a great, yellow sided dog, carrying a bone with a little meat attached, while a 10-year-old boy a few steps away with the pallor of long misery on his face, watched the dog as if hypnotized. With neck outstretched, mouth open and fist clenched he looked at the dog with hate and ferocity."

"I have seen children hardly clothed, hollow cheeked and with forms like shadows, on their knees in the street, trying to pick from between the paving stones grains of wheat that had fallen from a torn sack. I have seen before bakeries, men, women and children stretched on the cold stones, awaiting through days and nights, their turn to get their meagre ration of bread and then often falling exhausted and dying at the doorsteps before they received it."

FIRST TASTE OF COW'S MILK SINCE 1915

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The first taste of cow's milk that hundreds of Bohemian children have had since 1915, and the first that many of them have ever had, has been lately distributed in Prague as the result of the arrival of a herd of 200 dairy cattle bought in Germany by the American Relief administration, according to a despatch received by the American Red Cross.

THE INTER-CHURCH WORLD MOVEMENT

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 22.—The inter-church world movement which contemplates a consolidation of all missionary enterprises of Protestant churches was among the first problems to come before the biennial convention of the National Council of the Congregational Church when it took up the legislative program today.

In addition to combining missionary work the National Bible society through its secretary, Frank H. Mann, proposes a federation of all national bible societies to meet the growing demands of Christian propaganda.

HALLOWEEN SOCIAL

A Halloween social was held by the Lowell Girls' club at the First Congregational church last evening and provided much enjoyment for the large number of members and friends of this popular organization who attended. Refreshments were served.

Simple Way to End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it. No matter how much dandruff you may have, you will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Adv.

KAISER TO ENTER SUIT

Charges Insult and Misuse of His Portrait by Producers of "Kaiser Films"

BERLIN, Tuesday, Oct. 21. (By the Associated Press).—Former Emperor William has commissioned Attorney Siebert of Berlin to institute a suit against Ferdinand Bonn, who prepared which are known as the "Kaiser films" which were barred in Berlin, but were permitted to be exhibited elsewhere. The ex-emperor charges insult and misuse of his portrait and asks for the suppression of the films.

The Bonn film referred to in the foregoing, was to have been produced in Berlin on Oct. 10, but was suppressed by government order on that day. The title of the picture was announced as "Wilhelm's Good Fortune and Bad Finish." The government announcement said the suppression grew out of a desire to prevent the film being made a cause for political combats at a time when party feeling already is at a high pitch.

INTENSIVE CAMPAIGN TO EDUCATE MASSSES AGAINST RADICAL DOCTRINES

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 22.—An intensive campaign to educate the masses against radical doctrines was advocated by speakers at the convention of the Investment Bankers' Association of America today.

"The present industrial unrest is on a world-wide scale because of the quick means of communication," said Lawrence Chamberlain of New York, chairman of the education committee. "and there is no reason why we can not use these same means of communication to teach the people the virulence of radical doctrines being disseminated."

Plain Talk

This is a play that can't be skipped over without a little more than ordinary explanation. It has so many good points that we refer you to the dictionary for a complete description. But listen: This is a realistic story of American business and domestic life. IT IS FOUNDED UPON FACT. There is nothing overdrawn or exaggerated. Everything depicted not only could happen but does happen every day. Therefore, Mr. Man, it's up to you to cash in on a good thing when it's banging on your door as hard as this is. That's all.

Formal Ratification on Oct. 30

PARIS, Oct. 22.—Formal ratification of the German peace treaty probably will be accomplished on Oct. 30 and a call will be issued that date for the first meeting of the council of the League of Nations to take place within 10 days. The French foreign office explains that the delay as has previously been stated, was due entirely to the great amount of preliminary work before the convention could be put into effect, such as the creation of commissions and the preparations by the military missions for the tasks provided them in the terms of the treaty.

Here's Little Chuen Lu Shih. Winner of the Peking "Better Baby" Contest, Being Examined by Chinese Doctor and Nurse

CHINA'S BABIES BELOW AMERICAN STANDARD

BY ELIZABETH S. ALLEN
(N.E.A. Special Correspondent in Peking, China)

PEKING, China, Oct. 23.—There will be fewer below-par babies in Peking during the coming year, by several dozen, as the direct result of the better baby week held recently.

It was the first of its kind ever held in China, and may accurately be termed a howling success. Especially the better baby contest on the final day, which brought out considerable rivalry among the young mothers.

The affair was held by the Y.W.C.A. and the young married women who were invited were all members of that organization.

Thirty-three tots of all ages from a few months to five years—all dressed in their best, often a strange combination of foreign and native styles—were entered. Rigid physical examination was conducted by a foreign mission woman doctor, which the little ones bore with characteristic stoicism.

By the time they reached the measurement room, where every inch of their little bodies was taken note of, the babies began to object. They wrinkled their fat yellow faces and made their troubles public. The dental examination under a Chinese assistant doctor found the little ones more calm, and a Chinese eye and ear expert from the Rockefeller Medical hospital gave them the last test—for eyes, nose and throat. This test was the most exacting, for Peking babies are almost invariably subject to throat trouble.

The results indicate that the Peking baby product, although of good grade, offers room for improvement.

A second comparative contest will be held in six months.

One little lad of twenty-eight months, Master Chuen Lu Shih, carried off the blue ribbon, with a score of 249 points out of a possible 1000. Two little ones ran him a close race with 247 points apiece.

Only three babies, out of the thirty-three, made a perfect record for nose and throat.

A good showing was made in the mental tests, with eighteen babies making perfect scores.

In measurements, however, it was found that the highest records were only 69 per cent of those made by American infants. The standard of marking was changed to fit the smaller dimensions of the Peking baby.

TAMALE KING FINDS VACATION FOR WORKERS IS BEST STRIKE PREVENTATIVE

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 22.—America's great captains of industry who are beset with industrial upheavals might well come and sit at the feet of Spokane's "Chile Bob."

His real name is Robert C. Cleary, head and owner of Bob's Chile Parlor. "Chile Bob" never has had a strike.

If you suggested to Bob's employees that they strike, like as not they'd have a tamale at your head and laugh you out of the place.

They're too blamed well satisfied to strike—and too busy making money for their boss. Bob is always two or three laps ahead of them.

He meets their "demands" before they think them up.

He pays them ridiculously high wages, as compared with the union scale.

But that isn't the only thing that cements Bob's "help" to him.

The startling thing about Bob's Chile organization is that once a year he closes up the shop, locks the door, hangs out a card, which says "Bob and his bunch of squirrels have gone to the lake," and takes the whole crew on a month's vacation—at his expense. July 15 to August 15 every year Spokane goes without its tamales while the tamale king herds his little band into the wilds.

Last summer they spent their month in the Cascade mountains. They did everything that is expected of mountaineers, even to losing a pack horse—plus pack—over a mountain precipice.

Next summer Bob plans to take the whole bunch to Honolulu, also at his expense.

Can you beat that? He estimates the trip will cost him $1500. They have their own stringed or-

That was 10 years ago. Now Bob is as sound of limb as ever, has driven all competitors out of the field, and has two floors of a building leased. He wholesales all over this district.

Getting back now to Bob's solution of the labor problem:

He has 8 employees. All have been with him 6 to 8 years; some 10 years. They are a contented, hard-working crew.

"The tamale business necessarily involves a lot of night work," Bob explained. We practically never close. It is a strain on everybody. Business is slack for us in the summer. I figure the boys and girls need a rest, so three years ago we started our vacation plan. It has worked out very successfully.

"I never criticize my employees. It isn't necessary. They take as much interest in this place as if it were their own."

"That is because I treat them like human beings and pay them well."

Chile Bob thinks that if all employers would follow some such plan as his there would be a big change in labor disturbances.

SUPPER AND SMOKE TALK

Congressman John Jacob Rogers will be the principal speaker at the political "get-together" of the Men's Brotherhood of the Centralville M. E. church to be held on the evening of Nov. 3.

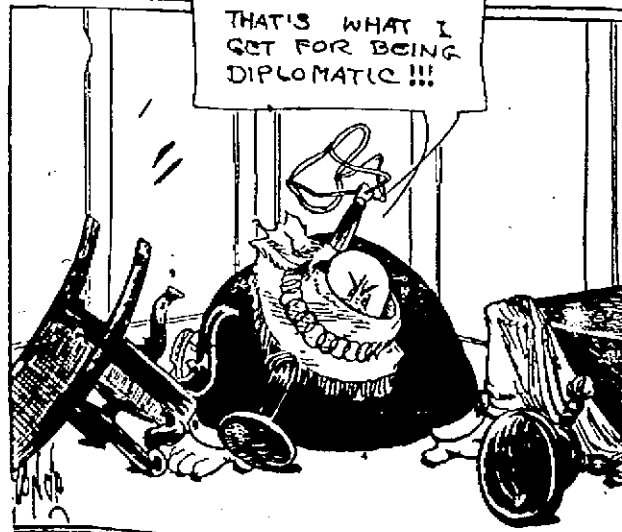

This was announced at a supper and smoke talk of the organization last night in the vestry. During the evening Thomas Buckley entertained with several violin selections. The "cats" were prepared by Arthur L. Hiser, president of the brotherhood, and Charles Garmon.

The longest distance travelled by foot in one day was that of Charles Howell, who ran and walked 150 miles in 23 hours, in 1882.

chestra, and they plan to make the Hawaiians jealous with hula selections. a la tamale.

"They can't all play," says Bob. "but those that can't play can whistle."

Chile Bob came here 14 years ago as a metal lath contractor. He had worked at that trade in San Francisco and all up and down the Pacific coast.

It was on his last contract that a board slipped and he fell 48 feet, fracturing his legs so badly that hard work was out of the question.

He set up a tamale stand in a 4-1-2 foot strip in the business district. Friends laughed, pityingly. "You'll starve to death," they said.

STRIKERS FAIL TO KEEP WORD

Longshoremen Who Promised to Return Today Did Not Report at Piers

Whistles Blew But Not a Man Moved Toward Piers—Heavy Guards

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Not a longshoreman went to work on the Chelsea piers when the 7 o'clock whistles sounded this morning, although hundreds of dock workers were congregated in the vicinity of the big trans-Atlantic steamship piers. It was on the word of the Chelsea longshoremen that officials had based their prediction of a break in the strike here.

T. V. O'Connor, president of the International Longshoremen's association, to whom the promise to return had been made, expressed surprise when informed of the failure of the Chelsea longshoremen to resume work on time. He said that failure of the riggers' local to report probably was the reason for the longshoremen's inactivity. He explained that inasmuch as the riggers operate the tackle and lines on the ships and piers, it would be impossible for longshoremen to begin work without them.

Foremen's whistles were blown at piers along the North river waterfront from the Battery to 23rd street as was customary before the strike. In summing the men to work but not a man moved towards the piers in response to the signals.

In the Chelsea district are located the great trans-Atlantic steamship piers, including the Cunard and White Star lines, the Clyde Steamship Co. and the General Transatlantic.

Mayor Hylan and his fellow conciliators, appointed by Secretary of Labor Wilson, again attempted to bring peace among the warring factions in the ranks of the strikers.

Police guards were strengthened at various points along the waterfront today, following the riot at Hoboken last night, when T. V. O'Connor, president of the International Longshoremen's union, was forced to flee from a meeting of the longshoremen's local. O'Connor was saved from the angry crowd of strikers by the timely arrival of the police.

SAYS GERMANY MENACES U. S. TRADE

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Germany, recovering from the war more rapidly than any other European country, now threatens to divert our foreign trade to her own gain. Dr. E. E. Pratt, formerly chief of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the department of Commerce, made this declaration at last night's meeting of the New York foreign round table.

"German salesmen are to be found in all the countries immediately surrounding Germany," Dr. Pratt said, "German manufacturers and merchants are offering prompt deliveries and long-term credits. If we continue to increase our costs and raise our prices we will take away from us certain of our best markets."

"Europe is in our debt today by about $7,000,000,000. I believe Europe's annual payment to us, to make up her deficit in commodities and to pay her interest charges on her debt to us, is not less than $3,350,000,000. Some people seem to think we are in a strong and desirable position. Quite the reverse is true. The low rate of exchange indicates our failure to meet a financial situation."

"I believe two outstanding facts are causing our mistaken delay in taking up commerce with Central Europe. They are: Failure of our government to function with relation to the credit collapse of those countries in Europe which should be our best customers, and failure of our financial institutions to cope with the situation."

RED DESTROYERS SUNK IN BATTLE

Two Destroyed in Gulf of Finland by Estonian and British Destroyers

German Artillery at Riga Fired on British Warships

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Two Bolshevik torpedo boat destroyers were sunk in Kopenha bay, Gulf of Finland, when they attempted to attack Estonian vessels and British destroyers on Tuesday, the admiralty announced today.

Six survivors from the Bolshevik vessels were picked up. The British and Estonians sustained no casualties.

Four Bolshevik destroyers in all took part in the attempted attack.

Fire on British Warships

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 22.—German artillery at Riga fired on British warships at the mouth of the harbor on Sunday, according to a report of the British general staff, and on Monday the British ships returned the fire, shelling German positions near the city. Riga is being bombarded by heavy German artillery which is using gas shells. Great damage has been done in the city and many civilians have been killed or wounded.

Krasnaya Gorka Falls

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 22.—The capture of Krasnaya Gorka, on the Gulf of Finland nearly opposite Kronstadt, by the northwestern Russian army, is announced from that army's headquarters today. The capture was effected on Monday after severe fighting.

The battle for Petrograd is still continuing with a heavy engagement six and one-half miles south of the city.

Brought to Standstill

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Gen. Yudenitch, commander of the northwestern Russian army, seems to have been brought to a virtual standstill by the stubborn defense of Petrograd, which is almost within sight of his men. Soviet forces are even reported to have taken the offensive north of Krasnaya Gorka, but details of the operation have not as yet been fully reported.

East of Pulkovo, the Yudenitch army appears to have encountered strong Bolshevik columns. Pulkovo is about three miles from the only remaining railway line running south from Petrograd and the importance of retaining control of this road may explain the savage fighting in that sector. Late reports state that heavier artillery is being brought up by General Yudenitch.

Soviet troops reported to have been concentrated near Gdov, near Lake Peipus, are said to have been scattered by the anti-Bolshevik. The presence of this force on the left flank of the Yudenitch army constituted a seeming menace to the whole movement against Petrograd, and also appeared to indicate that the Bolsheviks are still quite strong on the coast west of Petrograd.

Kronstadt has not surrendered to the anti-Bolshevik, and has not been attacked, according to a British admiralty statement. It is held the fortress will fall immediately upon the capture of Petrograd by General Yudenitch. That this event is fully expected is evidenced by the readiness of the northwestern Russian government to move into the city and take control of the situation.

Official reports issued from soviet headquarters at Moscow admit the loss of Kiev, but make no further mention of the claim that Orel, 120 miles south of Moscow, has been re-captured.

SAYS PRES. WILSON IS "IN FINE SHAPE"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—President Wilson was said by Secretary Tumulty to be "in fine shape" this morning after the most active day yesterday he has had since he became ill. Early this morning Mrs. Wilson telephoned Mr. Tumulty that the president was anxious for information as to the situation in the National Industrial conference.

Although Rear Admiral Grayson, the president's physician, has insisted that the fact that Mr. Wilson was permitted to dictate a letter yesterday to Secretary Lane regarding the industrial conference, did not mean he would be allowed to resume active work. Mr. Tumulty said that if any bills had been ready today for the president's signature, they would have been laid before him.

The secretary explained that bills recently passed by congress, including the prohibition enforcement measure, were before the respective department heads who are interested. The president has until midnight of Oct. 23 to act on the prohibition bill. He said he was not at all sure that the measure would become a law.

The president's physicians reported that Mr. Wilson last night had one of the best nights since he became ill. They issued this bulletin:

"White House, Oct. 22, 1919, 11.10 a. m.

"The president had one of the best nights since his illness began. His temperature, pulse and respiration rates continue normal. His digestion is more satisfactory. (Signed)

The Nujol Treatment as Sickness Prevention

Science, with anti-toxins, serums, and modern sanitation, has done much to prevent dangerous disease; but the diseases so checked are comparatively few. On the other hand, 90% of all diseases have one common origin—constipation.

The dangers of constipation are so far-reaching, because the blood receives poisons from an infected mass within, and carries them directly to every organ of the body; and because constipation itself keeps the system in a run-down condition so that any infectious germ from without readily gain foothold.

Keep clear of constipation and you guard against serious disease. Nujol will remove constipation and prevent its return.

The action of Nujol is entirely different from that of any other constipation remedy. It is not a drug. Nujol softens the food waste and encourages the intestinal muscles to act naturally.

Nujol helps Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world. Get a bottle from your druggist today.

SEC. WILSON STILL HOPES TO AVERT COAL STRIKE

Plan for Irish Home Rule and Other Matters Come Before British Parliament

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—There was little hope of averting by government mediation the strike of bituminous coal miners set for November 1, when representatives of the miners and operators resumed today their joint conference with Secretary of Labor Wilson. Both sides stood firm overnight, the miners refusing to waive any of their demands, while operators reiterated that it would be impossible to enter into negotiations in the face of the strike order, which the union announced would not be withdrawn.

Should Secretary Wilson's efforts fail, it was said, the government might step in and force continued operation of the mines to give the public an adequate supply of coal at any cost.

There were reports after the meeting began that Secretary Wilson would attempt to hold representatives of the miners and operators here to appear before the senate committee investigating the coal situation in event the conference failed to settle the strike.

Some of the miners were reluctant about attending the meeting in view of the statement yesterday by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, that he did not see the necessity of adjourning over until today in face of the stone wall attitude of the operators. Secretary Wilson, insisted, however, that the task was not hopeless.

Lewis declined to comment today, saying: "See Wilson, he is the man of mystery in this proceeding."

Reads Wilson's Plea

Representatives would continue in the conference.

Before the recess, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared that a motion by John Spargo of the public group, that the conference give the president "a solemn pledge binding every group and individual that nothing would be left undone" to solve the problems before the body would be "most unfortunate." The motion which had been seconded by Harry A. Wheeler, chairman of the capital group was withdrawn.

Labor Men Indignant

As they left the conference hall, the labor delegates expressed their indignation over Mr. Spargo's motion. "Do you think we are going to stay here to be crucified from day to day?" demanded Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor.

At a conference before the general session this morning the labor group requested Chairman Lane to read the president's letter. Mr. Lane did not desire to read it to a single group and consequently gave it to the full conference. It had been written to him to be used at his discretion and he said yesterday he would use it only as a last resort to prevent dissolution of the conference.

Seek Liberty to Withdraw

Mr. Lane and others in the conference said the opposition of the labor group to Mr. Spargo's resolution was based upon the desire of some individual members of the labor delegates to be at liberty to withdraw from the conference if they desired. It was said that should any of them withdraw, new delegates probably would be appointed and the labor group remain in the conference.

Signed "Lying on His Back"

Before reading the letter, secretary Lane told the conference the president considered the gathering "the most important extra-legal body that has met in this city during his administration." The chairman said it was after he had informed the president of the "state of mind" of the conference that the executive had addressed to the delegates the letter which he "signed on his bed, lying on his back."

All the groups in the conference—capital, labor and the public—were present, but the labor delegates took no part in the applause which marked the conclusion of the reading. Upon motion of the chairman, the conference gave a rising vote of thanks to the president.

PATCHES ON TROUSERS BADGES OF HONOR

LONDON, Oct. 6 (By the Associated Press).—Fashionable London tailors are said to be somewhat perturbed over the reported popularity of a clothes conservation "movement" hailing from the United States, which is being enthusiastically acclaimed by Englishmen wearied of long continued high clothing costs.

Over here the "movement" has manifested itself in the organization of "old clothes leagues"—societies with the slogan, "No more new clothes until prices go down." Those who assume this pledge are expected to regard patches on trousers, shiny coat sleeves and sewn up splits in boots and shoes as badges of honor. The turning of old suits, sewing-in of new linings and other necessary alterations which make old trousers, coats or vests serve the purpose of a new suit at one-third the cost, is another part of the practical application of the "leagues' precepts.

man from the Acre was home for a few days' furlough after a six months' trip to South America where he visited Porto Rico, Chile, Buenos Aires and other southern ports. He holds the important position of deck engineer on one of the Luckenbeck Co.'s largest steamers, the Louis K. Luckenbeck, which was built during the war at Fore River. Mr. O'Neill left last evening for New York where his ship is waiting to be unloaded and after taking on a cargo will sail for Rotterdam, Holland.

Complimentary tickets for the lecture by Count Ilya Tolstoy to be given in Colonial hall tomorrow evening, may be obtained from the secretary of the board of trade at 117 Merrimack street. The son of the great Leo Tolstoy will take as his subject, "The Truth About Russia," and as he has but recently come from that troubled land his talk is sure to prove most interesting and will be a faithful resume of the conditions in that country.

Membership in Lowell Post of the American Legion continues to swell and the 73 new names added to the roll yesterday brings the total to 1307. This figure represents about one-fifth of the city's service men, so the goal is far ahead. However, opportunity for registration is offered daily at the Community Service club in Dutton street and all former soldiers, sailors, marines and nurses of the United States, British and Canadian armies who were American citizens before they entered service are eligible to membership.

Miss Florence Nesmith, of this city, spoke before the Molly Varnum Chapter, D.A.R. yesterday afternoon at the Spaulding House, giving a delightful and interesting recital of her work overseas with the Red Cross canteen service. She told of air raids over Paris, of the task of feeding thousands of soldiers at Dijon, of the activity at Toul and of her wonderful trip into the front line trenches after the armistice was signed. A German aviator dropped a bomb over Toul which landed only a few feet from the canteen and also it was here that Miss Nesmith saw a Bocho brought down by Mr. Louis Richer of Manchester, N. H., and Miss Regina Berger of this city were married yesterday, the ceremony being performed at St. Joseph's rectory by Rev. L. N. Bachand, O.M.I. The witnesses were Messrs. Edmond Antonio Berger, a brother of the bride and Ilverie Richer, a brother of the groom. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Addie Dunham, 9 Mt. Vernon street and later the happy couple left on an automobile wedding trip and upon their return they will make their home in Manchester, N. H.

Mr. Hector Maille and Miss Corinne Lavole were married this morning at a nuptial mass celebrated at 8 o'clock at St. Louis' church by the pastor, Rev. J. B. Labossiere. The couple were attended by their respective fathers, Messrs. Edmond Maille and Elzear Lavole. At the close of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, 115 Farmland road and this evening a wedding supper and reception will be held at the bridegroom's home, 176 Hall street. Mr. and Mrs. Maille, who were the recipients of numerous gifts will make their home at 114 Farmland road.

OBSERVED THEIR SILVER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Tremblay, of Chelmsford were agreeably surprised last evening when a number of friends and relatives called at their home to congratulate them on the occasion of their silver wedding. The couple were showered with best wishes and appropriate gifts including a purse of silver and silverware. In the course of the evening vocal and instrumental selections were given, those participating in the program being Misses Blanche Laplante, Aurore Vignand, M. Donohoe, Mrs. John Pinard and Messrs. E. Donohoe, Joseph Mahoney and James Harrington. A buffet luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Tremblay, the latter formerly Miss Maria Levesque, were married at St. Joseph's church, this city, October 21, 1894, the ceremony being performed by Rev. L. A. Nolin, O.M.I. Eight children were born to them, seven of whom are living, namely: Joseph, Helen, Cecile, Georgianna, Eva, Yvonne and Armand. Mr. Tremblay is superintendent of St. Joseph's cemetery, position he has held for the past 25 years. He is also a member of the C.M.A.C. and Court St. Antoine, C.O.F.

Outbreaks Follow Employment of Negro Strikebreakers—18 Arrests

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Oct. 22.—Disorder due to the employment of negroes as strikebreakers, which broke out in several parts of the city late last night continued this morning. A number of white strikers and a special policeman were injured. Today fights broke out near the sheet and tube plant and the Ohio works, when negroes, according to report, drew revolvers and knives on pickets and strikers. Eighteen arrests have been made, seven being negroes. The whites were not armed.

The Carnegie Steel Co. started another finishing mill this morning with more than enough men present to man it.

EXPECT HARD LEGAL BATTLE

Hearing of Charges of Wholesale Grocers Against Railroads Opens at Chicago

Alleged Discrimination in Shipping Facilities Afforded Meat Packers

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—A hard legal battle was anticipated, following the opening here today before Clyde B. Atcheson, chairman of the interstate commerce commission, of a hearing involving charges by the National Wholesale Grocers' Association of the United States, against the railroads, alleging discrimination in extraordinary shipping facilities afforded to the meat packers. The defendants included 317 of the leading railroads. The packers, including Swift & Co., Armour & Co., Wilson & Co., Morris & Co., and the Cudahy Packing Co., have filed intervening petitions in the railroads' behalf, while the state of Michigan and several state wholesale grocers' associations have aligned themselves with the national association. It is the first time the question of the packers' right to especially expedited service on non-perishable groceries had come before a tribunal with power to render an adequate decision. The grocers' complaint is based on the allegation that the packers have extended extensively into the whole sale grocery business and are permitted to ship staple and non-perishable grocery products in their refrigerator cars with fresh meat. Such cars are so expedited, the grocers charged, that discrimination is worked against them, they not having that privilege. The packers some times are given service virtually on a passenger schedule, the grocers say.

With these alleged special privileges, the packers rapidly are obtaining domination of the grocery business of the United States, according to Clifford Thorne, counsel for the grocers. Witnesses called include wholesalers and experts from various parts of the country.

JOHN M. FARRELL Real Estate and Personal Property Auctioneer
OFFICE 102 MARKET ST., LOWELL, MASS.

MONDAY, OCT. 27, 1919, AT 10 A. M.

At H. A. Vickery's Market Garden Farm, on the River Meadow road, East Chelmsford, Mass., about 1 mile from Chelmsford Centre and about 3 miles from Lowell.

I shall sell at public auction, in one lot, this farm, consisting of an 8-room house, barn, 4 greenhouses, plant house, boiler house, 14 acres of land, more or less, and all personal property.

The house has been built but a short time. The first floor has parlor, living room, sun parlor, dining room, kitchen and large pantry, front and back hall and front and back stairs. The second floor has a 4 high-ceilinged, bright, cheerful sleeping rooms and bath room, open plumbing. There is a large sleeping room on the top floor and large storage room. There are good closets in all the rooms. Down stairs has all hardwood floors. The entire house is furnished in cypress, and has good water supplied by a compression tank; also cypress tank which windmill supplies, all good well water. The house has cemented cellar, steam heat, wash trays, hot and cold water.

The barn is a large, frame structure, with stalls for 4 horses, tie-ups for 3 cows and storage for 20 tons of hay, large carriage house and wagon shed attached, with large vegetable cellar, separate from the main cellar.

Four greenhouses, one 150 feet long and three 160 feet long; also plant house about 50 feet long, and boiler house with tool house attached, 3 new horizontal, 30-H. P. high-pressure boilers, made by Scannell & Wholey that furnish heat for the greenhouses, two of these have been used, the other was never called upon but reserved for emergency. The greenhouses are all modern. The 160-foot house has been up but a short time and with little repair this plant is ready to be put to work. There is plenty of good water available, as Hale's brook is within 30 feet of the greenhouses.

There are 11 acres of land, more or less, level, early market garden soil, 10 nice young, bearing apple trees, asparagus bed of about 1/2 acre, and small fruits. Also 10 hives of honey bees.

The livestock and tools consist of 2 cows, farm wagons, market wagons, democrat wagons, Concord wagons, pungs, sleighs, mowing machine, plows, harrows, horse rake and all kinds of small tools, 3 large power compression pumps, 300 boxes of hot house glass and an endless number of small tools, plumbing tools, painters' rigging and many other useful articles that space will not allow mentioning.

Mr. Vickery has built this place and has conducted the business successfully, but his health does not allow him to care for the business any longer and he will sell everything, real estate and personal property at public auction. Come look the property over before the sale. You will find someone there to show you over the plant, or call on the auctioneer.

Terms: $500 deposit on real estate at time and place of sale. All personal property cash. Other terms at sale.

Per Order H. A. VICKERY.

REAL ESTATE AND PERSONAL PROPERTY AUCTION SALE

Wednesday, October 29, 1919, at 2.30 P. M.

At James F. Mooney's, No. 651 to 657 Dutton St., Lowell, Mass.

I shall sell at public auction the real estate and personal property used by James F. Mooney in the gravel roofing business. Everything to be sold without limit to the highest bidder.

The real estate consists of a 3 1/2 story building, 30x40 feet, facing on Dutton street. The first floor consists of office and storage rooms. The second floor has workshop and stock room. There is a good, high posted cellar with entrance on the street level.

There is a large Storage House, 25x60 feet, that faces on Cushing street, good sewerage and electric lights.

There are 7300 sq. ft. of land, more or less, with a frontage of 42 feet on Dutton street and 43 feet frontage on Cushing street, with a depth of 175 feet from Dutton to Cushing street.

The personal property consists of one extra good horse that weighs 1300 lbs., and that will suit any person who wants a good work horse; heavy wagons; three sets of heavy harnesses, stable blankets, barn tools, etc., one driving sleigh, two ton Truxton Unit Reco power plant auto truck that is in first class condition; three 100 gallon tar boilers; 450 Porter chisels; roofing derricks; lot of small tools; 11 kegs of 7-3 roofing nails; three kegs of 8 penny galvanized steel nails; four extension ladders; five straight ladders; 25 rolls of rosin sized sheathing paper; 25 rolls of roofing paper; block and falls; lot of rope; 500 lbs. flat roofing tin; one new Unsmith's bench shears.

Office furniture: roll top desk; Carey safe, 24x28 inches. Letter cabinet with 12 drawers; typewriter with typewriter desk; Protograph check writer, chairs, etc.

Mr. Mooney has decided to go away for his health and has taken this means to liquidate his property.

This piece of real estate ought to appeal to any person that would like a location in the heart of the business district. The land and buildings offer many advantages. It is a large lot of land, good buildings, ample storage, facing on two streets, good wide driveway from street to street. You may look over the property at any time before the sale by calling on the auctioneer or Mr. Mooney.

Terms of sale: $500 deposit at time of sale. Other terms at sale. Per Order JAMES F. MOONEY.

Labor Forces Reading of Pres. Wilson's Solemn Appeal to Industrial Conference

LANE READS WILSON'S PLEA

Wants "Surer and Heartier Co-operation Between All Elements in Industry"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Organized labor's representatives in the national industrial conference today forced the reading of the letter to the conference which President Wilson yesterday dictated from his sick bed and in which he declared the public expected the conference to stay together until every possible means had been exhausted to establish a "surer and heartier co-operation between all the elements engaged in industry."

Labor Group in Session

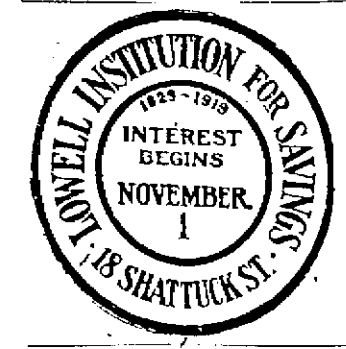

Immediately after the letter was read the conference recessed and the labor group went into private session to determine its future course. The members plainly were impatient and some of the public and capital delegates seemed doubtful whether the la-

ARMY STORE FOR LOWELL

War Department Approves Mayor's Petition for Sale of Government Supplies

Lowell will have an army store for the sale of surplus government food and other supplies, it was definitely decided this morning when Mayor Perry D. Thompson got word from Col. Hart of the department of the northeast to the effect that the war department officials had approved the mayor's petition for a store here and was also notified that all obstacles in the way of renting a portion of the Bigelow-Hartford plant in Market street as the location of the store had been overcome.

Col. Hart is to come to Lowell tomorrow to inspect the proposed store property, which will be the same as that used in the sale of government surplus canned food under the auspices of the Red Cross here a few weeks ago. The entire ground floor of the quarters formerly occupied by the latter organization will be taken over for the store.

The store will have for sale canned food and various articles of clothing, etc., which the government has in surplus from the stocks accumulated during the war. The army stores in other cities have proved a big boon in the reduction of the cost of living and local officials anticipate similar success here.

Dramatic Appeal, Dictated From Sick Bed, Read to Prevent Break

Asks "Must Suspicion, Hatred and Force Rule us in Civil Life?"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The full text of President Wilson's message to the industrial conference, which was read by Sec. Lane today, follows:

To the Ladies and Gentlemen of the Industrial Conference: I am advised by your chairman that you have come to a situation which appears to threaten the life of your conference and because of that I am presuming to address a word of very solemn appeal to you as Americans. It is not for me to assess the blame for the present condition. I do not speak in a spirit of

Mourners and Many Friends Attend Funeral Services of Thomas F. Costello

With sorrowing relatives and friends representing the various phases of social, business and fraternal life in which he had long been prominent, in attendance, the funeral of Thomas F. Costello was held this morning at 9.30 o'clock from his late home, 277 Nesmith street, and proceeded to the Immaculate Conception church where a solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at 10 o'clock. The central aisle of the church was filled to capacity and there were few vacant seats in the side aisles. The celebrant of the mass was Rev. Owen P. McQuaid, O.M.I., and he was assisted by Rev. Lawrence F. Tighe, O.M.I., pastor of the Immaculate Conception church, as deacon, and Rev. James B. McCarthy, O.M.I., as sub-deacon. Seated in the sanctuary were Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., pastor of the Sacred Heart church; Rev. David J. Murphy, pastor of St. Andrew's church, Billerica; Rev. John J. Fleming, S.J., of Holy Cross college, Worcester; Rev. James J. McCarthy, O.M.I., and Rev. Francis Cronin, of St. Bernard's church, West Newton. The Immaculate Conception choir, augmented by several soloists, sang the Gregorian chant. At the offertory William F. Gookin sang the "Domine" in excellent voice and at the elevation Mrs. Hugh Walker gave the "Pie Jesu" with deep feeling. Communion was administered by Rev. James E. Donnelly, who sang the "De Profundis" and John J. Dalton with pathos the "O Meritum Passionis." David P. Martin rendered the solos of the Libera. The bearers were Dr. Simon Cox, Michael D. Carroll, Joseph McGrath, John Maloney, William Hayes, Joseph Harvey, Frank Morrissey and Charles Midwood. The ushers were Joseph A. Molloy and John Quinn. Delegates from various organizations of which Mr. Costello had been a member were present and included Daniel F. Carroll, representing the State Association of Master Plumbers; Richard J. Welch, Charles H. Hobson, Thomas E. O'Day, Joseph F. McMahon and George A. Stewart, representing the Lowell Master Plumbers' association, and all the other members of the local association, who were seated in a body in the center aisle; and the following delegation from the Lowell lodge of Elks: Hon. John T. Sparks, John J. Dawson, James J. Spillane, John H. Dwyer, John H. Farrell, P.E.R., and John J. Healey. Burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Fr. Tighe, O.M.I., assisted by Rev. Fr. McQuaid, O.M.I., Rev. Fr. Fleming, S.J., Rev. Fr. Murphy, Rev. Fr. Cronin and Rev. Fr. Flynn, O.M.I. Funeral arrangements were under the direction of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

Immediately told him that he must go with him to the police station and although he did not tell him that he was suspected of committing the crime, he did tell him that it was only right that he should be interviewed by the police. He then took him to the station in his automobile and turned him over to Capt. James Brohan and Inspector Philip Dwyer, who subsequently placed him under arrest and notified District Attorney Tufts. Lowell officers would say nothing regarding any conversation they had with Fortuna prior to placing him in custody. In speaking of the appearance of Fortuna this noon, Targ said that he had last seen him on Saturday, the 18th, the day before Mrs. Fortuna's body was found, and at that time Fortuna told him that he had been working in Pawtucket, R. I., and that he was going to leave Lowell that night and seek for his divorced wife before returning to Pawtucket. Today, however, Fortuna told Targ that he had come direct to Lowell from Putnam, Conn., where he had been working for the past two or three months. When Targ was asked this noon if at any time since his sister had obtained a divorce from Fortuna, the latter had been heard to threaten her life, the brother replied that he had heard several stories, but that they were so conflicting that he had not believed any of them. "I did not accuse him of killing my sister," Targ continued, "I simply told him he must accompany me to the police station and that anything he had to say could be said there. If he is innocent, he can soon prove it."

Divorced Husband of Murdered Woman Taken to Police Station By His Brother-in-Law

Came to Lowell to Attend Her Funeral—Says He Read of Discovery of His Wife's Body Monday Night—Is Examined by District Attorney

Joseph Fortuna, divorced husband of Mrs. Mary Fortuna, whose nude body was found in a mutilated and decomposed condition in the underbrush of Lodge hill, Dracut on Sunday, is under arrest at the Lowell police station. While state and Dracut police were in Pawtucket, R. I., this forenoon searching for him, Fortuna came to Lowell of his own volition and at 10 minutes of 12 called at the restaurant of Jacob Targ, the dead woman's brother, and announced that he had read of the discovery of his wife's body on Monday night and had come to attend the funeral this afternoon. WARFARE OF MEAT PACKERS
Federal Trade Commission Replies to Charges by Senator Watson

Declares Watson Was "Lobbyist" in 1909—Members Trained by Detectives
WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The federal trade commission in a formal statement today, asserted that the charges made against the commission by Senator Watson, republican, Indiana, and Senator Sherman, republican, Illinois, were part and parcel of the warfare of the Chicago meat packers against the department of justice and the federal trade commission with the purpose of subverting justice. The commission said the good faith of Senator Watson's charges was open to question when it was remembered that the senator was a "lobbyist" in 1909, and it charged that the senator's "relations with the Chicago packers" were shown by certain correspondence which the commission has taken from the files of Wilson & Co. RESERVATIONS TO PEACE TREATY
Four Adopted by Senate Foreign Relations Committee Today

Administration Leaders Vote Solidly Against Revised Changes
WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Four revised reservations to the peace treaty were adopted today by the senate foreign relations committee with the administration leaders voting solidly against them. The committee also adopted a preamble to the reservation providing that the treaty should become effective until three of the other principal allied and associated powers have agreed to the senate's reservations. This, too, was opposed by the administration senators. Four reservations approved related to Article 10, the Monroe Doctrine withdrawal and domestic questions. On most of the roll calls the division was 11 to 5, all of the republicans and Senator Shields, democrat, Tennessee, voting in the affirmative. The reservation adopted relating to Article 10 was identical, except for the transposition of one phrase, with the one which President Wilson announced on his western trip that he would be Continued on Page 12

SAYS JEWS ARE VICTIMS OF BLOOD LUST

(By H. P. BURTON)

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Abraham Cahan, often characterized as "the most powerful Jew in the world," inasmuch as he controls the destinies of Forward, the New York daily having the greatest circulation of any Jewish newspaper published anywhere, has just returned from Europe where he has made a profound study of the effects of the war upon the Jewish people.

On his trip, following the conclusion of the peace conference, to which he was an accredited delegate and correspondent, he visited France, England, Germany, Austria, Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Belgium, Rumania and Denmark, and today, seated in the tower of his twelve-story newspaper plant overlooking the entire East Side of New York, he told what he saw among his own people in Europe.

"Let me say first of all," Cahan said, his pale blue eyes flashing a sudden fire, "that the Jew has been made the unfortunate scapegoat of this great historical event, over in Europe, particularly in the new-made countries. He has been cruelly victimized in many places since the signing of the armistice, and under many pretexts, but more especially so in Rumania, Poland and Ukraine."

"It is in the Ukraine that the most dreadful things have been done to the Jew. There thousands upon thousands of Jews have been made living sacrifices during the last few months, their throats cut by soldiery and assassin bands."

"In the Ukrainian city of Proskur, of, to cite but one of countless instances, the military commander ordered, one morning last June, his soldiers to line up on each side of a principal street, and then to enter each house and kill all the Jews he found."

"For four days, from sunrise till sunset, these men went at this awful thing, taking two hours for lunch and often eating with hands actually dripping with blood."

"They did the killing by cutting their victims' throats or stabbing them to death."

"The women were often violated."

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards' produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c.

ABRAHAM CAHAN

WHO CAHAN IS

Abraham Cahan is editor-in-chief of Forward, a daily published on the East Side of New York. Cahan was born in Vilna, Russia, in 1880, and emigrated to America in 1882. He rose from obscurity to his present powerful position by virtue of his fine mind and dogged persistence. Prominent in politics, he nevertheless has had time to write several novels, the latest of them, "The Rise of David Levinsky," being hailed as an American masterpiece.

persons, 4000 being put to death in all that week-end that week.

"The excuse? Well, the Bolsheviks had been in control of this city, and in order to gain control of it, some anti-Bolsheviks proposed to the mobs to kill the Jews and take their property. This promise of booty, of course, gained a following and the innocent Jews suffered, although the Bolsheviks have as many Gentiles in their numbers as Jews. The Bolsheviks are a political party, not a religious one."

"After these pogroms, it was a common sight to see the corpses lying all over the streets for days. It is a dreadful thing, but I want to tell it to the Jews of America that they will realize the conditions in Europe and help our brethren, starving and suffering there."

"In Poland the situation is different, for in Poland there is an organized government and responsible constituted authorities, and anti-Semitism can be checked. Here it takes the form of a great national boycott against the Jews in business."

"The propaganda has been started by a certain clique of the Polish nobility who have decided to go into business. Heretofore the nobility never wanted to be in business, and this in time, came to be controlled mainly by the Jews. Now frequent pogroms are resorted to to enforce the warnings given by this group of noblemen."

"I don't blame Paderewski nor Pilsudsky, the Polish president, for not stopping this movement, because I don't think they can. They haven't the power over the governmental machinery to do so, but the governmental authorities themselves can stop it any time they want to. Perhaps a strong hint from the right source might effect this end."

"In Rumania a still different form of Jewish persecution is being practiced. Here it is economic, political and social. And it can be checked there, too, because the American government greatly to our credit, had inserted in the peace documents a bill of rights for the benefit of the minority nationalities in these European states. This bill, admirably drawn by Louis Marshall, the great American lawyer, is so far only the dead letter of the law, but it can instantly be

AGAINST TWO-PLATOON

Finance Commission Sends Report to Mayor Peters of Boston

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—The possibility of a refusal by day-shift firemen to respond to an alarm for a serious fire sounding in their last few minutes of work, or, having responded, quitting the job promptly at 6, also the fact that in 1918 the average time of actual fire fighting put in by each Boston fireman averaged only 32 hours for the whole year, are among the arguments in the finance commission's report to Mayor Peters against the two-platoon system for the fire department, issued last night.

The report states that 375 additional officers and men will be required for the department if the system is adopted and that the extra cost will be $670,400.

This report is said to be the opening gun in Mr. Peters' campaign against the adoption of the system by referendum at the coming city election, and is expected to be followed by statements against the project by both himself and Fire Commissioner J. R. Murphy.

From a reliable source it is also learned that within the week the department officers' club has voted unanimously against the measure, adopting a resolution expressing preference for proportional salary increases.

If adopted, the system becomes effective Feb. 3 next.

Firemen are now required to be on duty only 234 days in the year, says the report, one day off in three, two weeks' vacation with pay, three meal hours in each working day, church leave on Sunday, three days' leave for death in immediate family and indefinite sick leaves substantially reducing this nominal maximum.

"In 1918 there were 5174 alarms in the then 32 fire stations," continues the report. "The time consumed in answering these alarms was 9476 hours. Of this total only 4468 hours were spent in actual fire fighting, or approximately 46 hours' work of fire fighting per annum per fire house. As each man was off duty more than one-third of the time, the average time of fire fighting per man was about 32 hours for the year."

"Increases to both officers and men advanced the annual cost of supporting the department by $322,165, and the recent advance in the minimum salary schedule ($1100 to $1400) adds an annual cost of $15,835—a total of $348,003 in seven years."

"Last year the city paid $187,915.57 in pensions to firemen at the half-pay scale. The city council will undoubtedly accept the legislative act increasing from $300 to $600 the annuity paid widows or dependents of firemen killed or disabled in action."

LADY ASTOR MAY SEEK ELECTION

LONDON, Oct. 22.—A member of the Astor family said yesterday that the report that Lady Astor would be a candidate for the seat of her husband, Viscount Astor, in parliament had not been discussed by the family.

The proposal that Lady Astor make the campaign for the Plymouth seat was started by the people of Plymouth.

She always has taken an active part in campaigning and speech making for her husband, according to English custom. She is popular with the voters and is rated a good politician.

There are nearly 100,000,000 women voters in the world today, of which 15,000,000 in 23 of the states of this country will have the right to vote for the next president.

Board of Trade Suggests
Going Beyond Debt Limit
for Streets

The transportation committee of the Lowell board of trade, Paul Chandler, chairman, has recommended that the board directors decide whether or not the organization shall launch a proposition whereby the city shall secure $1,000,000 outside the debt limit for the repair and reconstruction of Lowell streets.

The scheme was suggested at a meeting of the transportation committee held late yesterday afternoon and includes the stipulation that the money, if secured, be placed in the hands of a committee of five for expenditure, that committee to include the commissioner of streets and highways, the city engineer and three others selected by the municipal council, one of whom would be a civil engineer, one a representative of labor and the third, a man who pays at least $1000 in taxes.

Traffic congestion and a trolley express were other civic matters to come up for discussion. The committee decided to leave the matter of congestion in downtown streets to the mayor and Manager Thomas S. Lees and Trustee Fred Crowley of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. Among several suggestions made as to ways and means of simplifying the movement of traffic in Central and Merrimack streets were the following: That Prescott street be made a one-way thoroughfare; that Gorham street between Appleton street and Powers corner be made one-way, going south; that the car stop located between Middle and Merrimack streets in Central be removed, thus allowing inbound cars to travel without stop from Market street to the square; that safety zones be laid out in Merrimack square, to insure proper protection to street car patrons, and that a mounted policeman be on duty in Merrimack square and adjoining streets.

That the transportation committee believes the city streets are in immediate need of extensive repair and that a distinct program of construction should be mapped out and followed, is shown in its suggestion that the city acquire $1,000,000 outside the debt limit for this purpose. The proposition includes the fact that the money should be spent over a period of about three years and by the committee of five above mentioned. Among the suggestions offered was one which would create an avenue for tourist travel through the city from Gorham street, through Thorndike and Fletcher to the Nashua boulevard and another in Lakeview avenue as a continuation of the Lawrence highway.

In regard to the trolley express Fred Crowley stated that lack of a suitable terminal was the largest obstacle to its institution, but that such cars could commence operation at 24 hours' notice, given this necessary terminal. The road trustees would prefer to lease a suitable building, but might consider an outright purchase, said Mr. Crowley.

WARNING OF LABOR

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—After a day of uncertainty, during which President Wilson sent to Secretary Lane, chairman, a message of conciliation to be used as "a last resort," the national industrial conference last night cleaned its slate by rejecting all collective bargaining resolutions as well as the labor proposal for intervention in the steel strike.

The public group aligned with capital on the vote against both the original collective bargaining and steel strike resolutions, although the declaration on collective bargaining was proposed by the public delegates. Prior to the vote on the original declaration, the employers' substitute and two new amendments by Thomas L. Chadbourne, chairman of the conference's central committee, met defeat. Only the employers favored the substitute, and labor and capital united in their opposition to the amendments.

Defeated on every point, and having lost the support of the public group, which heretofore has been on the side of the workers, the labor delegates left the conference hall last night disheartened and feeling, as some of them said, that little could be gained by further meetings.

The morning session of the conference lasted only a few minutes, and the afternoon meeting, during which quick action was obtained, was not convened until 5 o'clock. The entire day was devoted to group meetings in an attempt to devise another declaration on collective bargaining satisfactory to all elements. After more than three days of almost continuous sessions the employers were unable to agree upon another statement and fell back upon the Wheeler substitute.

Members of the public group attempted to effect a compromise by the substitution of the words "associations of their own choosing" for "trade and labor unions" in the clause of the group's resolution guaranteeing workers the right to organize, and the five labor representatives on the general committee of 15 spent two hours in joint meeting with the public group explaining labor's objection to the change. This amendment was introduced by Mr. Chadbourne, but the public group alone voted favorably.

When the original Russell-Endicott resolution came up for discussion in the conference, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared that the withdrawal of the support of the public group was due to an interpretation of the words "trade and labor unions" by one member of the group, who is allied with organized labor, and that the phrase excludes all but American Federation of Labor organizations. It was said that the reference was to J. J. Forester, alternate for Bert M. Jewell, acting president of the railway employees' department of the federation.

"The right to organize for the purpose of collective bargaining," Mr. Gompers continued, "is the one question in controversy—the one thing the working people of the United States are going to achieve."

Labor Leader Speaks
A hush fell over the crowded auditorium as the labor leader, squarely facing the employers' wing and shaking his finger toward that group, exclaimed to the representatives of American capital:

"If you do not hear with us in an effort toward construction, if you think it impossible for us to secure relief for the suffering masses of American labor, if you insist on contesting with us every inch of the ground in our battle for better conditions, if you deny us the rights of organization, if you render our work finally impotent, you may destroy us but you will find yourselves facing something else, something worse, and you may come to rue the day that you destroyed the saneness and the willingness to serve that has and does characterize the officials of American trade unionism today."

Mr. Gompers again sounded a note of warning a few moments later when he told the members of the conference that he feared they did not appreciate the "critical situation in which we find ourselves today." The people of the United States, he asserted, are "sitting on a lid industrially." Turning

CHARGE OF EMBASSY

Rank of First American Diplomatic Representative to Germany

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Charge of embassy will be the rank of the first American diplomatic representative to Germany after the ratification of the peace treaty for not until sufficient time has elapsed to test the workings of the treaty and the spirit in which the present government of Germany undertakes to carry out its provisions will the representative give place to a fully accredited ambassador. This plan, it was learned today, also will be followed by the entente governments.

Out of consideration for the senate, which might resent any action on the part of the executive branch, anticipatory of the disposition of the treaty, it was said today that at present it was not possible to announce the name of the person who will assume the important office of charge of embassy.

There is no disposition, it was learned, to reduce the rank of the American diplomatic representative in Germany, which still remains one of the great nations of the world. But it is understood to be planned to make such a change in the case of Austria and Hungary. Separated as the two states are into two separate nations greatly reduced in size and importance, these countries will be regarded as properly entitled to missions only and there will be a minister plenipotentiary provided for each.

The Turkish embassy also is due for reduction in rank, it was learned. Considering the small size of the country which will remain under Turkish control, it may be that the remnant will have to be content to share an American minister with Bulgaria and the Balkans.

Existing law gives the executive branch of the government the power to raise an American mission to the rank

Oppose United States Accepting Mandates

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sunday, Oct. 12 (By the Associated Press).—The majority of the members of the Harbord mission, which has been investigating conditions in Armenia and Transcaucasia have indicated to the Associated Press correspondent their opinion that it would be inadvisable for the United States to accept a mandate for either Armenia or Turkey. Their view is that if the United States does accept a mandate, it should do so only after the interested European powers have fully agreed to pursue a "hands off" policy.

Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord, the head of the mission, would express no opinion on the subject.

INDIGESTION

At once!—"Pape's Diapiesin" corrects your Sour, Gassy, Acid Stomach—Relief awaits you!

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

When your meals don't fit and you feel uncomfortable, when you belch gases, acids or raise sour, undigested food, when you feel lumps of indigestion pain, heartburn or headache, from acidity, just eat a tablet of Pape's

Diapiesin and the stomach distress is gone.

Millions of people know the magic of Pape's Diapiesin as an antacid. They know that indigestion and disordered stomach are so needless. The relief comes quickly, no disappointment! Pape's Diapiesin tastes like candy and a box of this world-famous indigestion relief costs so little at drug stores. Pape's Diapiesin helps neutralize the stomach acids so you can eat without fear.—Adv.

KING ALBERT VISITS TOMB OF LINCOLN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 22.—Albert, King of the Belgians, Queen Elisabeth and Prince Leopold yesterday paid homage at the tomb and homestead of Abraham Lincoln.

The royal party was greeted on arrival of the special train by Gov. and Mrs. Frank O. Lowden and state and city officials before taking automobiles for Oak Ridge cemetery, where the Lincoln monument stands.

Thousands thronged the platform at the station and the streets nearby and cheered the royal pair and the young prince.

Gov. Lowden paid tribute to the heroism of the Belgians and declared that the little kingdom had been a mighty inspiration to all the world in the struggle against autocracy.

At the tomb of Lincoln, King Albert said in part:

"It was a duty of gratitude toward the American nation and a duty of respect toward one not only of your country, but one of the world's best citizens, to come here to Springfield to honor President Lincoln's memory.

"Honesty and straightforwardness, absolute faith in the future of the nation; indomitable courage in facing the nation's enemies, firm and clear-sighted statesmanship—these virtues have been personified by your illustrious president.

"We who are here today, coming from a far distant country, can never forget what President Lincoln has done, and may we find in his noble example the strengthened firmness which makes a ruler worthy to be dedicated in his country to that always unfinished work of progress, welfare and ideals which this great man had thus far so nobly advanced."

RITAFICA SELECTMEN

At a meeting of the selectmen for the town of Rittica held Monday night two licenses for second hand dealers in motor vehicles were granted, one to William S. Turner and the other to Leroy Spaulding. Routine business was transacted and highway matters were discussed with Highway Surveyor Twombly.

The Pennsylvania railroad saved $43,000 last year by the sale of 5,375,000 pounds of waste paper.

CONDUCTORS ARE FOUND GUILTY

Found guilty of stealing fares from the local division of the Eastern Massachusetts street railway on various dates in September, the three Lowell conductors whose trial has been in progress in police court for the past month were sentenced by Judge Enright last yesterday afternoon as follows: J. J. Kelley and Camille Chilcote, $75 fines to be paid in one week or two months' imprisonment; John E. Wallace, $50 fine to be paid in one week or two months' imprisonment. All three appealed from the sentence through their attorney, Edward J. Tierney, and were held in $300 for superior court. Fred N. Wier appeared for the company.

In disposing of the case Judge Enright said that men who steal fares from a public service corporation add to the burden borne by the public in the maintenance of public service utilities. He desired to be fair in his treatment of the defendants and therefore was inclined to dispose of the case by fines rather than direct jail sentences.

The case was opened in police court over a month ago, when the three conductors, following their arrest, pleaded not guilty to several counts of larceny on various dates in September. The amounts given in the charges ranged from 10 cents to $1.20; none of the total amounts credited to each man for more than $5.

MEN BUY WATER FOR WHISKEY

WARE, Oct. 22.—Whiskey swindlers are making life a burden for those in the pastoral precincts of Ware and Palmer who are anxious to acquire a sufficient supply of the liquided essence of joy against the continuance of the wartime prohibition drouth.

A former Ware man visited the town recently and produced what he claimed was a sample of whiskey seldom equaled. A few of those who had not had their Sahara thirst quenched in a month of Sundays sampled the sample and said it was all that was described.

It was arranged to deliver some of the whiskey to one Ware man, but in order to dodge local and federal sleuths it was to be delivered at night. The supposed load of intoxicant arrived, and after several jugs had been unloaded the Ware man paid $150. He did not examine his purchase until the salesman had gone. Then he discovered that the jugs contained pure water.

The salesman left for Worcester in a hired auto and has not been seen since.

Palmer men contributed $225 to the same individual who tricked the Ware man, making his receipts $375 for the water. It is stated the enterprising salesman made $315, the only expense being the jug and trucking charges.

NO HOLE IN DOUGHNUT

New Style on Display—Substitutions to Save Sugar and Eggs Coming

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Fall styles of pies, cakes and doughnuts were on display today at the annual convention of the National Bakers' association. The new doughnut showed a distinctive departure from that food preparation around which many gulps and comparisons have been built. There was no hole. Instead, according to the bakers, the inside of the doughnut is taken up with "filling" intended to add nutrition to the old style fried cake.

The bakers today predicted a return of war bread, with substitution of potato flour for wheat flour, and numerous other substitutions to save sugar and eggs.

ffered his arm to Allen to escort him to the stage.

"Now that you have admitted at Pittsfield that you had war contracts to the amount of $30,000,000," cried Mr. Allen, "will you take the people into your confidence and tell how much profit you made on those contracts?"

"Did you not make a war contract with the government on Saturday, Nov. 3, when the armistice was pending, and just two days before it was signed, and did you not receive $20,000 in settlement of the contract? If you wish sincerely to relieve the poor people of the burden of taxation, why did you, a rich man, claim damages for this contract when you knew it could only be paid out of the heavy war taxes of the people?"

"After the armistice, did you not buy back from the government leather or other materials at one-half the price that the government paid for them?"

Mr. Long did not hesitate a moment. He said: "It is true that we brought $30,000,000 to Massachusetts by contracts that we had with the government. The conditions of the contracts were that we should receive only 10 percent of the cost of material and losses, and on no contract did we receive more than the actual cost of the material and admitted losses."

"Some of the contracts produced actual loss for us. On part of some of the contracts we received payment for our actual losses and no other compensation."

"Regarding our entire profits during the war, I can say they were less than four per cent, and before we went through putting in new machinery, etc., it will cost us more than our entire profits during the war."

In his speech Mr. Long said:

"Gov. Coolidge has been a hiding executive. When he has been sought to prevent the policeman's strike in Boston he hid behind the autocrat, Mr. Curtis. The latter bid behind Lawyer Herbert Parker, the counsel of the Standard Oil company and the beef trust. Now he is planning to remain in hiding while four or five governors from the 'wild and woolly west' come to Massachusetts to tell its voters why they should tolerate the deplorable conditions which prevail on Beacon Hill."

"The day of hidden government in Massachusetts is over. The day of the rich concealing their more than a billion dollars of income from Massachusetts industry is over, and this money will have to pay a long delayed toll by way of a graduated income tax to relieve the taxation upon the poor."

"The campaign of hiding will fail. The people want the light, and in the campaign I am making they are having light thrown upon some of the dark spots that have disgraced our state for a long time."

With Mr. Long in the rallies last night were members of the state ticket and local candidates.

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—While Richard H. Long, democratic candidate for governor, was addressing a rally in Lyceum hall, Woburn, last night, the party of republican orators, headed by J. Wesley Allen, candidate for attorney general, arrived on the outside in automobiles.

Mr. Allen and some of the group of "hecklers" with him went up into the hall. They had expected Mr. Long was to have open air rallies, and were disappointed when they found he had engaged halls for his last night's tour. A lively interchange of questions and answers between Messrs. Long and Allen made things interesting for awhile.

Just as Mr. Long was describing his plan for a graduated income tax he noted the entry of Candidate Allen.

Fixing his eye on Allen, he stopped and said: "I understand that Mr. J. Wesley Allen is in the audience. I wish if he has any questions he wishes me to answer that he would ask them now. I invite him to come up here on the platform."

Mr. Allen walked up the left-hand aisle from the rear of the hall a short distance and stopped, saying, "I am going to ask you a few questions, Mr. Long."

"Platform! platform!" cried many in the audience, but Allen smilingly refused the requests, even when the chairman of the Woburn city committee walked down the aisle and offered that the jugs contained pure water.

COL. LYNCH IN BOSTON

Patriotic Irishman Hissed by Extremists in Lecture on Ireland

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—Col. Arthur Lynch was heckled and hissed frequently by a small portion of his audience last night in Tremont temple during his lecture on the Irish question. His address was disappointing to the Sinn Féin element, who interrupted him and when he was through challenged his right to speak for any part of the Irish people.

The names of Sir Arthur Balfour, Banish Catarrh

Breathes Hyomel For Two Minutes and Relieve Stuffed-Up Head

If you want to get relief from catarrh, cold in the head or from an irritated cough in the shortest time breathe Hyomel.

It should clear out your head and open up your nose in ten minutes and allow you to breathe freely.

Hyomel often ends a cold in one day, and brings quick relief from sniffles, hard crusts in the nose, hawking, spitting and catarrhs of the nose.

Hyomel is made chiefly from a soothing, healing antiseptic oil, that comes from the eucalyptus forests of inland Australia, where Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Tonillitis, Influenza, Pneumonia and Consumption were never known to exist.

Hyomel is pleasant and easy to breathe. Just pour a few drops into the hard rubber inhaler, use as directed, and in a few minutes you will feel better.

A complete Hyomel outfit, including inhaler and one bottle of Hyomel, costs but little at drug stores everywhere. If you already own an inhaler you can get an extra bottle of Hyomel at drug stores.

Another questioner demanded whether it was not the duty of any true Irishman to refrain from offering solutions of the Irish question which had already been solved; that is, the Irish had solved it for themselves.

Col. Lynch answered something more from was needed to establish the republic. Sympathy of outside nations was necessary for support.

The speaker said that Englishmen would fight to the last ditch against any efforts to separate Ireland from the empire. He believed, however, that the vast majority of the labor party in England were in favor of Ireland's aspirations, even to the establishment of the republic. It was folly to estrange the labor party. The labor vote would overthrow imperialism in Britain. The ruling party is imperialistic today. The fact that England had just gone into Persia and is enlarging her navy exposed her imperialism, the speaker declared.

Col. Lynch said he differed from the Sinn Féin as to means. The freedom of Ireland must be brought about by constitutional changes, he felt. The weak point in physical force, he said, was that there was no physical force in Ireland.

"I hope," he said in conclusion, "it will not be many more years, not many more months, before we shall be able to look at the green emblem of Ireland floating over College green—the old parliament of Ireland."

All soldiers and sailors who were discharged on or before July 3, 1919 must make application for their $100 state bonus on or before Nov. 30, 1919. If original discharge papers are not available, applications should be filed before the above-named date, and the discharges presented at some later date. Otherwise, all rights to said bonus will be lost. In cases of men discharged after July 3, 1919 said application must be filed within six months after their discharge. Blanks for applying for the $100 bonus may be procured at the Red Cross rooms, 51 Merrimack street, Lowell. Blanks may also be obtained at the Red Cross, for the State Honorarium. Men who enlisted during 1917, up to Jan. 15, 1918 are eligible for the $10 monthly Honorarium.

American Tourists Are Shivering in Paris Hotels—Ban on Use of Coal

PARIS, Tuesday, Oct. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—American tourists who have recently reached Paris wish that they might have brought their own coal supply with them. October has been unusually cold and damp, but there is an official prohibition against the use of coal for heating purposes before Nov. 1 so that only those hotels which have been able to obtain a supply of wood are heated. Most Paris hotels have no coal and shivering tourists are wishing themselves back home. Travelers just arrived from Berlin and Vienna say that prices there are much higher and heat is lacking.

Although it was believed that Paris hotels would have an abundance of rooms for all comers after the departure of the armies of allied war workers, the city seems just as badly crowded as at this time last year, and tourists are walking the streets, seeking accommodations. Paris is still filled with refugees from the devastated areas and from countries upset by war, accounting for the great demand for shelter.

Apartment and boarding houses are as badly crowded as the hotels and the demands upon the limited amount of fuel far exceed the supply. A centrally located hotel now charges 25 to 50 francs daily for single rooms without heat. Wood for use in fire places costs 15 francs per basket, when available. Factories are running on short time because of the lack of coal and the fuel administration is on this account curtailing the supply for hotels and households so sharply that heating will necessarily be limited even after Nov. 1.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

Miss Elizabeth Shanahan, who on next Wednesday will be married to Mr. Patrick Hogan, was tendered a miscellaneous shower at the home of her sister, Mrs. James Young, 32 Sydney street, last evening. Among the gifts presented the young woman were a dinner set and mahogany clock from the employees of the A. G. Pollard Co. In the course of the evening entertainment numbers were given by Miss Edith Lyons, Miss Madeline Hartigan and others and refreshments were served by Mrs. James Young, Misses Theresa and Florence Shanahan, Miss Ellice Driscoll, Miss Ella Callahan, Miss Lilla Cook and Miss Florence Kelley.

One million bales of American cotton will have been shipped to Japan by the end of the year.

AN ENEMY OF WOMANHOOD

The complexion, digestion and almost the complete personality of woman are dependant upon health. Woman's ill is her great enemy, as they cause bad complexion, dark circles under the eyes, headache, backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, dragging-down pains and the blues, and often totally unfit her for a companion. The great American remedy for such conditions is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which has been restoring three generations of ailing women to health, and may be relied upon with perfect confidence.—Adv.

PRESENTS FARMERS' SIDE OF HIGH COST OF LIVING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The farmers' side of the high cost of living question was presented to the senate yesterday by Sen. Capper, republican, of Kansas, who declared that, while farmers are selling their products at a loss in declining markets, the consumers are paying rising prices.

Faulty distribution was blamed largely for this "remarkable spectacle" and the senator urged a number of remedies to increase production. He deplored the numerous industrial strikes and the small representation given agriculture in the Industrial Conference.

"In our efforts to get rid of the high cost of living disease," said Mr. Capper, "I fear we are in great danger of doing of the remedy. As a result of Washington's effort to reduce high prices by breaking down entirely the cost of food, we have the remarkable spectacle of a rise of one per cent in the cost of living, coincident with market drops that are putting livestock raisers out of business and causing serious losses to other producers."

Illustrating the anomalous situation of farmers and consumers, Senator Capper said farmers are selling their wheat at a loss, adding: "It takes four and one-half bushels of wheat to make a barrel of flour. The wheat raiser gets about $5.37 for the wheat; the miller $12.90; the baker $58.70 and the hotelkeeper here in Washington as it is doled out in this slice $58.70."

"Without visibly helping the consumer we have brought about a crisis in our most fundamental and vital industry by forcing the producer to accept prices at which he cannot continue to produce, while he and the consumer are compelled to pay prices at which they are forced to curtail the home demand."

Among the remedies suggested by Senator Capper were cessation of "federal government propaganda which tends to bear down the prices of farm products."

"Executive departments," he said, "should seek by every means at their command to open wider markets to the farmer by lifting the embargo on wheat and wheat flour to Europe, by extending credits to European governments and by lowering ocean freight rates."

Legislation to free the livestock producer of alleged control of the markets by the packers also was urged by Senator Capper, who suggested establishment of co-operative farm selling agencies.

"Price-making in necessities of life," he said, "should never again be left to the gamblers of the exchange or to corporate monopoly."

LOWELL COFFEE ON WAY TO GERMANY

Coffee may not be growing in favor in Germany as the coming beverage. So far as we know there has been no ban placed on the sale or manufacture of beer in Deutschland recently. Be that as it may, however, there is at least one family in the fatherland that appreciates the value of a steaming cup of Lowell-sold coffee at the breakfast table; for there is now in transit a 10-pound case of coffee, which was sent to this family store-said last week, by a local woman, parcel post.

Passing the coffee by for the moment—although we've never yet passed it by when it came our way, as we were hustling some "cats" into our luner man before grabbing our car for the office each morning—there are other things besides coffee going through the parcel post department at the local postoffice en route to Germany.

Although Lowell has a comparatively small German population, several packages, containing mostly foodstuffs—cereals, flour, canned stuff and the like—have been going through the parcel post department each week, for some time. A small amount of mail matter has also been sent through the postoffice to the "other side" since the ban on mail to Germany was lifted last summer.

Increase in Parcel Post

Parcel post business at the Lowell postoffice has increased 35 per cent in the past year, Postmaster Meehan said today. People have realized the efficiency possible through the parcel post service, he declared, and it has resulted in business houses sending many articles through the postoffice which formerly were sent by freight or express.

Machinery, clothing, auto tires, cases of chickens, butter and eggs, automobile parts and accessories—these are but a few of the articles which folks are now entrusting to Uncle Sam's men to deliver instead of sending them through other routes as in the past.

Several reasons are given for this marked increase in parcel post business here, which has caused the postmaster to almost double his transportation facilities in the past six months in handling parcel post matter. One is the recent strike of expressmen in New York; another is that many local families are ordering case lots of food from the army store in the Hub; still another is that business houses which formerly shipped large consignments of ladies' clothing and dry goods by freight are now sending these through the parcel post in small packages.

A tremendous amount of auto tires alone has been transported through the local postoffice in the past weeks, Postmaster Meehan said. Fully 500 cases of butter are coming through from Vermont each week, a marked increase on egg shipments has also been noted.

This increased business has come to stay, according to the postmaster. He believes that the manufacturers and business houses who have taken to the parcel post service to help them out of temporary difficulties, caused by labor trouble among the transportation companies who formerly served them, will remain good "customers" of this branch of the government service now they have found how efficiently their consignments are cared for.

THREAT OF DEATH PROTECTS SLAYERS

DETROIT.—When Sam Glonola, king of Sicilian gunmen, was killed at midday in front of a bank, several witnesses were found who recognized the slayers. Four men were arrested, but meanwhile word had gone out that to testify in the case would be fatal, so the police were compelled to release the men who are generally known throughout the Italian colony to have done the shooting.

When a Woman's Teeth Are Most in Danger

The quality of the saliva has much to do with the condition of the teeth. Before the baby comes, and immediately thereafter, it undergoes a change, and often the mother finds herself with sensitive gums and loosening teeth.

This condition is temporary, and need not be mistaken for the onset of pyorrhea. Miss Della Spellman, a nurse at the State Hospital, New York, with years of experience, advises the gentle use of the tooth brush twice a day with preparation, free from irritating drugs, and gum massage, by finger. She recommends Albidon Dental Cream knowing it is both effective and safe and fully meets all requirements of women and children.

A tube holding 55 brushfuls can be bought for 25c at any drug store. Albidon is calcium carbonate, saponified and mixed with the well-known oils of cloves, cinnamon and eucalyptus, which authorities declare is best for women and children.—Adv.

Special Commission Holds
First Meeting — Lowell Man a Member

HOSTON, Oct. 22.—The special commission on training disabled soldiers and sailors had its first hearing yesterday afternoon at the state house. It consists of Payson Smith, commissioner of education; Charles B. Hayes, director of the commission for the blind; Edwin Mulready, labor commissioner; Llewellyn E. Pulsifer of Natick; Susan C. Lyman of Boston; Clark Powers of Somerville and Winfred C. MacBrayne of Lowell.

The commission had before it five bills which had been referred to it by the 1919 legislature. They were as follows: By Senator John J. Kearney, to provide for state assistance for the higher education of certain physically disabled persons; by Haroid L. Perrin, for an educational memorial for the soldiers and sailors of the world war; by William H. Hearn, to establish a reconstruction commission to investigate and report relative to social and economic reconstruction and to the regulation of finance and trade; by ex-Congressman Frederick S. Detrick, to authorize the commonwealth to employ of the Boston Blind and Cripples' blind and partially blind persons, with certain restrictions; and by John P. Engler, to provide a free home for citizens of Massachusetts who became disabled while serving in the military and naval forces of the United States.

capped in the struggle for a living, he said.

The bill provides for a state commission of five persons, who shall be specially qualified by being physically crippled, blind or partially blind, to have an annual salary of $5000 each, the term to be five years, with power to employ all necessary medical and other experts and to incur all reasonable expense. The bill sets forth a system by which persons crippled to the extent of 25 per cent of their powers, or blind to the extent of 65 per cent of eyesight shall be given employment by the state. Persons over 21 years shall have $25 a week salary; between 16 and 21 years, $12.50, and persons under 16 years, $6.25.

The bill provides such financial support as will keep the beneficiaries from want, presumably. Mr. Detrick spoke at length and strongly for adequate consideration of the permanent relief of the blind and crippled.

Several blind and crippled persons came to the hearing with Mr. Detrick. Edward J. Mercer, with poor sight, employed at the commission for the blind, formerly getting $8 weekly, but now $11, argued that the state ought to make up the difference between the earnings of each defective person and money enough to afford a reasonable living. Representative Hayden of Lynn approved the bill and it was supported by Mary McClintock, employed at the commission for the blind.

SAFETY WATCHWORD OF EVERY HOME

The great railroad safety drive now being conducted by the safety section of the operating division of the railroad administration should receive the attention of every man, woman and child in New England. No matter whether past deaths and injuries have resulted from collisions, derailments, or other reasons connected with the operation of trains, or whether they come from trespassers upon railroad property, it is perfectly evident that the number has been too large and that there is plenty of opportunity for bringing about an improvement by giving the situation proper consideration.

Serious injury or death to the head of the household or to any member of the household is to be deplored at any time, but because of the grievous problems facing the nation as a whole, the crossing, perhaps, since the death of the government—serious or death, especially when caused by one's own household, is more than ever a loss to one's family and friends and to mankind. The world in these four years has suffered a terrible loss, the human part of which is incapable of calculation—for who can compute the value of all that vigorous energy stricken out of service and mental contribution?

The railroad administration, through A. P. Duffy, manager of the safety section, division of operation, and through Fred W. Mitchell, supervisor of safety for the New Haven, is appealing to every officer, every employee, to make an individual effort to bring about a high degree of safety. All are besought to regard their own personal safety, the safety of their families, the safety of their brethren on the railroads and the safety of all with whom they come in contact in their daily work.

The people of New England should also learn the lesson of safety first. There have been many object lessons to drive home the truth that the iron tracks as a foothold is subject to great hazard. Part of the campaign now going on is also for the purpose of instructing the public in the proper use of grade crossings; and it is hoped that city and town officials, clergymen, school authorities and others may also aid the movement. Crossing tenders are taking the numbers of automobiles whose drivers appear to operate them carelessly in approaching crossings. Automobileists have been notably guilty of violating all safety rules—this notwithstanding the fact that there are state laws and city ordinances governing the matter. While the drive is on all employees, all citizens, all automobileists should become impressed with the spirit of the campaign. And if they become so impressed, there will be a vast beneficial gain, not only for the period of the drive, but for many years to come.

Safety to oneself and happiness and serenely to one's family should be the watchword. Individuals should practice the safety habit and this will teach others to do the same.

The railroads, by constant effort among their employees, can do a great deal, but they cannot do it all. The movement must have the hearty cooperation of the general public.

CLEMENCEAU'S PARTY IS STRONG IN PROVINCES

PARIS, Oct. 22.—Premier Clemenceau will open the political campaign with a speech at Strasbourg on Sunday in which he will outline his political program. While the premier himself is not a candidate, reports from all the provinces say that candidates for parliament who are known to be Clemenceau adherents are generally displaying the greatest strength.

Joseph Caillaux, the French politician accused of intelligence with the enemy, will appear before the French senate, constituted as a high court, on Thursday for trial, but it is possible that the actual trial may be deferred until after elections, owing to the desires of many senators.

The alignment of senators for aid against immediate trial seems to be based on geographical and political grounds, as many senators in certain departments would be able to use a condemnation of Caillaux as an argument for their re-election, while in other districts it would be used as a weapon against them.

Prosecutor Lescouvé will request an immediate trial, merely asking the time necessary to summon witnesses from America by cable, in which case Nov. 17 might be decided upon as the date on which the debate would begin. The vote in the senate on the sub-enjoyment when there isn't a dyspeptic frown among them. Of course, a case of dyspepsia or daily indigestion must be looked after. But it is far more to the point to prevent as well as to treat sour stomach, belching, water brash, etc., by such a reliable means as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Codding the stomach with soft food and pre-digested stuff merely invites sluggishness.

But your little pork sausages for breakfast without fears; have a plate of beans and a piece of pie with cheese for lunch, and end the day with a real dinner, instead of a bowl of bread and milk. Follow each meal with a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet and get right back to your natural self. These tablets digest food and assist the stomach to prepare the contents for assimilation in the intestinal tract. Thus you get the practical relief and help which induces a better appetite and a greater freedom in the selection of foods. You will find Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets on sale at any drug store in the United States and Canada, as they are considered one of the stand-bys by the druggist.—Adv.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY of NEW YORK

It Kills Seborrhea—the Scourge of Healthy Hair

You need no longer be alarmed at the falling out of your hair.

There is actually a way to prevent it.

Science discovered that the scourge of baldness was due to Seborrhea, the disease that produces dandruff.

Two years ago science found Famo.

The formula was worked out and perfected as a specific for baldness, in one of the oldest pharmaceutical laboratories in Detroit.

It was given a rigid test in the hands of reputable hair specialists.

Its efficiency was proven in scores of cases in private practice long before it was given to the world at large.

Seborrhea undoubtedly causes baldness.

It is known now that Famo actually stops baldness.

Seborrhea produces dandruff and kills the hair.

Famo grows new healthy hair by making the scalp healthy.

The action of Famo is not that of a hair lotion or a massage which rubs out the dandruff.

Famo immediately penetrates the scalp. It feeds the glands that nourish the roots of the hair.

Famo dissolves the dandruff so that it actually disappears.

Better still it kills Seborrhea, the germ of dandruff.

It improves the lustre and the texture of the hair. It makes the hair grow thicker and faster.

Famo contains no alcohol. The persistent use of alcohol on the hair dries the hair and the scalp.

Famo retards grayness by keeping the roots and natural oil of the hair in healthy condition.

If your scalp itches, if your hair is dull and lifeless, if you have dandruff, it means that Seborrhea is working against the life of your hair.

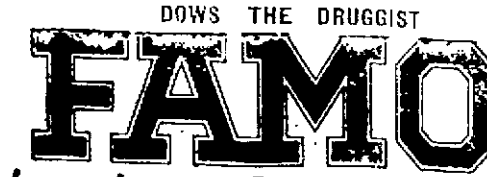

You will find Famo on sale at all toilet goods counters and the better barber shops.

It comes in a convenient trial size at 35 cents, and you can buy an extra large bottle for a dollar.

Your money will be returned if you are not satisfied.

Seborrhea is the medical name for a morbidly increased flow from the sebaceous glands of the scalp. The seborrhea excretion forms in scales or flakes and is commonly known as dandruff.

criticism of any individual or of any group. But having called this conference, I feel that my temporary indisposition should not bar the way to a frank expression of the seriousness of the position in which this country will be placed should you adjourn without having convinced the American people that you had exhausted your resources and your patience in an effort to come to some common agreement.

At a time when the nations of the world are endeavoring to find a way of avoiding international war, are we to confess that there is no method to be found for carrying on industry except in the spirit and with the very method of war? Must suspicion and hatred and force rule us in civil life? Are our industrial leaders and our industrial workers to live together without faith in each other, constantly struggling for advantage over each other, doing naught but what is compelled?

My friends this would be an intolerable outlook, a prospect unworthy of the large things done by this people in the mastering of this continent—indeed, it would be an invitation to national disaster. From such a possibility my mind turns away, for my confidence is abiding that in this land we have learned now to accept the general judgment upon matters that affect the public weal. And this is the very heart and soul of democracy.

It is my understanding that you have divided upon one portion only of a possible program which has not fully been developed. Before a severance is affected, based upon personal differences, I believe you should stand together for the development of that full program touching the many questions within the broad scope of your investigations. It was in my mind when this conference was called that you would concern yourselves with the discovery of those methods by which a measurable co-operation within industry may have been secured and if new machinery needs to be designed by which a minimum of conflict between employers and employees may reasonably be hoped for, that we should make an effort to secure its adoption. It cannot be expected that at every step all parties will agree upon each proposition or method suggested. It is to be expected, however, that as a whole, a plan or program can be agreed upon which will advance further the productive capacity of America through the establishment of a surer and heartier co-operation between all the elements engaged in industry. The public expects no less than that you shall have that one end in view and stay together until the way is found leading to that end or until it is revealed that the men who work and the men who manage American industry are so set upon divergent paths that all effort at cooperation is doomed to failure.

I renew my appeal with full comprehension of the almost incomparable importance of your tasks to this and to other peoples, and with full faith in the high patriotism and good faith of each other that you push your task to a happy conclusion.

COUNT ILYA TOLSTOY COMING TOMORROW

A capacity audience is expected to attend the lecture to be given tomorrow evening in Colonial hall by Count Ilya Tolstoy, son and literary heir of Leo Tolstoy, the great Russian novelist and reformer, on the subject: "What is Wrong With Russia."

Count Tolstoy is to deliver his lecture in Worcester this afternoon, according to notification received this morning by John J. O'Rourke, secretary of the board of trade, and will come on to this city from Boston tomorrow. He has recently returned to America after having made a careful study of political and economic conditions in his native country. Regarding modern Russia no man in the United States is so well informed as Tolstoy and none can speak with equal authority.

For many years he was an intimate associate, not only of the Russian intellectuals, but of distinguished men and women from all parts of the world who journeyed thousands of miles to see his great father. He is not only the literary heir, but the perfect image of Leo Tolstoy. He is now in the prime of his life, speaks excellent English and has a heavy base voice which can be heard clearly in the largest auditoriums.

Tickets for the lecture may be obtained free of charge upon application to the secretary of the board of trade at 117 Merrimack street. Members of the board and their friends are entitled to tickets sufficient for their needs.

EARLY MORNING FIRE DESTROYS BAKERY

Fire destroyed an old two-and-a-half-story wooden structure and a barn as well as a large amount of flour and bread and a wagon and harnesses at 7 rear of 11 Cumiskey's alley early this morning. The property and contents were owned by E. Zarouros. It is believed that the fire started from an overheated stove in the building, which was being occupied as a bakery and a storage, for before leaving the premises the bakers had built a fire supposed to last all night. The blaze was discovered shortly before 1 o'clock and an alarm was sent in from box 11.

When the firemen arrived on the premises the bakery was almost burned to the ground and the flames had communicated to the barn adjoining. Several lines of hose were laid but the efforts of the fire fighters to save the barn were fruitless. The loss will be heavy.

They Get Action at Once

Foley Kidney Pills invigorate, strengthen and heal inactive, weak and diseased kidneys and bladder. Mrs. C. J. Ellis, 305 St. Ave., South Falls, N. I have not been bothered with kidney trouble since." They relieve headache, rheumatic pains, swollen or stiff joints, puffiness under the eyes, floating specks.

BACKWARD, TURN BACKWARD, O TIME

Beginning next Sunday morning at 3 o'clock the daylight saving law which has kept the clocks of the country one hour ahead of the usual time since last March, will no longer be in effect and the change in time will be made in Lowell as well as the rest of the country.

Mayor Perry D. Thompson has ordered the hands of the clock on city hall tower to be turned back one hour when they reach 11 o'clock next Saturday evening and City Messenger Owen A. Monahan will perform the task. The other clocks of the city will be turned back at this time or perhaps a little later, it is expected.

This hour has been chosen because it is figured that changing the clocks at 11 o'clock will cause less confusion than were it done earlier in the evening when crowds of shoppers are on the streets.

The local stores, theatres, etc., will regulate their hours by the time now in effect on Saturday evening, but on Sunday morning church services will be held according to the new time.

This will allow people an extra hour of sleep Saturday night or Sunday morning. The best way to be sure of having the right time Sunday morning will be to set one's watch or clock back an hour on Saturday night.

WATER COMMISSIONER'S REPORT

The seventh annual report of the commissioner of water works for the year 1918, including reports of the superintendent, city engineer and registrar of the department, was received from the printers today and includes the usual interesting fund of data and information concerning the local water system. The financial statement shows that $215,230.50 was spent during the year for maintenance and $21,433.32 for construction. The report of the superintendent brings out the fact that there was an increase in the total pumpage from the Cook wells and boulevard wells in 1918 of 459,237.016 gallons over that of 1917.

MRS. FORTUNA BURNED

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Fortuna, whose body was found in a lonely spot on Lodge hill, Dracut, last Sunday afternoon and whose death is believed to have been the result of murder, was held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the rooms of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons. The service was attended by immediate relatives and a few intimate friends and was conducted by Rev. Edward J. Guevara, pastor of the Polish National Roman Catholic church in Lakeview avenue. Burial took place in St. Kazimierz cemetery, Pelham, N. H., a motor cortege conducting the body from the rooms to the grave.

SYNDICATE SEEKS TO BUY RED SOX

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—Purchase of the Boston Red Sox by a local syndicate which, if successful, would elect Congressman James A. Gallivan as president of the club, has been proposed to President Harry H. Frazee, the present principal owner. Congressman Gallivan announced today. In a telegram received here the congressman said that his friends had made an offer for the club which President Frazee now has under consideration.

THE SUNDAY MOVIES

The ministers of the Federation of Churches have declared against the moving picture shows on Sundays, presumably for the alleged reason that attendance at such places of amusement is not in accord with the strict observance of the Sabbath.

That all depends upon the character of the shows. It is well to insist upon the proper observance of the Sabbath, but the Federation of Churches before condemning the Sunday picture theatres will have to prove that attendance at such performances constitutes a desecration of the day. We do not believe the Federation of Churches will attempt to take the position that attendance at an educational and wholly unobjectionable picture show, would be a violation of the commandment to observe the Lord's day.

The point will, therefore, turn upon the character of the shows presented in the movie theatres on Sunday. If they are bad they should be forbidden and the theatres closed. If they are not bad; if they are educational, or better still, of a sacred character, they may be made highly instructive and edifying.

We are, therefore, opposed to closing the movies on Sunday when the shows may be devoted to patriotic and religious subjects on which the masses need enlightenment. The moving picture exhibition can be made the medium of presenting biblical stories and lessons in American history, or of promoting the work of Americanization, or any other public movement in which it may be necessary to enlighten the masses.

There should be no attempt to revive the blue laws here or elsewhere. The Sunday hotels which were little more than drinking clubs, are now out of business and the men who formerly frequented them will feel an inclination to go somewhere. If they can be induced to spend their time in the churches, well and good, but if not then the moving picture shows may be made to appeal to them.

We are as critical as anybody should be on the necessity of having clean picture shows and to have the theatre present none that is objectionable at any time; but we believe that the Sunday shows should partake of the Sunday spirit and at the same time be amusing and instructive. It does not require much stretch of the imagination to realize that it is within the bounds of possibility for a picture show to convey a more forcible moral or religious lesson than is derivable from the average pulpit sermon. On the other hand, it is equally true that the effect of several good sermons might be easily overcome by one bad picture show.

The inference, therefore, is clear, as to the line of public duty in regard to Sunday theatres. See that they give decent shows and promptly call them to account if they descend below the standard laid down.

This is an industrial city in which housing conditions have caused hundreds, we might say thousands, of working people to crowd into small and poorly ventilated rooms, very often without adequate heat. The people cannot stay in such rooms to freeze in cold weather. Neither can they spend their leisure time on the streets; and it is plain, therefore, that there are few places if any in which they can spend their time more comfortably or more profitably than in the picture houses, provided always that the shows are decent, entertaining and instructive.

To close the Sunday movies would tend to drive men "who want to go somewhere" into gambling resorts, or places where the various substitutes for liquor will be offered to those who want to indulge in stimulants or opiates. If properly conducted the Sunday picture theatres may be converted into agencies of education and uplift, highly beneficial rather than otherwise.

We are, therefore, in favor of holding the Sunday theatres and of making them in every way fit for the patronage of young and old so that they may become a medium of much needed instruction and edification as well as of innocent amusement. It is well to remove temptation from the path of young and old, but while it is impossible to remove all the temptations to evil, it is advisable to maintain counter attractions, and so the moving picture shows properly conducted on Sunday or even during the week, may prevent many young people from forming an acquaintance with disreputable resorts, a single visit to which would be more regrettable, more dangerous to health and life and morals than a year's attendance at the lowest movie theatre in the land.

THE JAPANESE SIDE

Some new light is thrown upon the Shantung controversy by the fact that one of the political parties in Japan charges certain high officials with misrepresenting the real claims of Japan in intimating that there may be a possibility of establishing an international settlement at China-Chan instead of an exclusive Japanese settlement, as authorized by treaties with China.

It is likely that Japan is going to have public agitation over this question quite as heated as we have had in this country. There is little doubt that there is in Japan a jingo party which is endeavoring to cause trouble even at the risk of precipitating a rupture between the government and the allied powers now represented in the peace conference.

The proposed Shantung reservation demanded by certain American senators as a condition precedent to ratification of the peace treaty, has stirred up certain elements in Japan so that in the near future, we are likely to hear more of the real policy favored by the Japanese in the matter of expansion in other countries.

It cannot be doubted that Japan is endeavoring to secure control of China and that she is also seeking an outlet for her teeming population in Siberia, the United States, Mexico and South America.

It seems that there is considerable good sense behind the proposition made by Senator Phelan of California, who advocated the ratification of the peace treaty with reservations if necessary, in order that Japan may be kept where she belongs without the necessity of an open rupture between her and the United States. The western senator favors a policy of exclusion that will put a stop to Japanese immigration to this country. It is remembered that this question of immigration is held to be one with which this nation will not allow any outside interference. It is to remain the prerogative of this republic to decide what class of immigrants may come here and what may not.

It is likely, however, that Japan would raise a great howl if the bars were set up against her people on the western coast. Already her temper has been shown on this question when protests have been made by the officials of western states. A decisive stand must soon be taken on this matter of Japanese immigration and we believe with Senator Phelan that it may be more easily done through the League of Nations than if no such league existed. The league will remind Japan that the matter of immigration to the United States is a domestic policy with which other nations cannot interfere.

CHILDREN WANTED

Germany in her new constitution made provision for encouraging motherhood in order to replace the vast loss of population and in this regard, it was provided that illegitimate children would not be subject to discrimination as formerly. This provision was criticized in some quarters at the time as encouraging motherhood out of wedlock. Since then, however, the same policy has been favored by high authorities in England although not by the government, and now a female doctor from France, Dr. Anna Montet, addressing the international conference of women physicians pleads the cause of the girl mother, claiming that where such a great proportion of the man power of the country has been destroyed, it is necessary to replace it by every means possible. Speaking of the attitude of the French government on this subject she said:

"The law has assured the protection of the child born out of wedlock, first in creating a bond of right between him and his parents when that is possible, then in assisting the mother when she is alone and without resources, and finally in taking full responsibility in rearing the child."

It is but natural to assume that after such a war there would be many children born out of wedlock; but the fact that these children are to be protected does not justify a policy that would encourage immorality or weaken the institution of wedlock.

The same problem is likely to come up in this country after a few years, but the solution lies in the abandonment of race suicide by those who are married rather than by encouraging motherhood out of wedlock. Whenever we want to increase our population we have but to open the doors to immigration. The foreigners are no slackers in the matter of raising large families.

THE TREATY

The call of the nation is strong for the prompt ratification of the peace treaty. Nothing is to be gained by further discussion but on the contrary much is to be lost. The peace with Turkey is being held up in the Paris conference pending the action of the United States on the treaty and upon the mandate can accept the mandate over Armenia. It would be worth almost the entire covenant to rescue that country from the Turks and start it upon the road to freedom and independence. After 700 years of persecution it would indeed be a glorious day for suffering Armenia. The country is rich in resources and after overcoming the ravages of the Turks during the war Armenia would march on to real happiness and prosperity born of her newly won national freedom.

But the main reason why the treaty should be promptly ratified is that the industrial turmoil throughout the nation at the present time requires all the attention congress can give it. The intimation that revolutionary elements are engaged in these strikes and demands for shorter hours and higher wages is a matter that should not be lightly treated. The facts have been laid bare and congress should not ignore them.

The opposition to the treaty now boasts of its alleged ability to force concessions but it appears that after all the reservations are disposed of there will be a safe majority for the treaty.

Things may assume a somewhat different aspect after the declaration of peace. Too much time has been wasted already. The demand of the hour is to ratify. The people want an official declaration of peace.

HEALTH CENTRES

The city of Portland, Me., is to be divided into three health districts under the direction of the health department of the Red Cross. Three health centres will be established the aim of which will be to develop greater interest in community life and help in the physical upbuilding of future citizens. The public health nurses will have general charge of the centres in their respective districts and at all times there will be complete co-operation with the health department. It seems that this plan is well calculated to promote health and sanitary conditions throughout the city.

If the Red Cross could combine with its present work, the distribution of sugar to families having small children, it would render a still more valuable service to the city. But even without the attraction of sugar, the health centres should render a very valuable service to the city of Portland. This is a feature that might well be adopted in Lowell, especially in the congested districts.

FAME GOOD AND BAD

They have barred Buffalo Bill from the Hall of Fame! This is why, in the words of Robert Underwood Johnson, newly elected director of the New York University's "porch of immortality."

"Because he (Buffalo Bill) is famous in a bad sense, and we admit only those famous in a good sense."

Of course the line must be drawn somewhere between our famous men—good and bad—else Jesse James would get on a famous niche. But what we find objection to is this smearing of "bad sense fame" upon one of the most distinguished of Americans, the wild west host of royalty abroad, one of the very best shots the western plains produced, the peer of any liar thrower, the superlative in broncho busting, the guide of the early settlers, the scout for American soldiers fighting attacking redskins, the man who did more to entertain and amuse the American public than all those famous personages now grouped in the Hall of Fame.

If that isn't fame in a "good sense" we have erred in our definition of fame. This coming year the Hall of Fame officials are going to have an election, permitting the American people to express themselves upon the nomination.—N. E. A.

POORLY PAID TEACHER

A Boston school teacher before the United States entered the world war was a substitute in the Boston English high school. He served in France with the 101st Infantry as a sergeant, leaving the Normal school to answer the call to arms. His foreign service, throughout all campaigns with the Yankee Division, was devoted to acting as interpreter in the intelligence department and his work was the translation of French orders and reports and of captured German documents. Important surely. He has now returned to his teaching profession as a substitute in the Boston Trade school, but at a salary $1 a day less than he received before entering the army. If he had remained at home he would have been promoted by this time and might have had an appointment of his own. He says it cannot be done on $4 a day, five days in the week and he intends to resign. He is most proficient in languages, being an excellent French and German scholar, yet he must give up his chosen work and the school system will allow a fine teacher to pass into another line of industry simply through shortsightedness and lack of appreciation.

LOWELL MAN AT BANK CONVENTION

John H. Murphy, treasurer and manager of the Lowell Morris Plan bank, has just returned from the annual convention of the Morris Plan banks of the country held in Cleveland, Ohio, on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week. There are 104 Morris Plan banks in the United States and each of them had a representative at the conference.

The purpose of the meeting was to draft an association for the development of the so-called "trade acceptance" idea in banking. This new idea enables manufacturers to realize ready capital on their products through the Morris Plan banks, instead of having to wait until their goods are sold and money turned over to them by the retailer. It is of benefit to the consumer because he can take advantage of that part of the plan which advances him capital and the retailer benefits by being able to have a constant supply of goods on hand. Summed up, the "trade acceptance" idea means the entrance of the Morris Plan banks into the commercial field.

Mr. Murphy was one of the 21 delegates from New England and he had the honor of serving on a committee appointed to draft a charter and by-laws governing the participation of the banks in the trade acceptance scheme. Serving on the committee with him were a number of the leading men of the country, including: Gen. Coleman Dupont, president of the famous Dupont Powder company; E. W. Lewis of Detroit, president of the Tinkins Automobile Supply corporation; N. S. Miles of Asheville, N. C.; S. L. Bloomfield, treasurer of the St. Louis Morris Plan Bank company; Robert J. Bulsky, president of the Cleveland bank and during the war attorney for the United States shipping board, and others.

On the last day of the convention Cardinal Mercier visited Cleveland and Mr. Murphy had the honor of going to the station with the chairman of Cleveland's committee on arrangements to meet the distinguished prelate.

LIQUOR RAID AT SPRINGFIELD

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 22.—State Detectives David J. Manning and Thomas E. Bligh rolled into Springfield last night aboard a truck loaded with what they say is 4 per cent beer, garnished by several gallons of whiskey, which they seized last yesterday afternoon at the old Allen house in Hampden.

Norman Canedy, who lives in the house, was arrested on the charge of illegal keeping and selling of liquor. The detectives say they bought several rounds of drinks before they told the proprietor who they were.

Scratching is dangerous. Stop it with Resinol.

Every time you scratch that itching rash you make it worse. The intense desire to scratch such skin disorders as eczema, humor, nettle rash and like skin ailments, may be instantly relieved when Resinol Ointment is applied to the affected parts.

It is advisable in most cases to thoroughly cleanse the affected spot with Resinol Soap and warm water. This accelerates the healing action of the ointment, and consequently a quicker and better result is derived.

SEEN AND HEARD

Yesterday was a better day to go hunting than it was to dig potatoes. What has become of the old man who used to bark his pipe at night for a quick puff in the early morn?

And another big trouble with the wage business is that the incompetent is getting as much pay as the fellow who knows his business.

While women are preaching the doctrine of equality with men they are not playing fair, asserts Dr. Cletia Mosier of Leland Stanford university. "They are trying to hold on to privileges granted because of weakness and dependence," she says.

Mrs. Ross Campagnaro, New York, has been arrested charged with selling love powders at $10 an ounce. All she was supposed to do was to feed the powder to a husband whose affections had cooled a bit and he'd again begun sending home violets and candy right away. They were guaranteed to make even the most timid young man propose.

Mrs. John Bell of Smith Center, Kan., has a turkey gobbler who showed all the inclinations to "sot," and repeated attempts to "break" him failed. Finally Mrs. Bell placed 17 hen eggs under him and for two weeks now the gobbler has stuck to the job of keeping them warm. Mrs. Bell is confident he will bring off nearly a full brood, but what he will do with the brood remains to be seen. She believes the heat and long dry spell have made the gobbler a trifle daffy.

That's Out!

Found—A man who had never heard of Babe Ruth, the Boston slugger, whose name is a household word in baseball.

Harry Pollard was reading aloud to fellow-members of the Rolin Film company. "Holy smoke!" said Pollard, "What does Babe Ruth do but break the world's record for hitting home runs?"

"Never heard that name before," remarked one of the trouper.

"Never heard of Babe Ruth?" howled the surprised comedian.

"Nope," was the answer. "Who is she?"—Photoplay Sidelines.

Possible "Society News"

Mrs. Brown is back from her holidays. She got a grass stain on her white flannel suit and spilt orange ice over her foulard skirt. There being no dry cleaning establishment within 30 miles of where she was stopping, she was compelled to return home.

Immediately upon receipt of a letter from her husband, in which he said, "I am having a good time; stay as long as you like," Mrs. Potter returned home from the seashore yesterday.

Mrs. Hyphen-Hyphen Jones has returned from a short visit to the shore. She heard that her husband was seen in a cafe dining with his first wife.

Mrs. Jones returned to town last night, recalled by curiosity to know what was contained in a clipping that was missing from the home paper she received Saturday night.

Amplification

The wrongs will all be righted now. This world will be a place of joy, and happiness, and peace for all the human race. For every evil there has been a good. There'll be an antidote. For Susan's dream is coming true—The girls are going to vote!

No more will this old world of ours be managed by the men; The women, too, will take a hand, And we'll be happier then. The list of masculine mistakes is far too long to quote. But those bad days are over now—The girls are going to vote!

Oh, happy day! How we have longed And longed for you to come! And now at last we see approach The glad millennium. Soon all our grievances will be Things of the past—remote—And there'll be no more trouble, for The girls are going to vote! —Somerville Journal.

INJURED BY AUTOMOBILE

Mrs. Catherine O'Neill of 175 Walker street received a possible fracture of the left leg and probable internal injuries when she was struck and run over by an automobile at Merrimack square last evening. The machine was being operated by Charles N. Johnson of 257 Broadway. Lawrence, who took the injured woman to St. John's hospital.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

In a bill of uniformly entertaining acts the Quixey Four stands out as one of the cleanest, prettiest of quartet acts seen at the B. F. Keith Theatre in a long time. The members are exceedingly lively in their work. Arthur Havel & Co., in "Playmates" bring forward a turn with a novel finish, and James Mulien and Anna Francis have a hilarious turn in "Get What Left." Julia Rooney, a sister of the inimitable Pat, and Walter Clinton, purvey a classy brand of dancing, and Martin & Fabiani are terrific comedians, performers of note. Other good things on the bill consist of Dave Kandler, a whistler, and Eskimo and Seals.

OPERA HOUSE

Wonderfully clever town creations, worn by Miss Marquett Fields, the leading woman of the Lowell Players, appearing in "The Boss" at the Opera House this week, is one of the many commendable features in connection with the production. Miss Fields not alone knows how to wear her gowns with artistic grace, but can portray characters in a most masterly manner. John Meehan, the talented leading man of the company, is seen in his highest part this week, as "Boss" his big rival, a politician, a politician and representative of big business, who has a big heart, once he gets the proper person to guide him. You will like Mr. Meehan's efforts immensely. J. Francis Kirk as the venerable bluffer makes a most important part of a minor role, and Miss Priscilla Knowles in "The Merry-go-Round" has a characterization to her work. Mr. Gray and the others are also adequate. The staging of the play in done with a finish that is not to be missed. Order your tickets early and avoid disappointment. Tel. 261.

THE STRAND

The Great Nazimova, appearing in her greatest picturization, "The Frag" will be shown for the last time today at The Strand. This film offering is easily her best effort and ranks with the biggest and most artistic and wonderful Russian artist has ever appeared. It's one of her most recent million-dollar productions. Don't miss it today. Then there is Gladys Leslie in "The Gray Towers Mystery," a gripping and delicious story, in which emotional and dramatic effort is reflected by the star. The comedy and weekly are both good. Per commencing with matinee tomorrow. Tom Mix, the Cow Boy star in "Rough Riding Romance" and Peggy Hyland in "The Merry-go-Round" will be featured. A new comedy and weekly will also be shown, and there will be new songs hits.

LOWELL MAN TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Mr. E. A. Chase of 185 Grand St., Lowell, Mass., said: "I was taken to the hospital last night because I was worse after I came home in three or four weeks than before I went there. I have only taken Goldine about a week and am very much relieved and feel a lot better in every way. I am heartily glad to recommend Goldine for anyone who wishes to hear from me."

Ask Stephen Courter what he thinks of GOLDINE for kidney and stomach trouble and rheumatism.

With This New Product You SOAK Your Clothes Clean Instead Of RUBBING Them

The hardest things in the world to wash

Dish towels—kitchen aprons—small boys' suits

Try this new form of soap on them

Clean dish towels every day—without rubbing or boiling. Just soak them in the bubbling Rinso suds.

Is it really true? No rubbing, no boiling—and your things come straight from the tub sweet and snowy white?

You can hardly believe it!

Well, put Rinso to the hardest test of all. Just try it on dish towels. And those dreadful kitchen aprons—those grubby, grimy little trousers of that small boy of yours—those sticky little rompers that sister always gets everything all over—try washing them the Rinso way.

Then you will know how wonderful Rinso really is.

All the ground-in dirt that used to mean such hard, hard rubbing. How Rinso softens it and takes it right out of the fabric without hurting a thread!

Things that ordinary washing would leave only half clean—Rinso gives back to you snowy-white or with their original fresh, clear color!

A new form of soap—in granules.

Rinso is a new form of soap. It is not a cake soap. It is not a "washing powder." But a wonderful new soap product—in fine granules.

The pure, cleansing granules dissolve instantly into a rich suds.

There is not a bit of solid soap to stick tight to the fabric, and injure it.

There are no harsh chemicals to "eat" the cloth—to destroy the colors.

But a rich suds so pure that your clothes look as safely as in pure water alone.

A new idea of washing

You know what it has always meant to wash the dreadfully soiled things. Rubbing over the washboard. Lifting the heavy clothes out of the steaming boiler.

But did you know that half the wear on clothing comes in the washing? That the hard friction on the washboard, wearing the threads, loosening the weave of the material; that the strong washing powders, "eating" the fibres, destroying their strength—wear out your clothes as much as all the wearing and using they get during the week?

And now this wonderful new way of laundering—with Rinso—saves your clothes all this. Your clothes actually last twice as long!

With Rinso—you soak the clothes overnight or for three hours in the morning.

You take them out and rinse them.

And they will be gleaming white, spotless. Only extremely soiled things—bad spots—need a light rubbing between your hands, right in the Rinso suds—and they, too, are shining white.

The rich Rinso suds have loosened all the dirt, while the clothes soaked.

There is no boiling, except occasionally, if you wish to sterilize, for Rinso cleans as wonderfully in cold water as in hot.

There is no rubbing, except lightly on the hardest spots.

There is no cake soap, no washing powder. Only one package of Rinso, and your whole week's washing is done better and easier than it's ever been done before.

Start using Rinso this next Monday

This next Monday try the new way of washing—following the easy directions on the Rinso package. Try Rinso on the things that are hardest to get clean. See how different it is from anything else you ever used.

Your grocer has Rinso. Order it today. —Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass. (Makers of Lux.)

Men's shirts, that are greasy-stained from "fooling around" the car, need only the lightest rubbing between your hands, after a soaking in Rinso suds.

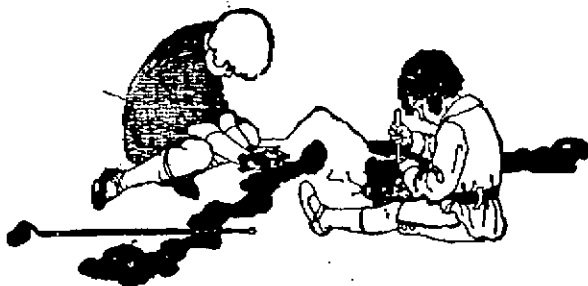

Rinso is not a "washing powder"

WASHING POWDER
—high in harsh chemicals

RINSO
—absolutely harmless
—so rich in soap it "tells"!

Those dozens of little gingham dresses—rompers—boys' suits—so grimy from the playground. Soak them in Rinso suds—they will come out fresh and shining

LOWELL WINS FROM BOUTS TOMORROW NIGHT
GOLD BUGS, 5 TO 2Moore and McCoy Reported in Good Condition—Other
Bouts

The Providence Gold Bugs made their first local appearance of the season at the Crescent rink, last night and met defeat at the hands of the Lowell jockeys by the score of 5 to 2.

The visitors missed their former peppy captain, Barney Doherty, and while a pretty good combination has been assembled by the clam diggers, there is only one aggressive and bel- by his absence.

Cameron, another veteran of the Negerent Barney and the team suffered game, appears in Barney's place, but he lacks the class of his predecessor. At centre "Duke" Dufresne performed and he did a good job. "Lanky" Harry Thompson and Lee Mulligan were on the rush line, and they teamed up well and showed good combination work. Jette was at goal and he put up a good exhibition.

Lowell's smooth combination effort, with Harkins, Griffith and Davies developing classy offensive co-ordination and Asquith and Pence presenting artistic defensive work, proved that Lowell could not be denied, and while the Bugs gave the Harkins crew a stiff battle in the first two sessions, with the coming of the final session Lowell went to the front never to be headed.

The game was cleanly played and not a foul was called by Referee Keaveney, but the referee had considerable announcing to do and he performed as only he can. There was very little pulling or pushing, no skate trouble and few balls went through the net. A circumstance that kept the men going all the while and resulted in the game getting over early.

Shortly after the game opened Mulligan counted, Griffith and Harkins followed with a brace for Lowell and the session ended 2 to 1. In the second period the score was knotted, when Thompson poked one into the net. In the final period Harkins sent Lowell into the lead and then Davies landed a couple for good measure. Pence tried hard to get back in the final session, but Lowell's defense was impregnable. The lineup:

keen enjoyment!

Your real appreciation of cigarette satisfaction dates from the hour you begin smoking Camels!

Camels will win you as they have won enormous numbers of smokers throughout the whole civilized world!

Camels are unlike any other cigarette—entirely a creation that has proved a revelation to smokers.

They are so refreshing in flavor, and wonderfully mild; yet, Camels have "body" that exceeds your most exacting demands!

Camels charm is due to their quality and to their unusual and expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos.

Once you know Camels you'll prefer their expert blend to either kind of tobacco smoked straight!

No matter how liberally you smoke Camels they never tire your taste. And, they never leave any unpleasant cigarette aftertaste or any unpleasant cigarette odor!

You'll prefer Camels quality to premiums, coupons or gifts.

a package

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages of 20 cigarettes, or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in glassine-paper covered cartons. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

HOPPE DEFEATS
KOJI YAMADA

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—While Hoppe, national balk line billiard champion, defeated Koji Yamada, the Japanese expert, in last night's game of national championship tournament play by a score of 400 to 129.

Yamada did not play with his usual dexterity, while Hoppe gave a brilliant exhibition of cue work and ran out his quota of 400 in the eighth inning, with an average of 50. His three highest runs were 133, 115 and 12.

This is the best average made so far in the tournament. Yamada's average was 164 and his best runs were 40, 26 and 21. Yamada and Cochran were the winners of the first two matches of the day. The Japanese defeated Slosson, 400 to 249, and Cochran won from Morningstar, 400 to 122. Cochran made one run of 165. His average was 44.4-9.

EPISCOPALIANS URGE PEACE IN INDUSTRY

DETROIT, Oct. 22.—Possibility of a division in the Protestant Episcopal church was brought to the attention of the (friendly) general convention again today during a fight on the floor of the house of deputies against the acceptance of a prayer for the blessing of graves.

Thomas Nelson Page, ex-United States ambassador to Italy, denouncing the adoption of prayers for the dead, swayed the delegates to such an extent that the prayer objected to was rejected.

"Before you know it you will find your church divided," he said. "Better be divided than that we be led into paths we know not."

Mr. Page introduced a resolution questioning the commission as to its authority to touch the church doctrines in the work of revision and asking whether such changes had been made.

Broadening influences sweeping the clergy and membership of the church throw upon the organization an important part in social democratization, according to bishops, priests and laymen who addressed a joint session earlier in the day. The plan for church unity, it was maintained, is but a small part of the program.

Bishop Brewster Speaks
Bishop Chauncey B. Brewster of Connecticut, outlining a social policy for the church, suggested a stand for: Right and justice everywhere, living wages, the principle of collective bargaining, freedom of the individual worker from coercion, a part for the employed in the internal management of industry, a weekly rest day, stopping of exploitation of labor of women and children, placing economics on a broader human basis, reorganization of industry which must be an end to autocratic mastership, an end to paternal patronage in welfare work, and reasonable relations of partnership between capital and labor.

Resolutions were adopted by the house of deputies urging capital and labor to accept "the principle of partnership as the business aspect of brotherhood, to submit all differences to arbitration and recognize service to the general community rather than individual gain, as primary motive in all endeavors." Another resolution condemned mob violence.

The house of bishops adopted resolutions asking an amendment to the national constitution permitting the drafting of uniform marriage and divorce laws and the appointment of a congressional committee to inquire into the alleged evil influence of certain types of motion pictures.

Nation-Wide Campaign
The general convention approved the plans for the nation-wide campaign to meet the needs of the church. The drive is to culminate Dec. 7, except in certain dioceses. These dioceses were given until Easter to complete the canvass.

The house of deputies adopted the resolution presented Monday endorsing the principle of a League of Nations as it may be ratified by the contracting countries.

The convention nominated as trustees of the General Theological Seminary in New York the following: Bishops Garding of Washington, Anderson of Chicago, Israel of Erie, Davies of Western Massachusetts, Benjamin Brewster of Maine and Whitehead of Pittsburgh.

The commission on American churches in Europe was added to and now consists of Bishops Whitehead of Pittsburgh, Leonard of Ohio, Lawrence of Massachusetts, Israel of Erie, McCormick of Western Michigan, and G. Mott Williams of Marquette, Drs. William T. Manning, Alexander Mann, Frederick W. Beckman, Endicott Peabody, C. M. Belden and Laymen Thomas.

EASIER NOW THAN LATER

It is easier to break up a cold or check a cough now than it will be later. Persistent bronchitis coughs that "hang on" all winter pave the way for serious throat and lung diseases. Dr. W. Day, 65 Campbell Ave., Detroit, Mich., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar relieves one of bronchitis very quickly. I hope never to have it again." This reliable family medicine for the relief of coughs, colds, croup, hoarseness, etc., contains no opiates. Children like it.

BERNSTORFF QUESTIONED

Testifies Before Committee Investigating Responsibility in Causing War

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—Count Johann von Bernstorff, former German ambassador to the United States, who yesterday was the principal witness before the committee investigating the responsibility of German officials in causing the outbreak of the great war, resumed his testimony today.

While on the stand yesterday, Count von Bernstorff told of the efforts made by President Wilson in 1914 and 1916 to find a way to bring peace proposals before the allied governments. German peace tentatives, made from time to time, however, handicapped Mr. Wilson. In the opinion of the former ambassador, being construed by the allies as evidences of weakness on the part of Germany. It was Count von Bernstorff's impression that Mr. Wilson intended to propose a temporary peace which would not touch on territorial issues and would leave major problems connected with the peace to a conference of the belligerents. In 1916, the witness said, President Wilson was in a position to propose "peace without victory" but he declared Mr. Wilson deferred action because of the sentiment against Germany in the United States at that time.

DIE OF STARVATION IN STREETS OF MOSCOW

PARIS, Oct. 22 (By the Associated Press).—An account of Moscow's hunger is given in the Figaro by a Russian princess arriving from Russia. "I will not speak of the terrible, revolting and odious things that passed in the streets of Moscow," she said, "but only of the hunger incidents I saw with my own eyes and which were repeated day after day. I met a woman and child, ragged and thin as skeletons, child crying constantly with an unchanging expression of terror. The mother said that the child was hungry and asked for a piece of bread as they had not eaten for 24 hours. I opened my purse but the woman turned away, saying, 'No, not money but bread.'"

"Another time I saw a blonde haired young girl with arms outstretched leaning like a living crucifix against a wall and murmuring, 'I am hungry.' Next day she died. I have seen in the middle of a side street, a great, yellow sided dog, carrying a bone with a little meat attached, while a 10-year-old boy a few steps away with the pallor of long misery on his face, watched the dog as if hypnotized. With neck outstretched, mouth open and not clenching he looked at the dog with hate and ferocity."

"I have seen children hardly clothed, hollow cheeked and with forms like shadows, on their knees in the street, trying to pick from between the paving stones grains of wheat that had fallen from a torn sack. I have seen before bakeries, men, women and children stretched on the cold stones, awaiting through days and nights, their turn to get their meagre ration of bread and then often falling exhausted and dying at the doorsteps before they received it."

FIRST TASTE OF COW'S MILK SINCE 1915

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The first taste of cow's milk that hundreds of Bohemian children have had since 1915, and the first that many of them have ever had, has been lately distributed in Prague as the result of the arrival of a herd of 200 dairy cattle bought in Germany by the American Relief administration, according to a despatch received by the American Red Cross.

THE INTER-CHURCH WORLD MOVEMENT

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 22.—The inter-church world movement which contemplates a consolidation of all missionary enterprises of Protestant churches was among the first problems to come before the biennial convention of the National Council of the Congregational church when it took up the legislative program today.

In addition to combining missionary work the National Bible society through its secretary, Frank H. Mann, proposes a federation of all national Bible societies to meet the growing demands of Christian propaganda.

HALLOWEEN SOCIAL

A Halloween social was held by the Lowell Girls' club at the First Congregational church last evening and provided much enjoyment for the large numbers of members and friends of this popular organization who attended. Refreshments were served.

Simple Way to End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be soft, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Adv.

KAISER TO ENTER SUIT

Charges Insult and Misuse of His Portrait by Producers of "Kaiser Films"

BERLIN, Tuesday, Oct. 21. (By the Associated Press).—Former Emperor William has commissioned Attorney Siebert of Berlin to institute a suit against Ferdinand Bonn, who prepared which are known as the "Kaiser films" which were barred in Berlin, but were permitted to be exhibited elsewhere. The ex-emperor charges insult and misuse of his portrait and asks for the suppression of the films.

The Bonn film referred to in the foregoing, was to have been produced in Berlin on Oct. 10, but was suppressed by government order on that day. The title of the picture was announced as "Wilhelm's Good Fortune and Bad Finish." The government announcement said the suppression grew out of a desire to prevent the film being made a cause for political combats at a time when party feeling already is at a high pitch.

INTENSIVE CAMPAIGN TO EDUCATE MASSES AGAINST RADICAL DOCTRINES

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 22.—An intensive campaign to educate the masses against radical doctrines was advocated by speakers at the convention of the Investment Bankers' Association of America today.

"The present industrial unrest is on a world-wide scale because of the quick means of communication," said Lawrence Chamberlain of New York, chairman of the education committee, "and there is no reason why we can not use these same means of communication to teach the people the virulence of radical doctrines being disseminated."

"Come Again Smith"

A Comedy Drama of Everyday American Life

Plain Talk

This is a play that can't be skipped over without a little more than ordinary explanation. It has so many good points that we refer you to the dictionary for a complete description. But listen: This is a realistic story of American business and domestic life. IT IS FOUNDED UPON FACT. There is nothing overdrawn or exaggerated. Everything depicted not only could happen but does happen every day. Therefore, Mr. Man, it's up to you to cash in on a good thing when it's banging on your door as hard as this is. That's all.

Formal Ratification on Oct. 30

PARIS, Oct. 22.—Formal ratification of the German peace treaty probably will be accomplished on Oct. 30 and a call will be issued that date for the first meeting of the council of the League of Nations to take place within 10 days. The French foreign office explains that the delay as has previously been stated, was due entirely to the great amount of preliminary work before the convention could be put into effect, such as the creation of commissions and the preparations by the military missions for the tasks provided them in the terms of the treaty.

Relief Office Wrecked by Explosion

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The offices at Riga of the American Relief Administration European children's fund were destroyed by a high explosive shell on Monday, according to a despatch to the headquarters of the organization here. None of the three officers engaged in the relief work was hurt, and the feeding of the children is to proceed as before.

To Build 1000 Bungalows a Year

LONDON, Tuesday, Oct. 21.—(Via Ottawa)—The ministry of health is negotiating with a number of firms for the construction of buildings of wood, reinforced concrete and asbestos sheeting, as well as interlocking and hollow terra cotta bricks. The approximate cost of each bungalow is to be about $3000 and it is hoped to build about a thousand each year.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Dolls were buoyant at the excited opening of today's stock market, leaders of that division making new high records. Textile company was the chief feature. Its first quotation of 315 representing an overall gain of 16 points. Within the first half hour, advances of 2 to 5 points were made by American and Pan-American Petroleum, General Motors, Baldwin and American Locomotives, and retail stores. Steels were 1 to 1 1/2 points higher and leather, food and shipping issues averaged similar gains. Rails and metals were uncertain. The trading of the first hour continued to be dominated by oil and steel, although selling pressure, presumably for profits, caused extreme reactions of 2 to 5 points in these groups. Reaching sales were also noted in equipment, stocks, but these shares came briskly forward again at noon. United States Steel gained 1 1/2 points. Shipbuilding yielded to moderate pressure but continued on buying of American, Gulf and American Ship & Commerce. Food, leather, tobacco and paper issues held or extended their gains for the most part. Call money opened at 6 per cent.

Many additions to early gains were made at mid-day especially among oil, equipment, and oil. Baldwin increased its lead to 6 points and Crutcher asserted some of its former prominence, rising 13 points. Sears-Roebuck featured the high grade specialties, advancing 11 points.

Buying of oil and steel on a large scale in the last hour carried prices to the highest average of the day. The closing was strong.

STRIKERS FAIL TO KEEP WORD

Whistles Blew But Not a Man Moved Toward Piers—Heavy Guards

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Not a longshoreman went to work on the Chelsea piers when the 7 o'clock whistles sounded this morning, although hundreds of dock workers were congregated in the vicinity of the big transatlantic steamship piers. It was on the word of the Chelsea longshoremen that officials had based their prediction of a break in the strike here.

T. V. O'Connor, president of the International Longshoremen's association, to whom the promise to return had been made, expressed surprise when informed of the failure of the Chelsea longshoremen to resume work on time. He said that failure of the riggers' local to report probably was the reason for the longshoremen's inactivity. He explained that inasmuch as the riggers operate the tackle and lines on the ships and piers, it would be impossible for longshoremen to begin work without them.

Foremen's whistles were blown at piers along the North river waterfront from the Battery to 23rd street as was customary before the strike. In summing the men to work but not a man moved towards the piers in response to the signals.

In the Chelsea district are located the great transatlantic steamship piers, including the Cunard and White Star lines, the Clyde Steamship Co. and the General Transatlantic.

Mayor Hyman and his fellow conciliators, appointed by Secretary of Labor Wilson, again attempted to bring peace among the warring factions in the ranks of the strikers.

Police guards were strengthened at various points along the waterfront today, following the riot at Hoboken last night, when T. V. O'Connor, president of the International Longshoremen's union, was forced to flee from a meeting of the longshoremen's local. O'Connor was saved from the angry crowd of strikers by the timely arrival of the police.

SAYS GERMANY MENACES U. S. TRADE

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Germany, recovering from the war more rapidly than any other European country, now threatens to divert our foreign trade to her own gain. Dr. E. E. Pratt, formerly chief of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the department of commerce, made this declaration at last night's meeting of the New York foreign trade table.

"German salesmen are to be found in all the countries immediately surrounding Germany," Dr. Pratt said. "German manufacturers and merchants are offering prompt deliveries and long-term credits. If we continue to increase our costs and raise our prices, we will take away from us certain of our best markets."

"Europe is in our debt today by about $7,000,000,000. I believe Europe's annual payment to us, to make up her deficit in commodities and to pay her interest charges on her debt to us, is not less than $2,350,000,000. Some people seem to think we are in a strong and desirable position. Quite the reverse is true. The low rate of exchange indicates our failure to meet a financial situation."

"I believe two outstanding facts are raising our mistaken delay in taking up commerce with Central Europe. They are: Failure of our government to function with relation to the credit collapse of those countries in Europe which should be our best customers, and failure of our financial institutions to cope with the situation."

RED DESTROYERS SUNK IN BATTLE

Two Destroyed in Gulf of Finland by Estonian and British Destroyers

German Artillery at Riga Fired on British Warships

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Two Bolshevik torpedo boat destroyers were sunk in Kopenha Bay, Gulf of Finland, when they attempted to attack Estonian vessels and British destroyers on Tuesday, the admiralty announced today. Six survivors from the Bolshevik vessels were picked up. The British and Estonians sustained no casualties.

Four Bolshevik destroyers in all took part in the attempted attack.

Fire on British Warships

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 22.—German artillery at Riga fired on British warships at the mouth of the harbor on Sunday, according to a report of the British general staff, and on Monday the British ships returned the fire, shelling German positions near the city. Riga is being bombarded by heavy German artillery which is using gas shells. Great damage has been done in the city and many civilians have been killed or wounded.

Krasnaya Gorka Falls

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 22.—The capture of Krasnaya Gorka, on the Gulf of Finland nearly opposite Kronstadt, by the northwestern Russian army, is announced from that army's headquarters today. The capture was effected on Monday after severe fighting.

The battle for Petrograd is still continuing with a heavy engagement six and one-half miles south of the city."

Brought to Standstill

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Gen. Yudenitch, commander of the northwestern Russian army, seems to have been brought to a virtual standstill by the stubborn defense of Petrograd, which is almost within sight of his men. Soviet forces are even reported to have taken the offensive north of Krasnaya Selo, but details of the operation have not yet been fully reported.

East of Pulkovo, the Yudenitch army appears to have encountered strong Bolshevik columns. Pulkovo is about three miles from the only remaining railway line running south from Petrograd and the importance of retaining control of this road may explain the savage fighting in that sector. Late reports state that heavier artillery is being brought up by General Yudenitch.

Soviet troops reported to have been concentrated near Giffo, near Lake Peipus, are said to have been scattered by the anti-Bolsheviks. The presence of this force on the left flank of the Yudenitch army constituted a seeming menace to the whole movement against Petrograd, and also appeared to indicate that the Bolsheviks are still quite strong on the coast west of Petrograd.

Kronstadt has not surrendered to the anti-Bolsheviks, and has not been attacked, according to a British admiralty statement. It is held the fortress will fall immediately upon the capture of Petrograd by General Yudenitch. That this event is fully expected is evidenced by the readiness of the northwestern Russian government to move into the city and take control of the situation.

Official reports issued from soviet headquarters at Moscow admit the loss of Kiev, but make no further mention of the claim that Orel, 120 miles south of Moscow, has been re-captured.

SAYS PRES. WILSON IS "IN FINE SHAPE"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—President Wilson was said by Secretary Tumulty to be "in fine shape" this morning after the most active day yesterday he has had since he became ill. Early this morning Mrs. Wilson telephoned Mr. Tumulty that the president was anxious for information as to the situation in the National Industrial conference.

Although Rear Admiral Grayson, the president's physician, has insisted that the fact that Mr. Wilson was permitted to dictate a letter yesterday to Secretary Lane regarding the industrial conference, did not mean he would be allowed to resume active work. Mr. Tumulty said that if any bills had been ready today for the president's signature, they would have been laid before him.

The secretary explained that bills recently passed by congress, including the prohibition enforcement measure, were before the respective department heads who are interested. The president has until midnight of Oct. 23 to act on the prohibition bill. Should he not act by that time the measure automatically would become a law.

The president's physicians reported that Mr. Wilson last night had one of the best nights since he became ill. They issued this bulletin: "White House, Oct. 22, 1919, 11.10 a. m. 'The president had one of the best nights since his illness began. His temperature, pulse and respiration rates continue normal. His digestion is more satisfactory. (Signed) 'GRAYSON, 'RUFFIN, 'STITT."

The Nujol Treatment as Sickness Prevention

Science, with anti-toxins, serums, and modern sanitation, has done much to prevent dangerous disease; but the diseases so checked are comparatively few. On the other hand, 90% of all diseases have one common origin—constipation.

The dangers of constipation are so far-reaching, because the blood receives poisons from an infected mass within, and carries them directly to every organ of the body; and because constipation itself keeps the system in a run-down condition so that any infectious germ from without readily gain foothold.

Keep clear of constipation and you guard against serious disease. Nujol will remove constipation and prevent its return.

The action of Nujol is entirely different from that of any other constipation remedy. It is not a drug. Nujol softens the food waste and encourages the intestinal muscles to act naturally.

Nujol helps Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world. Get a bottle from your druggist today.

SEC. WILSON STILL HOPES ECONOMY IS WATCHWORD TO AVERT COAL STRIKE

Plan for Irish Home Rule and Other Matters Come Before British Parliament

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—There was little hope of averting by government mediation the strike of bituminous coal miners set for November 1, when representatives of the miners and operators resumed today their joint conference with Secretary of Labor Wilson. Both sides stood firm overnight, the miners refusing to waive any of their demands, while operators reiterated that it would be impossible to enter into negotiations in the face of the strike order, which the union announced would not be withdrawn.

Should Secretary Wilson's efforts fail, it was said, the government might step in and force continued operation of the mines to give the public an adequate supply of coal at any cost.

There were reports after the meeting began that Secretary Wilson would attempt to hold representatives of the miners and operators here to appear before the senate committee investigating the coal situation in event the conference failed to settle the strike.

Some of the miners were reluctant about attending the meeting in view of the statement yesterday by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, that he did not see the necessity of adjourning over until today in face of the stone wall attitude of the operators. Secretary Wilson, insisted, however, that the task was hopeless.

Lewis declined to comment today, saying: "See Wilson, he is the man of mystery in this proceeding."

Continued

Representatives would continue in the conference. Before the recess, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared that a motion by John Sparks of the public group, that the conference give the president "a solemn pledge binding every group and individual that nothing would be left undone" to solve the problems before the body would be "most unfortunate." The motion which had been seconded by Harry A. Wheeler, chairman of the capital group was withdrawn.

After the recess, Stanley Park, where the labor delegates expressed their indignation over Mr. Sparks' motion. "Do you think we are going to stay here to be crucified from day to day?" demanded Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor.

At a conference before the general session this morning the labor group requested Chairman Lane to read the president's letter. Mr. Lane did not desire to read it to a single group and consequently gave it to the full conference. It had been written to him to be used at his discretion and he said yesterday he would use it only as a last resort to prevent dissolution of the conference.

Seek Liberty to Withdraw

Mr. Lane and others in the conference said the opposition of the labor group to Mr. Sparks' resolution was based upon the desire of some individual members of the labor delegates to be at liberty to withdraw from the conference if they desired. It was said that should any of them withdraw, new delegates probably would be appointed and the labor group remain in the conference.

Signed "Lying on His Back"

Before reading the letter, secretary Lane told the conference the president considered the gathering "the most important extra-legal body that has met in this city during his administration." The chairman said it was after he had informed the president of the "state of mind" of the conference that the executive had addressed to the delegates the letter which he "signed on his bed, lying on his back."

All the groups in the conference—capital, labor and the public—were present, but the labor delegates took no part in the applause which marked the conclusion of the reading. Upon motion of the chairman, the conference gave a rising vote of thanks to the president.

PATCHES ON TROUSERS BADGES OF HONOR

LONDON, Oct. 6 (By the Associated Press).—Fashionable London tailors are said to be somewhat perturbed over the reported popularity of a clothes conservation "movement" hailing from the United States, which is being enthusiastically acclaimed by Englishmen wearied of long continued high clothing costs.

Over here the "movement" has manifested itself in the organization of "old clothes leagues"—societies with the slogan, "No more new clothes until prices go down." Those who assume this pledge are expected to regard patches on trousers, shiny coat sleeves and worn up spalls in boots and shoes as badges of honor. The turning of old suits, sewing-in of new linings and other necessary alterations which make old trousers, coats or vests serve the purpose of a new suit at one-third the cost, is another part of the practical application of the "leagues" precepts.

Outbreaks Follow Employment of Negro Strikebreakers—18 Arrests

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Oct. 22.—Disorder due to the employment of negroes as strikebreakers, which broke out in several parts of the city late last night continued this morning. A number of white strikers and a special policeman were injured. Today fights broke out near the sheet and tube plant and the Ohio works, when negroes, according to report, drew revolvers and knives on pickets and strikers. Eighteen arrests have been made, seven being negroes. The whites were not armed.

The Carnegie Steel Co. started another fighting mill this morning with more than enough men present to man it.

EXPECT HARD LEGAL BATTLE

Alleged Discrimination in Shipping Facilities Afforded Meat Packers

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—A hard legal battle was anticipated, following the opening here today before Clyde B. Atcheson, chairman of the interstate commerce commission, of a hearing involving charges by the National Wholesale Grocers' Association of the United States, against the railroads, alleging discrimination in extraordinary shipping facilities afforded to the meat packers. The defendants included 217 of the leading railroads. The packers, including Swift & Co., Armour & Co., Wilson & Co., Morris & Co., and the Cudahy Packing Co., have filed intervening petitions in the railroads' behalf, while the state of Michigan and several state wholesale grocers' associations have aligned themselves with the packers.

selves with the national association. It is the first time the question of the packers' right to especially expedited service on non-perishable groceries had come before a tribunal with power to render an adequate decision. The grocers' complaint is based on the allegation that the packers have extended extensively into the wholesale grocery business and are permitted to ship staple and non-perishable grocery products in their refrigerator cars with fresh meat. Such cars are so expedited, the grocers charged, that discrimination is worked against them, they not having that privilege. The packers some times are given service virtually on a passenger schedule, the grocers say.

With these alleged special privileges, the packers rapidly are obtaining domination of the grocery business of the United States, according to Clifford Thorne, counsel for the grocers. Witnesses called include wholesalers and experts from various parts of the country.

INQUIRE ON PREMISES

OFFICE 162 MARKET ST., LOWELL, MASS.

MONDAY, OCT. 27, 1919, AT 10 A. M.

At H. A. Vickery's Market Garden Farm, on the River Meadow road, East Chelmsford, Mass., about 1 mile from Chelmsford Centre and about 3 miles from Lowell.

I shall sell at public auction, in one lot, this farm, consisting of an 8-room house, barn, 4 greenhouses, plant house, boiler house, 14 acres of land, more or less, and all personal property.

The house has been built but a short time. The first floor has parlor, living room, sun parlor, dining room, kitchen and large pantry, front and back hall and front and back stairs. The second floor has a 4 high-posted, bright, cheerful sleeping rooms and bath room, open plumbing. There is a large sleeping room on the top floor and large storage room. There are good closets in all the rooms. Down stairs has all hardwood floors. The entire house is furnished in cypress, and has good water supplied by a compression tank; also cypress tank which windmill supplies, all good well water. The house has cemented cellar, steam heat, wash trays, hot and cold water.

The barn is a large, frame structure, with stalls for 4 horses, tie-ups for 3 cows and storage for 20 tons of hay, large carriage house and wagon shed attached, with large vegetable cellar, separate from the main cellar.

Four greenhouses, one 166 feet long and three 150 feet long; also plant house about 60 feet long, and boiler house with tool house attached, 3 new horizontal, 30-H. P. high-pressure boilers, made by Scannell & Wholey that furnish heat for the greenhouses, two of these have been used, the other was never called upon but reserved for emergency. The greenhouses are all modern. The 156-foot house has been up but a short time and with little repair this plant is ready to be put to work. There is plenty of good water available, as Hale's brook is within 30 feet of the greenhouses. There are 14 acres of land, more or less, level, early market garden soil, 40 nice young, bearing apple trees, asparagus bed of about 1/2 acre, and small fruits. Also 10 hives of honey bees.

The livestock and tools consist of 2 cows, farm wagons, market wagons, democrat wagons, Concord wagons, pumps, sleighs, mowing machine, plows, harrows, horse rake and all kinds of small tools, 3 large power compression pumps, 300 boxes of hot house glass and an endless number of small tools, plumbing tools, painters' rigging and many other useful articles that space will not allow mentioning.

Mr. Vickery has built this place and has conducted the business successfully, but his health does not allow him to care for the business any longer and he will sell everything, real estate and personal property at public auction. Come look the property over before the sale. You will find someone there to show you over the plant, or call on the auctioneer.

Terms: $500 deposit on real estate at time and place of sale. All personal property cash. Other terms at sale.

REAL ESTATE AND PERSONAL PROPERTY AUCTION SALE

Wednesday, October 29, 1919, at 2.30 P. M.

At James F. Mooney's, No. 651 to 657 Dutton St., Lowell, Mass.

I shall sell at public auction the real estate and personal property used by James F. Mooney in the gravel roofing business. Everything to be sold without limit to the highest bidder.

The real estate consists of a 2 1/2 story building, 30x40 feet, facing on Dutton street. The first floor consists of office and storage rooms. The second floor has workshop and stock room. There is a good, high posted cellar with entrance on the street level.

There is a large Storage House, 25x60 feet, that faces on Cushing street, good sewerage and electric lights.

There are 1300 sq. ft. of land, more or less, with a frontage of 43 feet on Dutton street and 43 feet frontage on Cushing street, with a depth of 176 feet from Dutton to Cushing street.

The personal property consists of one extra good horse that weighs 1300 lbs., and that will suit any person who wants a good work horse; heavy wagons; three sets of heavy harnesses, stable blankets, barn tools, etc., one driving sleigh, two ton Truxton Unit Reo power plant auto truck that is in first class condition; three 100 gallon tar boilers; five Porter chisels; roofing derricks; lot of small tools; 11 kegs of 7-3 roofing nails; three kegs of a penny galvanized sheet nails; four extension ladders; five straight ladders; 25 rolls of rosin sized sheathing paper; 25 rolls of roofing paper; block and falls; lot of rope; 500 lbs. flat roofing ties; one new tinsmith's bench shears.

Office furniture: roll top desk; Carey safe, 21x28 inches. Letter cabinet with 12 drawers; typewriter with typewriter desk; Protectograph check writer, chairs, etc.

Mr. Mooney has decided to go away for his health and has taken this means to liquidate his property.

This place of real estate ought to appeal to any person that would like a location in the heart of the business district. The land and buildings offer many advantages. It is a large lot of land, good buildings, ample storage, facing on two streets, good wide driveway from street to street. You may look over the property at any time before the sale by calling on the auctioneer or Mr. Mooney.

Terms of sale: $500 deposit at time of sale. Other terms at sale.

Per Order JAMES F. MOONEY.
